At Our House
Pied Pipers
By MARK TIMBLEY DALY

An appalling situation has arisen recently in America. There is an immediate danger to your house and soul — any home where there are children.

I refer to the mailing of monographic literature to youngsters.

In the bulk of mail including the "junk" variety received daily — by — every family, this venomous poison can easily be overlooked unless parents are on the alert.

Please be alert. The stuff is rampant throughout our country.

SUNBRITE CLEANERS

ALARM BIGHT from the top of the U.S. Postal Service is sounded by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield as he tells us that these vicious would-be destroyers of our youth have parlayed their fifth racket into a half-billion dollar business. It has doubled in the past five years. It can double again by 1963. Mr. Summerfield predicts unless concerted community action is taken against it. He estimates that this year between 700,000 and 800,000 children will be sent obscene material, or advertisements for such material, through the mails.

Perhaps your children will be exempt—but that is the figure.

The Postmaster General notes, further, that "even children who are never exposed to the obscene material may be victimized by sex criminals whose minds have been debauched by it."

All too often papers record such grisly incidents. You read them, so do we.

As you read the words of this column, printing presses are rolling and photographic laboratories are processing poison that may well destroy the bodies and souls of your youngsters and ours.

How do these money-mad fiends gain entry to our homes and our children?

From mailing lists, of course. Where they get such lists is anybody's guess. Perhaps from notations of eighth grade graduations, from births registered during the 10-15 period of "innocent" "send-wads"; "How to get rid of adolescent pimples," "How to be the strong man of your neighborhood."

Lists procured—the bombardment starts. For two dollars, easy, baby sitting money you may have many, many issues of startling this and that. You may receive pictures...

"PARENTS," says the Postmaster General, "are the key to effective action against this racket. They should mobilize community support behind adequate law enforcement, rally public opinion behind new and stiffer legislation."

As "key" people, we parents can detect this affront as it enters our mail boxes. It would be a mighty unsophisticated, and uncaring, parent who couldn't spot the "list" material by its addressographic appearance, though it is directed to our children.

The Congress of the United States has become concerned about this menace, which social committee appointed to study the problem. As a first step, last year a law was passed which permits prosecution of criminals sending out such fill, not only at the point of mailing, but in the community in which it is received.

This makes it much easier for us, as parents, to start apprehending the villains.

Miss Wightman

The Rev. John P. O'Malley, pastor of the church, read double ring ceremony to unite the couple.

MATRON OF honor was Mrs. John Hunter Jr., of Ridgewood, N. H. Miss Barbara Wightman was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Carol Hayley of Cuba, N.Y., and Miss Beatrice Jeanroy of Prattburg. Junior bridesmaid, Miss Patricia Wightman, was followed down the aisle by Miss Christine Wightman, the flower girl. Both are of this village.

Missions Benefit
Small Fry Sponsor Show

Geneva — Eighteen neighborhood youngsters in Geneva staged their annual benefit recently for the Maryknoll Missions. The show was held in the garage of Anthony Felice, 32 Kirkwood Ave.

By opening time, mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers, flocked into the improvised theatre. It was no ordinary show either. Small fry had been working on it for weeks. It was the big night. The two hour "production" included a variety of acts, 23 in all.

The curtain rose to the rousing music of the band, Mickey De Rosa did some fancy drumming. Joe Venuti played the electric guitar; Jody Zeoli, the trumpet; and Chuck Principio, the clarinet.

DANCES; TV commercials, and comedy acts enlivened the performance.

Members of the cast were: Annette Cazzola, Beverly Oddi, Patty Ann Kicho, Joseph, John and Anna Marie Borat, Jody and Joanne Zeoli, Shelly Kicho, Gall Liberto, Elizabeth Wiatrowski, Roseann Oddi, Joseph Marino, Joseph Ciancagalli, Chuck Principio, Mickey De Rosa and Joe Venuti—M. J.
