Federal Funds Offered For Loans, Equipment

Washington (NC)—An appropriation of $10 million by Congress has put into immediate effect the $887 aid-to-education bill signed into law by President Eisenhower and providing some benefits to private, nonprofit schools.

Launching of the education program under the terms of the National Defense Education Act of 1958 was disclosed here at a meeting of executive secretaries of educational organizations having offices in the District of Columbia.

Present at the meeting was Mr. Frederick G. Howard, director of the Department of Education, National Catholic Welfare Conference. The meeting was called by the Office of Education of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

THE PURPOSE of the meeting was to discuss and put into immediate operation the program of the education act which President Eisenhower signed.

The President also signed a law a bill providing exemption for private nonprofit schools and colleges from certain federal income taxes.

The education act will enable private nonprofit schools to share in federal loans and funds for equipment.

It provides 293 million dollars for loans to college students, with the loans to be administered through the schools. The government will furnish 80 per cent of the money and the colleges 10 per cent. Individual students will be eligible for loans up to $1,000 per year, but the total available to any one student is limited to $3,000.

Mr. William McEnold, director of the university, has given his wholehearted approval to the project. Work said, and work already has begun in preparation for the telecast under the direction of Dr. John Paul, head of the university's music department.

The NCCW executive director said that the project, in great part, is being made possible through the outstanding faculty of the university, which has among its members a number of talented composers and librettists.

God Stays In Pennsylvania

Harrisburg (NC)—The State Commission on Constitution Revision has decided to keep the word "God" in a section of the constitution dealing with qualifications of office holders.

Section 4, Article I of the constitution of 1874 states: "No person who acknowledges the being of a God and a future state of awards and punishments shall, on account of his religious sentiments, be disqualified to hold any public or private office or trust under this Commonwealth."

An original revision suggested by a commission subordinate to the name of God brought such a wave of protest that the commission decided to leave the section un-revised.
