Corning Alumni Hear College Educator

Corning—A talk, "The Current Critique of Catholic Higher Education," was presented by James Ward of this city as guest speaker before local alumni of 12 Catholic colleges who were attending a Communion breakfast of Corning's Catholic College Alumni Council at St. Vincent de Paul's hall a week ago.

Mr. Ward, a Fordham alum, will join the Notre Dame University faculty this fall.

Commenting on recent statements of such educators as Msgr. Joan Tracy Ellis of Catholic University and the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh of Notre Dame, Ward said that "these men and others were sparking a drive toward greater academic achievement and, opposing intellectual apathy."

COUNCIL PRESIDENT Daniel Kane (St. Bonaventure), announced that the Rev. William Roche, assistant superintendent of schools for the Rochester diocese, has been invited to address the Council at its June 1st meeting to which all par-

Hornell Hospital Nuns Attend Nursing Meet

Hornell—"Nursing for a Growing Nation" was the theme developed at the National League for Nursing Convention which was held in Philadelphia this past week, May 10-15. An estimated 4,000 members were present.

Representatives from St. James Mercy Hospital School of Nursing attending the Convention were: Sister Mary Valerian, Director of Nurses; Sister Mary Anne, Nursing Arts Instructor; Sister Mary Thomas, Operating Room Supervisor who is attending St. John's University, Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Sister Mary Claude, Educational Director who is attending the Catholic University of America in Washington.

THROUGH PROGRAM meetings, panel discussions, daily film presentations and exhibits the timely theme was fully developed. Topics included: "Using Research Findings in Evaluation of Nursing Procedures"; "Preparation of Hospital Staffs"; "Practical Nursing Potential in Good Nursing Care"; "Maternal and Child Health Nurses for a Growing Nation"; "The Patient Care Unit as a Reflection of Hospital Standards"; "Mobilizing Resources for Education for Nursing in Senior Colleges and Universities"; "Are Graduates Meeting Present Day Needs"; and "Releasing Human Resources".
