Mason City, Iowa. A closed circuit television system installed at the St. Joseph Hospital will insure that patients in the hospital are kept informed of the progress of their treatment. The system also provides a means for the doctor to observe patients in their rooms without the need for a nurse to be present.

Each room also has a television set which can be used for entertainment. The system also allows for the monitoring of patients in the hospital.

With some of the most advanced television equipment in the world, the hospital is providing a means for the doctor to observe patients in their rooms without the need for a nurse to be present.

HIGH SCHOOL REVIEW

Parlez-Vous Deutsch? Students Say Ja!

An Aquinas student in Paris or Berlin should have an easy time with French or German language, if the institute's new method of teaching those languages is as good as they say it is.

Rev. Robert Klem, C.S.B., and Rev. William Marceau, C.S.B., instructors of German and French at the Basilian school, have introduced new classroom techniques, supplemented by an improvised laboratory.

There are tape recorders, record players and headsets in the laboratory to assist the students in learning the languages.

Effective? It must be, for the German students willingly go to the modern language club after school to further improve their ability without being ordered to by Father Klem.

The French students also do extra curricular work by corresponding with students in French who are at a Basilian high school in France.

Naturally, the only language spoken, for the most part, in class is French.

Very Rev. E. P. Mages, C.S.B., principal of Aquinas and Rev. L. B. Hart, C.S.B., vice-principal, were among the Rochester educators who attended a recent meeting of the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges in Philadelphia.
