Sunday TV To Show Rare Views Of Pope

New York—A filmed portrait of modern Rome, Vatican City, and Pope Pius XII will be shown as the concluding installment of "Rome Eternal" on the Catholic Hour, NBC-TV, Sunday at 5 p.m. The series is carried on WROC-TV, Channel 5 in Rochester.

Rare views of Pope Pius XII, especially filmed for "Rome Eternal," show him in moments of warmth and intimacy during and following audiences at St. Peter's and at his summer residence, Castelgandolfo.

Sunday's chapter of "Rome Eternal" titled "Our Moment in Time" will also feature the grandeur and beauty of St. Peter's Square and Basilica, which yearly draws millions of travellers from all parts of the world.

Other highlights of the film will be the Pope's apartments, the North American College, and the Vatican mosaic factory, radio station and newspaper.

'Beaver' and Friend

Hollywood — (NC) — No exaggeration on this fish story, as young television star Jerry Mathers talks with Maryknoll Father Francis J. Caffrey during rehearsals on the set of the "Leave It To Beaver" TV show in Hollywood, shown over the CBS network. "Beaver" is a member of St. Joseph the Worker Parish in Canoga Park, California.

Milwaukee Newspapers Screen Movie Adds

Milwaukee — (NC) — Both daily newspapers here, the Milwaukee Journal and Milwaukee Sentinel, revealed they review motion picture advertisements "frequently and carefully."

Harry Daniels, retail advertising manager of the Journal, said that as a result of motion picture advertising of subjects "we'd never thought fit for parlor talk" ad copy, illustrations and headlines are frequently challenged.

PUBLISHER of the Sentinel, Wallace M. Hughes, related that not everyone agrees with the newspaper's screening policy, "but we watch all advertising that goes into the paper."

Complaints to motion picture studios, it was revealed, produce little results. Harry Daniels stated the studios feel "that's what the public wants . . . we're in the business to sell box office . . . if the people don't want it, they shouldn't go see the picture."

Junior Catholic Theatre Plans Two Courses

Junior Catholic Theatre sponsored by the Knights of Columbus and the Catholic Youth Organization has appointed Richard Mancini as executive producer for the coming season according to Jack Burnett, director.

Mancini is a graduate of the Ralph Bellamy School of Drama and has appeared with Catholic Theatre and the Community Players.

Two drama courses will be offered teen-agers of Rochester starting in September. A beginners course will cover the rudimentary facets of theatre plus actual workshop participation culminating in a spring production.

THE ADVANCED course will offer boys and girls with some experience a chance to specialize. Two full length productions and a one-act play will be produced in a workshop.

Further information is available from Mancini at 935 Hudson Ave. or at the CYO, 50 Chestnut St. All registrants must be in by Sept. 10.

Obscene Movies

Residents Complain, Theatre Closed

Springfield, Mo.—(RNS)—A city ordinance was invoked here to close a motion picture theater which local residents had complained was advertising "obscene" movies.

City Manager Bart Avery ordered Police Chief Norman Warren to close the Granada Theater after it published an advertisement in a Springfield newspaper showing a nude woman.

Avery said he received about 20 complaints from townspeople and held several conferences with the theater's manager before deciding to invoke the ordinance.

"I'm paid to protect legitimate business," he said. "If we let one theater get away with this type of thing, the first thing you know we will have burlesque houses here."

The theater manager claimed that he had no control over the films chosen. He said they were selected by the showplace's owners in Kansas City, Mo.

FILMS advertised in the paper were of the 1920 vintage and bore the titles, "Big City Burlesque," "Hollywood Peep Show," and "Raw Confession of a Nudist."

After invoking the ordinance, which prohibits "exhibition or advertisements tending to offend public morals," Avery praised the Roman Catholic Legion of Decency for its efforts "to stamp out indecent movies." In the United States, he said, most theaters have done a good job of "cleaning their own houses."

Avery said the Granada theater "will remain closed until it is cleaned up."

Dealing With Children Offers Real Challenge

By MSGR. IRVING A. DeBLANC
(Director, Family Life Bureau, N.C.W.C.)

A weary mother with five school children on vacation entered a hospital for treatment. One of her first meals included a bowl of quivering gelatin which she refused to eat. Pressed for an explanation, she replied, "I'm not going to eat anything that's more nervous than I am."

Monsignor DeBlanc

Dealing with five or 15 children, on vacation or at school, is a challenge not only to your nerves but to everything within you — your heart, your intellect, your virtue. This is especially true if you have never learned what to expect from youngsters or how to handle them.

THE ARRIVAL of a new baby is often a crucial time for the youngsters who may feel displaced. When gifts are brought to the new arrival, it is wise to see that the child a little older also gets a gift.

When an older child shows jealousy towards a new baby, that is not the time to punish or reproach him. The child is hungering for affection. If reprimanded harshly, this convinces him all the more that he is not loved.

Parents cannot just tell youngsters that they are loved. Love must be shown.

On the other hand, just giving them gifts will not hide a lack of true affection. That is why it is so essential that mothers and fathers closely study their children. Parents should be available for little private chats. This interpersonal closeness will not just happen; it has to be planned.

THE MOTHER, of course, is especially needed during the early years in the training of a child; the father is more needed at adolescence. The greater offender, however, seems to be the father, who becomes so pre-occupied in making a living, that he fails to see his vital share in the education and training of his children at any time—except when it is too late. No profession, no success is worth this neglect.

There should be as little fear at home as possible. Fear is normal, certainly, and should not itself be feared, but when fear feeds on itself, it is cancerous. Parents, as well as children, should proudly accept their own male or female sex. Not to do so is often to reveal grave maladjustments in their own conjugal affection.

Parents who use severe pressures, subtle as it may be, to push a child to the head of a class in school are playing with a two edged sword. Many will be hurt.

Just a tone of voice in handling children, the gestures, the facial expressions can reveal deep love, or mere tolerance, or buried dislike. Not that parents must always use syrupy tones, the intention behind the word or tone is what is most apparent. Some fathers can use sweet tones and cuttingly say, "Don't be an idiot, Darling!" Mothers can smile angelically and whisper, "You're a vicious nag, dear."
