Jesuits To Broadcast Spiritual 'Soap Opera'

Houston, Tex. — The American Jesuits' radio network on Formosa will broadcast soap operas next fall, but they will have a spiritual mission.

On a visit here, the Rev. Philip L. Bourret, S.J., director of the network, discussed his programming plans.

Father Bourret said network officials in this country told him that soap operas, "written for Chinese stars, could be used to show Formosans how we live, love and respect our fellow men."

HE NOTED that "in our mission to thwart Communist growth" the Eastern people must be shown the great value we place on human dignity and life.

"We must show them how we feel about life — convince them there is a great dignity in human beings, a dignity worth doing something about," Father Bourret said.

Father Bourret said "the basic difference, and the winning one" between Communist and free peoples "is the belief in dignity and rights of the individual man."

The priest said that when his network launches its soap operas next fall they will be beamed over 50 radio stations in Formosa, reaching 200,000 sets and 1,000,000 people.

St. Dominic

Next Monday the Church observes the feast of St. Dominic. To every Catholic, St. Dominic's name is inextricably bound to that particular devotion to Our Blessed Mother known as the Rosary.

That these men were not opposites has been well discussed by Chesterton. In a chapter entitled, "Two Friars" which opens his life of St. Thomas Aquinas, Chesterton says:

"St. Francis and St. Dominic stand together in history as having done the same work, and yet they are divided in English popular tradition in the most strange and startling way. In their own lands, they are like 7 Heavenly Twins, irradiating the same light from heaven, seeming sometimes to be two saints in one halo."

A DELIGHTFUL picture of St. Dominic is given us by Father Bede Jarrett, O.P. in his life of the Saint: "Austere and hardy, able easily to bear fatigue, affectionate, touched quickly to tears and laughter, devoted to others; full of a lively galaxy of heart, he had the very foundation of the preacher's gifts."

Well educated, happy in his memory, trained to argument, he never neglected any means of keeping himself perfect for his work. He was absent-minded in his food, singing loudly, with his clear voice across the hills, gesticulating even in his prayers with indefatigable energy; he swayed and carried audiences of every kind."

The author continues to characterize him as decisive, humble and lovable, with an artist's temperament and emotion balanced with gifts of organization and command.

Truly St. Dominic is a saint well worth knowing, for living in troubled times like our own, he used his remarkable gifts to further God's work on this earth and to bring the world to Mary's feet through the Rosary devotion.
