

Skylines Change

Construction of new buildings is changing the skyline on college campuses and parish properties of the Rochester Diocese.

In the city of Rochester and its suburbs, current building projects are soaring above a three million dollar total as work progresses on convents, schools, churches and rectories.

The pictures on this page were taken this week by Courier Journal photographer Paul Contestable to illustrate this vast building program which will mean better facilities for worship, education, and living conditions. Additional pictures will appear in subsequent issues of this newspaper.

ST. ANNE'S CHURCH at southern tip of Rochester.

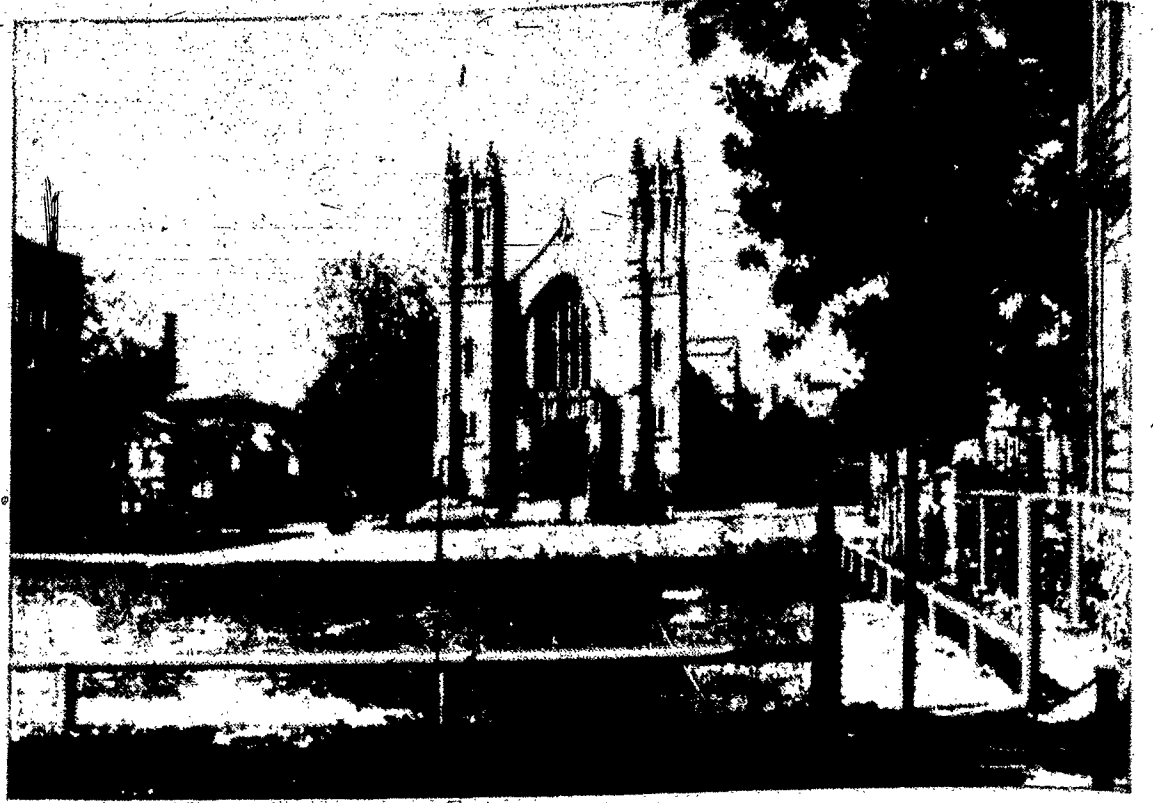

OUR LADY OF GOOD COUNSEL — 'Higher education' as new top floor adds eight classrooms.

NAZARETH COLLEGE dormitory reaches second-floor level.

ST. CHARLES BORROMEO — Greece rectory edges above ground level.

SACRED HEART CATHEDRAL doubled-in-size parking area gives vista of "Mother Church" of the Diocese.

ST. STANISLAUS — Addition will double convent facilities.

ST. PIUS X — Chill school has footings in place, walls creep up above ground.

ST. THOMAS — Irondequoit convent will replace present 'divided nuns' now living in two separate residences.
