THE FIRST graders included Joseph O'Brien, Michael McMahon, James Murphy, Celeste Sosini, Barbara Wilson and Cynthia Seymour.

Performing in duets, quartets, quintets and ensembles were Timothy Clark, Suzanne Broughton, Marcelline Barrett, Mary Kay Burkhardt, Daniel Clark, Larry Hamilton, Michael Hughes, Lorraine Reeves, Fess Fravel, Barbara Schmeig, Paul Costic, Lawrence Hamilton, Suzanne Broughan, Sheila Murphy, Richard Costello, Lee Coker, Richard Sindoni, David Schreck and Michael McGee.

The band brought the recital to a close with three numbers: "Flyer - March, Honor Band, Notre Dame March and Pacific Grandeur. In Pacific Grandeur, the band played its highest tribute to Mrs. Skelly's skill in band leadership. Not a single false note or falter in tempo marred the number. In every respect, "Grandeur" was the ward for "Pacific Grandeur."

ST. PATRICK'S DINNER
Waverly—In another part of town, about 150 persons attended the fourth annual St. Patrick's Day dinner and dance held at the Waverly American Legion home.

ST. JAMES YOUNGSTERS highlighted in the recent music recital in Waverly are shown above. From left (seated at piano) are Sharon Patterson and Mary Jo Soprano; (standing) Lee Coker and Robert Chamberlain.

Invocation was given by the Rev. John J. Gaffney, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Athens, Pa., after which William Barber, chairman of the local St. Patrick's Day committee, welcomed the guests and introduced William O'Brien, toastmaster of the evening.

BRADFORD COUNTY Judge James W. Cullen introduced the speaker for the affair, Robert A. McVetty, safety director of the Remington Rand Company in Elmira.

In this speech, Mr. McVetty, an ex-steel worker, related some of his experiences in that field and also reminisced about his days at Notre Dame University.

Irish songs were presented by Rudolph Schneider, vice president of the Hornell Brewing Company, and trumpet solos were given by Nelson Sickler, accompanied by Wall Brittain at the piano. Schneider also led the community singing.

The closing prayer was offered by the Rev. Peter J. Allauskas, assistant pastor of St. Peter and Paul Church, Towanda, Pa.

NO FLUE NEEDED
when you heat water electrically

One-Piece Top—Needs No Flue
Because nothing burns, an electric water heater is clean and requires no flue. And for efficiency, an electric water heater is tops because 94% of all energy produced goes directly into the water.

Put an Electric Water Heater Anywhere
By putting your electric water heater close by the kitchen you get hot water quicker because less water cools off in the pipes. You save on reheating costs, too.

Savings in the Tank
Hot and cold water mixing in the tank is practically eliminated by this baffle plate. Hot water stays hot for even greater savings.

Electric Water Heater Night Rate Saves Money
Electric water heaters on the night rate operate from 11:30 P.M. until 7:00 A.M. at a rate which averages over ONE CENT A KILOWATT-HOUR lower than the average day rate. A separate meter dial records the electricity used by your water heater during the night rate period.

GET ALL THE FACTS BEFORE YOU BUY. COMPARE OPERATING COSTS AND YOU'LL CHOOSE AN ELECTRIC WATER HEATER FOR LOW-COST SUBURBAN AND RURAL HOT WATER HEATING.
