Watching The Screen

'Police Action'

BY RAY SMITH 'PORK CHOP HILL' at the Loew's Theater makes it plain that there are things worth fighting for, and that men of good will are still obliged to defend civilization by that most unutilized of all things — war.

The task is assigned to King Company, commanded by Lt. Clemens (Peck). He does what he is ordered to do with inadequate forces and many casualties. In the course of doing so our own searchlights expose our own men to enemy fire and amidst all the horrors of war a cowardly and disloyal Negro threatens Clemens' life.

After 97 minutes of Pork Chop Hill the realization of our indebtedness to our American fighting men really hits home. It can't be expressed in words. May God bless them for keeping our country safe.

'WOMAN OBSESSED' is a romantic melodrama in the northwest offered by the Paramount Theater this week. Academy award Susan Hayward is starred with newcomer Stephen Boyd.

'ANNA LUCASTA' for ADULTS ONLY finally comes to the Palace Theater after Al Capone spent two weeks there outfitting his machinery for the film. 'Anna' was reviewed in this column on May 22nd, we'll just

Ecumenical Council To Be Telecast

Valencia City — (Radio, NC) — Millions of Catholics throughout the world may be able to watch the main sessions of the forth coming ecumenical council on television, it was reported here.

If television is to be used, only the public sessions of the council will be telecast. The daily deliberations of the bishops will not be open to the public and — if precedent is honored — will be kept secret by those participating.
