College Prexy States Education Without Religion Chief Cause Of Troubled World

The role of religion in education was the topic discussed by the Very Rev. Charles J. Lavery, C.S.B., president of St. John's Fisher College, at the sixth annual Father and Son Communion Breakfast of McQuid Jesuit High School at the school on Sunday, Oct. 18.

Education without religion was pointed out by Fr. Lavery as the chief cause of our troubled world. The alarming increase in the rate of juvenile delinquency highlighted by the headlines in New York the "Lad Chatterly's Lover" and "The general reading material and life is getting weaker. Our age investigations about TV has exhausted its spiritual capital."

quizes point to a fact which few have realized and that is the breakdown of morality in our foundation of our culture. We have lost the distinction between right and wrong and have lost the sense of sin. God to us our educational talents to the highest degree and to be prepared to lead," he stated.

Discussing the complaints of failure in Catholic education and the lack of scholarship, Fr. Lavery said that we should spend less time worrying about what we haven't done and concentrate on our duty now to be scholarly.
