

Atonement Friar Gives Catholic Press Talk

Coming—Twenty-five members of Corning Council, Knights of Columbus, attending last Thursday evening's meeting in the KC Home, heard the characteristics of the Catholic press discussed by Rev. DeSales Standerwick, S.A., of St. John's Seminary at Montour Falls.

THE PRIEST is well qualified to speak on this subject, being associate editor of "Lamp," a publication of the Society of the Atonement, and also a member of the Catholic Press Club.

Lack of financial resources is the main reason that the Catholic press is unable to compete with the secular press. Father Standerwick asserted. He stated that Holland has 30 Catholic daily newspapers, while the United States has none.

About 70 Catholic magazines are published nationally, however, with a total circulation of five million. Nearly all the magazines are published by various religious orders, whose aim is to become a part of the Church's teaching authority. Father Standerwick said. In comparing the Catholic and secular press, he commented that he thought that the latter, in general did "a wonderful" job.

FATHER STANDERWICK illustrated his talk with weekly, monthly and bi-monthly Catholic magazines, including his own publication, and compared the characteristics of each. Following the talk, he answered questions from various K of C members.

The speaker was introduced by Grand Knight James Bothe. Reports were given by P. V. Hanly on the recent K of C Communion Breakfast meeting, and by Willoughby Babcock on plans for the K of C St. Patrick's Day event.
