Bishop Kearney Offers Requiem

Bishop James E. Kearney celebrated the Requiem Mass and imparted the last blessing for Mrs. Bridget Dooley in St. Peter and Paul Church, Rochester, Monday, Feb. 23.

Mrs. Dooley of 57 Moran St., Rochester and a resident of Livonia during most of her life died Thursday, Feb. 19, 1959.

BISHOP KEARNEY was assisted by the Rev. Edward J. McAniff and the Rev. Paul G. Wolrab. Rt. Rev. Monsignor Charles E. Shay and the Reverend Fathers Robert J. Fox, John Wolach, Joseph O'Connell, Joseph Gynor and Joseph Donovan were in the Sanctuary.

Mrs. Dooley is survived by two sons, Patrick B. of Gainesville, Fla., and John P. of Livonia; four daughters Mrs. William (Ann) Finnigan of Honeoye Falls, Misses Joe and Rose and Mrs. John (Margaret) Cooney of Rochester, 12 grandchildren including Sister Mary of St. Veronica, Louisville, Ky.

BLESSING AT the grave in St. Michael Cemetery, Livonia was given by Father Joseph O'Connell.

Capacity Crowd Hears Jesuit

Largest crowd in ten years, more than 400 persons reportedly attended the 29th Anniversary Dinner of the Catholic Family Service at Mark Twain Hotel, Elmira, on Sunday evening, March 1st.

Principal speaker was the internationally known orator and writer, Very Rev. Martin C. D'Arcy, S.J. of England, Washington, D.C. and Cornell University. Speaking to a crowd which filled both ballrooms and overflowed into the New Orleans Room, Father D'Arcy selected as his topic "People I Have Known."

His friends included Monsignor Ronald Knox, Rev. C. Martindale, Evelyn Waugh and Charles Plater.

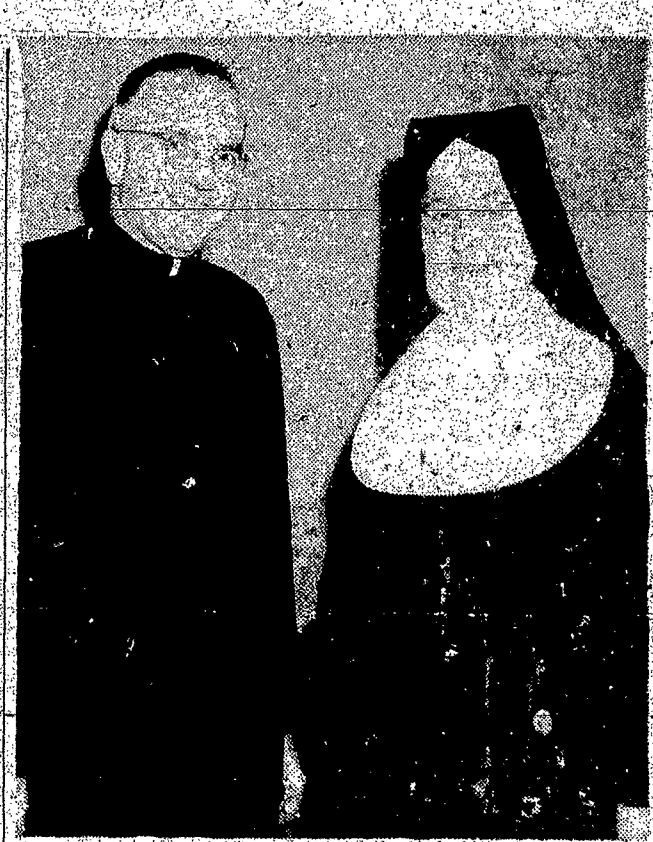

OF MSGR. KNOX, whose eulogy was broadcast by W. J. D'Arcy, he spoke affectionately. He called him "a shy man who could always score on you and hit back with great ease." He said "He had an amazing wit and great holiness. He was a learned man and a youngster of five, read Virgil and Homer."

Plater, who founded the Catholic Social Guild in England and dedicated himself to helping the wounded in World War I "was the most wonderful man I ever met," Father D'Arcy said.

Father D'Arcy urged continued support of the Catholic Family Service and termed the program of the agency "Love repeated over and over again." He said that the magnificent work which was being done by Miss Mary E. Fitzgerald and her staff represents a work which is dear to the heart of our Lord and Savior.

MISS FITZGERALD, Executive Director, introduced the others at the speaker's table: Children's Court Judge, Daniel J. Donohue, Rev. Joseph P. Hogan, William S. Bennett, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Arthur E. Redigan, Diocesan Director of Catholic Charities, Chemung County Judge Donald H. Monte, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Lane, Recorder, John D. Frayley, Very Rev. Leo G. Schwab, V.P., Arthur D. Smith, Rev. Herbert A. Bisky and Rev. Leonard P. Kujawski.

Dr. James A. Mark, who acted as toastmaster, was general chairman of the event and had as his assistant chairman, Father Kujawski and Father Hogan.

Knights Present Gift To Hospital

Auburn — The Fourth Degree Assembly of the Auburn Council Knights of Columbus presented Mercy Hospital with a Davis Patient Roller, purchased with funds from their annual Thanksgiving Eve Charity Dance.

