

Little White Church Busy No Longer

PAUL CONTESTABLE

Little white frame church, Mary's, Honeoye) was and desolate this past day morning. There was priest at the altar; there no congregation in the church.

The "little white church in the valley," once bustling with activity, will be busy no more. But hundreds of the area residents are in awe in another building a short distance away. St. Mary's parishoners in Honeoye have a new church.

LONG overcrowded and lacking in parking space, old St. Mary's Church served the faithful in Honeoye area for the last 75 years. And 10 years prior to that, Mass was celebrated over a store in the village.

But the seating capacity of 25 soon grew too small for the growing population. With the summer vacationers at Honeoye Lake the facilities were strained even more.

Finally, in late April of this year, construction was started on a new and much larger church for Honeoye. Under the guidance of the Rev. J. Joseph O'Connell, pastor of St. Michael Church in Livonia Center who serves the Honeoye mission church, work progressed rapidly.

In just nine weeks, the new church was completed. "The work was so rapid," that we found the church was completed before we were able to obtain pews. Folding chairs are temporarily serving the purpose.

LAST SUNDAY a total of more than 1,500 faithful attended the four Masses at the new church.

The first Mass was offered in the new edifice on Sunday, June 29. Only the day before, hundreds of the same people packed the old church for the final Mass there.

For many, this was the only church they had ever known. Tears filled the eyes of the overflow congregation as Father O'Connell celebrated High Mass. And following the Mass, many stared in sorrow as he locked the door of "the little white church in the valley" for the last time.

"Our new church is quite a contrast from the early beginnings of the parish," Father O'Connell said, "when parishoners had to travel several miles in a horse and buggy over muddy roads. And the only heat in the church was a little pot-bellied stove."

THE NEW church is rustic in design, finished both inside and outside in natural wood. Roof beams are four inches thick. The church will seat 450 people.

Laminated arches of Douglas fir form a striking appearance on the inside. Western red cedar is used extensively on the inside and outside with mahogany wall paneling. Brown and Hoyt Construction Co. of Canandaigua were the builders.

The parish of 80 families and about 400 normally attending services, swells considerably during the summer months as was evidenced by the 1,500 at last Sunday's services.

Pontiff Says Latin Must Be Preserved

Vatican City (EWS)—Pope Plus XII, in an Apostolic Letter, said Latin is not a dead language and must be "preserved in its force and in its clarity."

He stressed that the fact that Latin is "covered by the dust of centuries" does not justify calling it a dead language.

The Pontiff said it especially deserved to be preserved because it is an instrument which serves to provide understanding of the wisdom of the teachings of the Catholic Church.

Churches In Poland

Lublin, Poland (NC)—A collection for the Catholic University of Lublin, the only center of independent Catholic learning behind the Iron Curtain, has been taken up in all of Poland's churches.

Established in 1918, the university will celebrate its 40th anniversary this fall. The institution, which received no state subsidies, is entirely supported by donations of the Catholics in Poland.

Knight From Africa Meets SVD Friends

Conesus—Friends he had met in the Society of the Divine Word missions in Ghana, West Africa, greeted Patrick Hulede, the Knight of St. John convention delegate at St. Michael's Divine Word Seminary in Conesus, this week.

Hulede talked with Father Edward Datig, S.V.D. who was Regional Superior of the Divine Word missions in Ghana. From Pittsburgh, Father Datig had been in Ghana since 1946.

Also greeting the knight who traveled from Kumasi in Ghana to Rochester, a distance of 12,000 miles for the convention sessions was Brother Cletus Lesage, S.V.D., now stationed in Conesus but who had served in Ghana since 1948.

Brother Cletus is a member of a family "that is trying to convert the world as a private enterprise," it was stated here. He has three more brothers in the Society of the Divine Word: Father Maurice, a missionary in Ghana since 1947; Father Alphonse, a missionary in the Philippines since 1930 and Father Emil, now spiritual director of the Society's Major Seminary at Techny, Ill.

DCE TO BECOME the first African S.V.D. Brother Novice James Djado who is just finishing his Novitiate at Conesus was on hand to greet the visitor. Brother James came to the United States two years ago.

Hulede has known the Divine Word Missionaries in Ghana for many years. At present he is teaching at the College of Technology in Kumasi, Ghana. He has studied in London and is on his way to attend the Pax Romana Convention in Rome.

In his address to the community here, Hulede re-echoed the Holy Father's plea of the Encyclical Fidelium Donum for urgent and immediate aid and assistance for Africa. He expressed his gratitude, on behalf of his countrymen, for what the Divine Word Missionaries have done for his native land and for the church there.

Gannett Fund Gives Grant To Niagara U.

Niagara University has received a gift of $7,500 from the Gannett Foundation, according to an announcement made today at the university.

In accepting the gift from Kenneth K. Burke, general manager of the Niagara Falls Gazette, in behalf of the Gannett Newspaper Foundation, Inc., the Very Rev. Vincent E. Swords, C.M., university president, said, "Besides being a great help toward the achievement of our $6,700,000 expanding fund goal, it is a further vote of confidence in the work being done at Niagara University for the community."

St. Bonaventure, N.Y. — An unrestricted grant of $1,000 has been received by St. Bonaventure University from the Gannett Newspaper Foundation. It was announced today by the Very Rev. Brian Lohr, O.F.M., University President.
