

McQuaid High Scholarship Winners

FATHER John W. Kelly S.J., left, principal of McQuaid Jesuit High School, congratulates James Wawro, a member of Holy Ghost Parish, who came in second in the high school's scholarship examination last Saturday, while Father James R. Barnett, S.J., school rector, congratulates John Garvey of St. James Parish, who came in first. Standing next to Father Barnett is Thomas Schlueter of St. Helen's Parish, who placed third among 26 who took the scholarship exam. Garvey will receive a full tuition four year scholarship, while the other two boys receive half-tuition awards.

Requiem Held for Miss Waterstraat

Funeral services for Edith Waterstraat, who died April 26, 1958 at her home, 32 Rauber St., were held Tuesday morning at L. W. Maler's Sons, 8th Clinton Ave. N.E. and at St. Michael's Church.

Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Francis C. Waterstraat, assisted by Rev. Herbert L. Stummer, deacon, and Rev. John Phillips, subdeacon.

In the sanctuary were Monsignors Arthur F. Florack and Francis J. Hoefen and Fathers Francis A. Kleehammer, Howard W. Geck, Edwin B. Metzger, James Wolfe, Jacob Rauber, Edward E. Steinkirchner, P. David Finks and Gerard Krieg.

Burial was in Holy Sepulchre, final blessing by Father Waterstraat, assisted by Fathers Geck, Kleehammer, Krieg and Mgr. Florack.

The bearers were Ed Reininger, David O'Connell, Henry Lechslinger, Charles Scheuerman, Nell Pritchard and Robert Wegman.

Miss Waterstraat was a member of Catholic Women's Club, Daughters of Mary, and Ladies Auxiliary, 266 Knights of St. John. She leaves a brother, Herbert; two sisters, Sister M. Alma of Sisters of Mercy, St. Charles Borromeo Convent, and Florence Waterstraat; a cousin, Hilda Weiden, and an aunt, Anna Bleck.

AMONG 12 AQUINAS debaters, victorious in 16 out of 24 debates in the Tri-State Debating Championship in Jamestown, May 4, are: (from left) Daniel Shaughnessy, Henry Hess, first in novice class; and Ralph Esposito.

Aquinas Debaters Win Tri-State Championship

An Aquinas Institute debating team recently won the Tri-State Debating Championship by coming out ahead on 16 out of 24 debates during the championship contest. The team, 12 members in all, received a three-foot high trophy, emblematic of their championship, and donated by the late Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson.

Fifteen schools from New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio participated in the contest, including McQuaid Jesuit High and Webster High School. The Webster school finished in a tie for second place.

HENRY HESS of Aquinas, entered in the novice class, won the best speaking award in his division and was given a plaque. The novice class members from Aquinas tied for first in their division, while the semi-experienced class orators from the Basilian school took top prize in their division. Rev. Joseph A. O'Reilly, moderator of the Aquinas Debate Club, accompanied the group.

The Aquinas debaters who made the trip were Hess, Daniel Shaughnessy, Graydon Vadas, Robert Rossi, Anthony Syracuse, Brian Gibson, Paul Haney, Ralph Esposito, Peter Binazski, Michael Kasper, Gary Wenglowstal and Richard Lovell.

Newman Chapel Fayetteville, Ark.—(INC)—Construction has started on the St. Thomas Aquinas Chapel, the first section of the new Catholic Student Center being built at the University of Arkansas here.

ON SATURDAY, more than 100 students presented papers on their recent scientific research in the fields of biology, chemistry, physics, mathematics, astronomy, and psychology. Madhna Pang, senior biology major at Nazareth, gave a paper on "The Effect of Gibberellic Acid on Plant Growth."

Miss Pang again read her paper at the regional biology conference of area colleges at Keuka College last weekend.

Speaker at the dinner Friday evening was Dr. George B. Sedel, technical advisor to the public relations department, DuPont Company.

The conference dance of Saturday night brought the conference to a close.

The Eastern Colleges Science Conference was organized at Vassar College in 1947 to stimulate interest in research among undergraduate students in the natural science and related fields.
