Women Make Cord Rosaries

CORD ROSARIES with a Franciscan notch are being made by members of the Mission Society at St. Salome Church. The rosaries have been made by the Monroe County Council of Catholic Women for the missions and the St. Salome group is now initiating the practice of supplying children in the diocese with the "unbreakable" rosaries.

Fanelli, cochairman, and Mrs. Charles Di Baudo, chairman. Thousands of these rosaries will be made by the members of the Council of Catholic Women for the missions and the St. Salome group is now initiating the practice of supplying children in the diocese with the "unbreakable" rosaries.

Month Of The Rosary

By Mary Lennon Snyder

October is a month which holds special meaning for Catholics, for it is the month of the Most Holy Rosary. It is also during this month are celebrated several feast days of heavenly personages dear to us all.

Mrs. Snyder

First of all, here in our diocese we have a community of cloistered nuns who two by two around the 24 hours of every day recite the Rosary before Our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament.

They are the Dominican Sisters Nuns at the Monastery of the Perpetual Rosary, 1310 West Church Street, Elmira. If you are travelling in the Southern Tier, make it a point to stop in their little chapel to recite a Rosary where it is perpetually said.

MY SECOND point concerns the well known fact—that the Feast of the Most Holy Rosary was established in gratitude for the victory of the Christian forces at Lepanto. Then, as now, anti-Christians were waxing strong and seeming to threaten Western civilization.

Elizabeth Reid writing of the "Legion in Chains" in the current issue of the "Queen of All Hearts" tells of the great suffering of the Catholics in China. This to me suggests a Rosary intention for each of us. She writes:

"China's struggle is a struggle until death on behalf of the whole Church... Understanding and sympathy cannot be limited to the small circle of those professing 'interest' in the missions. The plight of the Chinese people today calls for a much wider reaction. Catholics in every land, and may I say Legionnaires in particular, must become convinced of their essential unity with the Chinese people, a oneness as close and as real as that of their own Præsidium, their own family."

"LET NO ONE say with sadness that they can 'only pray for China.' It's prayer and prayer alone that is the ultimate weapon of Christian warfare. To disdain prayer is to put our trust in unavailing political compromise or military might."

Quigley - Kibbe Wedding Held

Joan Marie Kibbe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hermann S. Kibbe of Rye Rd. and Robert Vincent Quigley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Quigley of Spencerport, were married Sept. 27 in St. John the Evangelist Church, Greece.

The Rev. Thomas M. Reddington, assistant pastor at St. Monica Church and cousin of the bride, officiated at the wedding. Another cousin, the Rev. John A. Reddington, pastor of St. Louis Church, Pittsford, celebrated the nuptial Mass.

Mrs. Charles Colton, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Francis Osterhoudt was bridesmaid. William R. Quigley, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were John A. Quigley, Lloyd Schrader and David Kibbe.

DOINGS AT THE DALY'S

While Mary Finley Daly takes a three week vacation from writing (but not from household duties), members of the Daly family have been asked to act as guest columnists. The following are contributions by the Dalys' oldest.

The initial plan was simple enough. With two other couples we'd arrange to leave our kids behind and "get away from them all" for a quiet weekend at the beach after Labor Day. For a while, at least, we'd be young marrieds instead of young harried. But, somehow, we wound up "taking them all with us" and for a full week it turned out to be more fun than we'd ever imagined.

A friend of a friend knew a realtor in Rehoboth Beach, Delaware through whom we rented a "cottage" within earshot of the Atlantic's rolling surf. Since it had seven bedrooms and three baths it aptly fit its nickname, "The Orphanage—With Parents."

There was never a dull moment in the Orphanage. Its enormous size gave the children a real sense of freedom with a minimum of adult supervision.

We fed the little ones first so they could play on the porch while the adults ate. After a few days we discovered an invariable pattern. During every dinner what we called the "breakers" would come in from the porch to see what the big folks were up to.

After a few diversionary questions had humbly said he wanted some goodies to send the "breakers" back we first tried reason. Then strong talk. Then, appeasement, in the form of a tasty habit given with the hushed admonition, "don't tell the others."

WE LEARNED, too late, that appeasement is as wrong for mothers as the saying is for Mitsu or Munch. The "breakers" would hardly have bit into his titbit before he'd be on the porch to report his booty. Then all the little ships would follow. The "breakers" clear path for supplies.

Madden - Englert Vows Exchanged

Auburn — Mary A. Englert, daughter of Mrs. and the late Mr. Thomas W. Englert of Nelson St., and John J. Madden Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Madden of Seymour St., were married in St. Mary Church, Auburn, by the Rev. William Hickey, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. John Gagan was matron of honor for the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Griffin, Mrs. Leonard Sathre, sisters of the bride, and Miss Kathleen Corbett.

James D. Madden was best man for his brother, Ushers were John Griffin, John Brennan and Thomas McNamee.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Thomas W. Englert Jr.

Vacation With A Dozen

Hopefully she asked, "Are there actually 12 kids, or are older ones aren't there?" "Oh, yes," we said, "Andy's six."

Do we recommend that kind of a vacation? You bet! Wholeheartedly. If office vacations permit, we'll do it again. For one thing no child ever asked, "What will I do now, there's nobody to play with?" And when we got home with only our four, it was downright quiet—well, almost!
