Specialist To Examine Ailing Cardinal

Zagreb, Yugoslavia—(RNS)—Professor Ludwig Hellmeyer, leading West German blood specialist, is expected to arrive here shortly to examine and prescribe further treatment for Aloysius Cardinal Stepinac, who suffers from a rare blood ailment.

Dr. Branislav Bogoevic, the cardinal's personal physician, said Professor Hellmeyer has applied to the Yugoslav Communist authorities for a visa and expects to receive one without delay.

CARDINAL STEPINAC recovered several weeks ago from a critical illness during which his chronic ailment was aggravated by an acute thrombosis in the right leg and pneumonia. He lives under government confinement at his native village of Krasic.

Dr. Bogoevic said his patient is "quite well and everything is developing favorably." He said the cardinal's blood disease, which is generally considered incurable, is being treated with radioactive phosphorus, but it would take three weeks before the results could be measured.

The physician said if all goes well he will leave Krasic at the end of August to attend a medical congress in Stockholm, Sweden. He said the cardinal is able to walk and eat. Mass is a small church adjoining the house in which he lives.

No Difference
The man who doesn't read good books has no advantage over the man who can't read them.—Amen.
