Twenty Five Years Circulation Manager

The Courier Journal's circulation manager, Exmer G. Grapensleter, this week rounded out 25 years boosting the

He has seen the circulation grow from 11,000 to the just announced record total of 66,372.

When he came to the Courier in 1934, 7,000 copies were delivered each week by carrier boys, 2,000 by mail and 2,000

Since 1943, all copies have been delivered by mail except for approximately 200 sold each week at three downlown Rochester churches, at Spector's newsstand, Trant's store and the Columbus Civic Center. Mr. Grapensteter said circulation campaigns by the Knights of Columbus, by the diocesan Holy Name Society and through an annual Catholic School Crusade plan brought the Bishop Kearney and Monsignor William M. Hart, he said, deserve chief credit for the Courier's present high total. The Bishop has consistently urged parishes to actopt the diocesan paper's "total coverage" plan of sending the Courier Journal to every parish family.

The present 66,000 total is "near saturation", according to the veteran circulation manager. Almost every cathour family in the 12 county Rochester Diocese is now a subscriber, "We'll have to wait for the population to increase now," Grapensteter