The Davis Patient Roller provides a simple and easy method of transferring a patient from the operating table to the stretcher or from a stretcher to bed or similar procedure. The patient may be transferred in either a prone or supine position. Even the heaviest patient, or one in a plaster cast, can be handled with ease.

Safety is another factor aided by the use of this roller device. The hospital plans to use the roller in many departments including the X-Ray room, operating room, emergency room and obstetrical ward.

SISTER JOAN ALICE, Administrator of Mercy Hospital received the patient roller from Frederick L. Keese, who was general chairman of the Thanksgiving Dance and Leonard Greene, Faithful Navigator of the Fourth Degree Assembly of the Auburn Knights of Columbus.

Very Rev. Monsignor James D. Gaffney, V.P., director of the charity fund was also present for the ceremony.

Chairman Keese stated that

Looking Back

Hospital Era Ends With Old Building

Transformation of the old St. Mary's Hospital building on West Main St into a parking lot is in progress. Looking back on the old gray structure, many things come to mind. Contrary to what some of our intimate friends might say, we cannot recall the meritorious caring for Civil War wounded by the Sisters of Charity.

One of our first recollections, however was during high school days back in 1909 or thereabouts. A classmate was in the hospital for a minor operation, so we called on him, the room being at floor level on the Genesee St. and opposite St. Mary's Boys Home. It was a warm day and the window was open. Over the window sill climbed a young fellow from the Home. He, too, had come to visit his classmate. The same boy was later to become the architect who designed the new and present hospital building opened in 1912 by Bishop Kearney. The boy, Joseph Patrick Flynn.

This writer visited the old hospital building on six other special occasions included among many more. Six of our eight children were in St. Mary's with the cooperation of Dr. Arthur B. O'Brien. It was after the birth of our daughter, Helen, that while walking through the corridor we met the Rev. Frederic M. Gehring, C.M., (later to be known as the Guadalupe Padre, then a young Vincentian missionary soon to leave for China.) Father Gehring gave us the news of Doctor O'Brien's tragic death in an automobile accident. Doctor O'Brien was a friend, a neighbor and highly competent physician.

On another visit to St. Mary's, years earlier, for a consultation; this writer on being taken into the operating room was greeted by former Cathedral High schoolmates including Doctors Norman Pfaff, Franklin Knoppe, Elmer O'Brien, Leo LaFalm, Joseph Loder and Joseph Mayer, with the cheerful suggestion from them that "the big knives he brought out for this operation."

A visit to the old hospital is recalled shortly before the new building was put into operation. We went to see Monsignor John S. Randall (our boss), who though temporarily laid up was anxious as ever to get out and handle his many assignments. It was our privilege to attend the Mass celebrating the 100th anniversary of the hospital but we were more active in covering the diamond jubilee celebrated in the building now being leveled. Bishop O'Heen presided and Sister Gertrude directed the ceremonies.

The old chapel was a source of consolation for patients who could move about and for expectant fathers. We remember the balcony led off from the maternity ward. Relatives of nurses who were capped in this chapel can well recall it with the nurses. Priests and nuns can look back on solemn functions held there.

Father Joseph M. Egan of St. Bernard's Seminary faculty was looking back, this week. Meeting us on East Avenue Friday, he recalled that 25 years ago we had first met when he was adjudged winner in an editorial writing contest conducted by your diocesan newspaper. Second winner, Father recalled, was Miss Joan O'Reilly, who is now Mrs. John N. Abbott and a member of a study club conducted for doctors and wives at different homes by the St. Bernard's professor.

St. Stanislaus Women List Dialogue Mission

The Holy Name of Mary Society of St. Stanislaus Church is sponsoring a dialogue mission to be conducted by two Paulist missionaries, Fathers James E. Dixon and Harold J. Foye, the week of March 8-14 beginning at 7:30 each evening.

The Paulist Fathers are an American order of priests dedicated to the exposition of Catholic doctrine to their fellow citizens.

ONE PRIEST will explain briefly the chief tenets of the Catholic Church on various subjects of interest. The other will offer current objections and difficulties on the particular doctrine. Then the first missionary will either answer or refute these charges as they are made.

The particular attraction of the dialogues is to offer a lively and interesting discussion on topics of vital interest to every layman. All Catholics are urged

Phillips Gibson On College Bowl

Phillips Gibson of 84 Barons Rd., Rochester, will be one of the four panelists representing Notre Dame University on the CBS television network's "G-E College Bowl" Sunday, March 8 at 5 p.m.

The Notre Dame group will compete in an intercollegiate quiz with Georgetown University, winner in last week's match.

REV. HAROLD J. FOYE, to attend for their own enlightenment and to invite their non-Catholic friends and relatives.

AFTER THE Tuesday services the members will assemble at St. Stanislaus Hall for the business portion of the meeting where current items will be proposed and discussed. At the meeting new members and others will have their pictures taken for the Who's Who Membership Roster.

These pictures will aid the nominating committee in the selection of candidates for the various offices in the organization. During the gathering memento holy cards of the Dialogue Mission will be given to the members.

After the business portion of
