Leaflets Brussels - (RNS) - Special Russian translations of Roman Catholic leaflets were flown from London to the World's Fair here for free distribution to Russian visitors at the Vatican Pavilion. They were dispatched by the Sword of the Spirit, a Catholic organization designed to combat anti-Christian materialism. It was founded in 1940 by the late Arthur Cardinal Hinsley. Archbishop of Westminster.

THE LEAFLETS, on international problems, were specially translated to meet a demand by Russians, both from the Soviet Union and others in exile, who have been helping themselves to the Vatican Pavilion's English pamphlets.

Chosen for their constructive approach, the Russian leaflets give a simple presentation of Catholic teaching on nuclear disarmament and ald to underdeveloped countries.

One tells how Pope Pius XII and his predecessors have continually called for international agreement on the disarmament issue. The other, entitled "My Brother's Keeper," deals with the responsibilities of. prosperous Western countries towards the less prosperous and underdeveloped counand St. Lawrence in Panisperna, tries of Asia and Africa.
