Carmel Junior Wins Contest

Auburn—Kathleen M. Kruger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Kruger of Auburn, a junior at Mount Carmel High School, won first place in the Cayuga County American Legion speaking contest. She was coached by Sister Jeanne Agnes, S.S.J., a member of the English department.

Her prizes include $50 from the American Legion, $25 from the Cayuga County Bar association, and the privilege of competing in a district contest. Her victory brings the Charles A. Cusick trophy to her school.

REV. RAYMOND C. GUGEL, a native of Rochester, visited Nazareth Academy this past week to personally thank the students for the help given him in his missionary territory in Ohio. Visitor To Nazareth Academy

Missionary Thanks Students

A missionary gave thanks to his helpers this past week in Rochester.

The helpers in this case are students in homeroom 305 at Nazareth Academy and the missionary is Rev. Raymond C. Gugel, a native of Rochester, whose mission is not in some far-off continental but in the Diocese of Steubenville, Ohio.

UNDER THE DIRECTION of Sister Maria Ann, homeroom teacher of 305 at the Academy, and mission leader Loretta Bruening, the class decided in September to adopt a missionary as its mission project for the current school year.

Father Gugel, who along with Rev. Frank Baudo, operate the St. Paul Mission House in the Steubenville Diocese, was in Rochester to thank his young helpers for the aid they have given him thus far.

Since September, the girls have been collecting Rosaries, medals, small statues, prayer books, pamphlets and other religious goods to further the Ohio mission cause.

IN A SHORT talk he gave to the girls, Father Gugel said that the opening of the St. Paul Mission House in 1957 was the first phase in the beginning of a long range mission program in the Steubenville Diocese.

Father Baudo was named the diocesan director of the missions in 1957, and he was appointed his assistant last June.

"The mission house is primarily a residence for the missionaries, but it also contains a large chapel where daily Mass is said for those living in the vicinity.

"THERE ARE also two mission stations about 40 miles away where Father Baudo and I celebrate Mass each Sunday and give Catechism courses for both children and adults.

"Since the start of the diocesan mission plan, two mission stations are now in full operation and it is very evident that this movement will expand throughout the diocese," Father Gugel said.

The Ohio priest also thanked the girls for collecting large posters which explain some phase of Catholic doctrine. The posters are displayed in windows of the temporary churches — usually stores in the mission town — so that passersby can learn something of Catholicism.

"It is our hope that these mission churches will soon blossom into permanent parishes and the help you girls have given us this year is undoubtedly instrumental in the success we have attained thus far," Father Gugel concluded.

Sister Mary Aquinas Dies: Headed Mercy Hospital

Hornell—A nun who devoted over a half a century to the care of the sick and disabled died last week in Hornell.

Sister Mary Aquinas of the Sisters of Mercy, former superintendent of St. James Mercy Hospital, Hornell, died Thursday, Jan. 8, 1959, after an illness of over a year. During her 53 years of service on the hospital staff, Sister Aquinas' name became a legend of dedication in the Southern Tier. She was a beloved figure in the Hornell area both within and without the hospital.

From 1905 through the ensuing 30 years, Sister was in charge of the maternity ward, assisting in the births of thousands of babies. In 1934 she became superintendent of the hospital, a post which she held with distinction throughout her active lifetime.

THE HORNELL community honored her with singular ceremony and festivity in 1955 on the occasion of her golden jubilee of service at the hospital. Mayor Francis P. Hogan proclaimed August 15 of that year to be "Sister Aquinas Day" in the city of Hornell.

Revered for her warmly sympathetic nature and her personable manner of extending herself to people of all faiths, Sister Mary Aquinas endeavored herself to young and old; she exerted an active influence in the civic life of Hornell throughout her years of administrative service. The growth of Mercy Hospital is due in large part to her forward-looking vision and largeness of mind.

Sister Mary Aquinas broke ground for the million-dollar wing added to the hospital in 1951 and lived to see the nursing school receive full accreditation by the Board of Review of the National League for Nursing in Saint Ann's Church, Rev. Joseph McDonnell was deacon and Joseph P. Hatfield was sub-deacon.

SISTER MARY AQUINAS

were dedicated by the women's board to Sister Mary Aquinas.

REV. WILLIAM HICKEY, chaplain of Saint James Mercy Hospital, celebrated a Solemn Requiem Mass Monday, Jan. 12 at the National League for Nursing in Saint Ann's Church. Rev. Joseph McDonnell was deacon and Joseph P. Hatfield was sub-deacon.

Other priests in attendance included Reverend Fathers Adelbert Schneider, James Slattery, Norbert Nolan, William Nolan, John O'Malley, John D. Malley, William J. Spillacy, Vincent Collins and L. Jozza Hodges. A large delegation of sisters and lay people attended the ceremony.

Three sisters survive. Sister Mary Aquinas, May, Ann and Josephine Spillacy. A fourth, Mother Mary Thomsen, of the Sisters of Mercy, twin sister to Sister Mary Aquinas, died 12 years ago.
