He 'Pedals' Good Will To World

New York — (RNS) — Catholic youth leader Peter J. Loemakeli of the Celebes Islands, Indonesia, stops off on his round the world bicycle trip to receive a greeting in the snow from Msgr. Harold S. Engel, director of the Catholic Youth Organization here. Mr. Loemakeli, who has covered 17,000 miles through the Near East and Europe, has had an audience with Pope John XXIII and visited the famed shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes in France. Through his expedition he hopes to become better equipped to train the youth of his native land.

Refugees' Plight Told

Washington — (NC) — The "World Refugee Year" proclaimed by the United Nations and due to begin in three months has been supported by two top officials in Catholic relief work.

A joint statement of endorsement came from Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati, in his capacity as chairman of the U. S. Bishops' Welfare and Emergency Relief Committee, and Msgr. Edward Swanson, executive director of the committee established in 1940 to coordinate the raising and distribution of funds to meet relief needs.

The two said the years since the end of World War II have brought not peace, but "another kind of war" to the new genera- tion and among "the heartaches and tragedies" are the refugees "who bear witness to the bitter fruit of compromise."

"Throughout Europe, in the Near and Far East, refugees languish because of a restrictive process based on discriminatory laws and practices of some nations.

"Tens of thousands who fled the lands of atheistic communism find that some nations do not recognize oppression and persecution in the religious field as they do in the economic and political fields as sufficient reason to warrant a policy of government aid," the statement read.

The Archbishop and the Monsignor said they welcome World Refugee Year, beginning July 31, as a way of bringing the refugee problem to the forefront of the consciences of men who live in freedom.

"Such a year should provide stimulation of United States leadership for the study and solution of refugee problems everywhere," they added.

Spain

Protestant Persecution Said Distorted Reporting

Arlington — (RNS) — Spanish Ambassador Don Jose M. Arellano charged here that the alleged "persecution" of Protestants in Spain is "an example of distorted, untruthful reporting by a few American publications."

THE AMBASSADOR, in an address to students at Marymount Junior College here, said that "while Spain occupies herself with social, economic and other reforms to help her people, she enjoys an enviable sense of peace and order."

"However, in systematic fashion, distorted and caricatured stories of Spanish life appear in some American newspapers and magazines," he declared.

"We are tired of denying that there is persecution of any religious sect in Spain," the ambassador said.

He said that while there are only 28,000 Protestants in Spain, of whom 13,000 are foreigners and 10,000 native Spanish, there are 220 Protestant churches and chapels, one for almost every 100 Protestants. These churches, he added, are served by 230 ministers.

Bishop Sheen

Phone Sermon To Methodists

Shreveport, La. — (NC) — Some 800 persons assembled in the First Methodist Church here heard a "telemessenger" talk by Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, speaking from his office in New York.

The church is one of the most prominent in this city, and its "telemessenger" program is a feature of what it calls "church nights." In the program top personalities round the country are invited to address the congregation and its guests over a leased telephone wire, while a picture of the speaker is projected on a 10-foot screen in the tabernacle, or auditorium.

A dinner precedes the talk. The Auxiliary Bishop of New York and national director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith spoke for 40 minutes and then answered questions for the remainder of an hour.

His topic was "The Man Whose Name Was Changed," and dealt with the primacy of St. Peter and the founding of the Catholic Church. Questions collected from the listeners here were read over the telephone circuit to Bishop Sheen by the church's pastor, the Rev. Dr. D. L. Dykes, Jr.

THE QUESTIONS dealt largely with the topic of the talk, but one attendant wanted to know what effect it would have on freedom of religion in this country if the majority of citizens were Catholics. Bishop Sheen assured his listeners that "Catholics throughout the free world would continue to work for freedom, and we will continue to do so."

Spacemen Take Faith Seriously

Washington — (RNS) — Religious faith as well as skill in the technological achievements of science was expressed by the seven flyers who will be America's first spacemen.

All military test pilots, the seven were named by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to undergo training as the first U. S. manned satellite in space.

The seven include a Methodist, Presbyterian, Church of Christ, Christian Scientist, Lutheran, and two Episcopalians. They all said they take their religion seriously.

They made it clear to reporters, however, that they had a faith that the scientific genius of the space engineers on the project would give them a safe return to earth.

Jesuit College Starts Library
