Gains Reported In 'Pagan' France

Paris — (NC) — The Church's missionary effort in France's de-Christianized areas has not achieved spectacular results but has shown progress, the effort's leader has reported.

In a telecast Cardinal Lienart of Lille and head of the independent prelature of Pontigny, headquarters of the Mission of France, stated that 300 priests of the Mission are now working in 80 communities throughout the nation.

THE MISSION OF France was founded in 1941 by the Assembly of French Cardinals and Archbishops. In 1954 its headquarters were moved to Pontigny, a village of about 600 people about 75 miles southeast of Paris, which was made an independent prelature by Pope Pius XII in the same year.

Housed in Pontigny's ancient Cistercian abbey, which was just restored by the French government, the Mission's seminary gives special training to priests to work among unbelievers and Catholics who do not practice their religion. At present 82 students are studying there, the Cardinal reported.

In his telecast Cardinal Lienart pointed out that the mission of France is completely separate from the Mission of Paris, which was set up following World War II to foster the priest-worker movement.

Today, the Cardinal said, Mission of France priests are active in some 40 rural communities and 35 urban centers. There are also teams of priests from the Mission working in such diverse places as hotels, hospitals and scientific research centers. Other teams are active in Algeria, Tunisia and Martinique.

Religion Seen Red Bait For Vienna Meet

Washington—(NC)—Though already unmasked as a communist-front propaganda rally, the seventh biennial World Youth Festival scheduled for Vienna this summer is now trying to use religion to achieve an aura of respectability.

Planners of the festival have announced "meetings of religious youth" as the fourth item on their 16-point agenda. In addition, application forms for official delegations request information about the religious affiliation of participants.

SOME 20,000 young people from all over the world are expected to attend the festival, which will be held from July 26 to August 4.

Observers here have pointed out that putting religion on the festival program is only one in a series of gambits by its planners, evidently aimed at applying a coat of white-wash to the indelibly red-tinged rally.

It is hoped, however, that already extensive documentation on the commnist nature of the youth festival will make deception impossible.

This summer's will be the seventh World Youth Festival held since 1947. All its predecessors have been held in various capitals behind the Iron Curtain. Moscow was the scene of the 1957 extravaganza.

Paddy Hill Owners Number 125 In Popular New Building Site

Since Caldwell & Cook first opened the Paddy Hill home area last fall, more than 125 homes have been sold, according to company spokesmen. This represents about two-thirds of available sites in the tract, which includes 185 lots encompassing 75 acres.

The apparent popularity of the Paddy Hill community is traceable to a number of factors, in the shared opinion of both Messrs. Cook and Caldwell. Part of this popularity stems undoubtedly from the variety of models available (6) along with street lights, macadam roads and concrete sidewalks, plus both sanitary and storm sewers.

SINCE MOST Paddy Hill buyers are family folks, schools are a prime consideration. Both Mother of Sorrows School and the Paddy Hill School and playground are new plants adjacent to the residential community.

Bus service to the city is another important asset at Paddy Hill, as is the proximity of the area to Northgate Plaza.

The Weekly Note From Mr. Pepsi
The stream of graduates now looking for the first jobs of their careers reminds me of the wise words of a poem which reads:
"Seek not for fresher founts afar,
Just drop your bucket where you are."
The distant mountains are always more enticing, but once climbed are often no more majestic that the hills of home.
Whether they find their opportunity here or on the other side of the world, to all June graduates we send our greetings and best wishes for a brilliant future.
May you enjoy all the fruits of life including frequent opportunities to Be Sociable with loved ones and friends.
