DOINGS AT THE DALY'S Bread-and-Butter Talk

By Mary Winley Daly Several weeks ago, in the Catholic press, one of our fellow columnists, Msgr. Irving DeBlanc reported a request for help in "making do" with an inadequate income in these days of rising costs.

Mary Daly "Not by bread alone..." of course, but food is a basic problem in rearing a family.

"How do you feed 'em?", one of our correspondents writes. "We have five growing children - and how their appetites are growing! My husband is laid off temporarily so that it's all outgo and no income.

"He makes good pay when he's working but we won't have anything left by the time the company takes him back unless we retrench radically. The retrenchment, I figure, is my job. Can you help me?"

And another: "My husband has seasonal occupation but this year the seasonal let-off has continued on and on. We have to cut expenses at home. However, every time I go to the grocery store, I spend between $10 and $12 for our family of eight - and the food only lasts a few days (this includes milk, laundry supplies and the like.) How can I help my husband? He pretends not to be worried, but I know he is."

These are but two samples of letters with the same tenor: how to keep down the outgo until the income catches up.

UNDOUBTEDLY these women as all of us do, read the women's sections in the daily papers looking for economy tips, until time comes when a daily paper becomes not a necessity but a luxury. For real help in the battle of the budget, we've found that the paper carrying the week-end food ads is a must.

There, spread-out on your own dining room or kitchen table, you can study it like a research report and a road map. Chain stores and independents are vying with one another for your food dollars and you are the supreme judge.

You are the comparative shopper and by careful weighing of values and shopping around you can save real money.

A survey conducted by a metropolitan daily in one of our larger cities says that "officially, chain store buyers say bluntly that housewives can change the price picture overnight if

Advice From Rochester For Africa

June Graduate Becomes Bride

Elaine M. Brinkman, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. Brinkman of Long Pond Rd., was married to Jerrold H. Brinkmyre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Brinkmyre of Fair Lakes Ave., at a nuptial Mass celebrated by Rev. William Chabannon on July 12 at Mother of Sorrows Church, Greece.

Following the Mass, a reception was held at the East House. The bride wore a floor-length gown of white with a broad, light-colored sash and carried a bouquet of white orchids with a white prayer book.

Mad of honor was Joan Harsh and her bridesmaids were Mary Sue Hallert, Marie Brinkman, Leslie Brinkman, Flower Brinkman, and Bernadette Brinkman. Philip Brinkmyre was best man. Ushers were Clifford and Peter Brinkmyre and Edmund Torrey.

Following a honeymoon trip to Lake George, the couple will spend a few weeks in Rochester before they go to Lansing, Mich., where the groom will attend Michigan State University. The bride graduated from Nazareth Academy this past June.

Couple Wed In Geneva

Geneva - Miss Shirley Ballstreet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ballstreet, 82 Wadsworth St., was married July 4 to John J. Augustine, son of Mrs. Anna Augustine, Lockland Rd., in St. Francis de Sales Church by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward K. Ball, pastor.

Miss Phyllis Vena was maid of honor. Mrs. Thomas Quartaro, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Polly Kipp and Miss Carmelle Ballstreet, cousins of the bride.

Robert Maher was best man and Thomas Quartaro, T. L. Zakour and Lisle Shelley were ushers.

A wedding dinner was served at Froula's. After a wedding trip to Canada, the couple will live at 42 White Springs Rd.

Greenland Film On Dryden Screen

The Wedding of Polo (1937), filmed in Greenland during the summer by the explorer Knud Rasmussen with a native cast, will be shown three times this week-end in the free matinee series at the Dryden Theatre of the George Eastman House.

The film is well photographed and contains a number of sequences of children at play and of wrinkled oldsters. The music, composed especially for the film, is played by the orchestra of the Copenhagen Royal Opera House.

The Wedding of Polo will be shown Saturday at 2:30 p.m. and Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and 4:30 p.m.

Our Catholic Schools

By Mary Lennon Snyder schools did not have the book rental system.

The editors of America asked a Sister - the dean of Nazareth College, Louisville, Ky., to answer Sister's answers were reasonable, methodical, logical, but alas, they were not entertaining.

Time magazine in the issue of July 21 re-printed portions of each article under the heading of "Religion," rather than "Education." Time admits that "not all" of the author's complaints "were major" but they reprinted them anyhow. It also declares that the Sister's answers were "not entirely convincing."

I THINK some time that some particularly articulate teacher should sit down and point out that parents do not always show brilliance and perspicacity in dealing with their own children.

How many teachers consider education so lightly that they say, "No school for the children today" when they decide they want Friday off for an extra long weekend - or a couple of weeks for a mid-winter Florida vacation?

I imagine even a casual inspection of school attendance registers the length and breadth of America might reveal some interesting statistics under the heading of "illegally detained" which means that Daddy and Mommy took Sonny off on a vacation during a regular school day.

With the many problems facing every school system today, and considering the seriousness and devotion to duty of administrators and teachers alike, it is regrettable that the "not always major" complaints of one parent are given such wide publicity.

Toronto Defeats Rochester Harps

Toronto Young Irelands defeated the Rochester Harps 9-6 in an American Gaelic Football League game at Genesee Valley Park last Sunday. Toronto held the Harps scoreless in the first half while piling up six points.

Some of those are amusing in that I distinctly remember the years when parents were most vociferous in their complaints because the parochial

Annual Picnic For Stanley

Stanley - The annual Stanley picnic will be held on Aug. 2 on St. Theresa's Church grounds, according to John J. Shannon and Joseph M. Sullivan, co-chairmen.

The chicken-dinner will be served during the afternoon. The affair is sponsored by St. Theresa's Church, Stanley, and St. Mary's Church, Rushville. Assisting the co-chairmen are the Mesdames William Kenney and Joe Valesko, who are in charge of the food and dining room, respectively.

Highlight of the day will be the crowning of a "king for a day" which will be decided by booths and games throughout the day. Parishioners and friends are invited to attend.
