

Appeal For Broken, Used Rosaries

Albany — (NC) — A nationwide appeal for broken and used rosaries has been issued by Father Patrick Peyton, C.S.C., founder and director of the Family Rosary Crusade.

The rosaries will be repaired and used in Father Peyton's gigantic South American campaign.

The "Rosaries for South America" project was touched off by hundreds of requests for rosaries from South Americans who are seeing the colorful Rosary films produced by Father Peyton in Spain, it was explained at Crusade headquarters here.

The films are the basis of a huge educational program aimed at teaching South Americans how to pray the Rosary and the truths of the Catholic Faith, the Holy Cross priest explained.

Due to a tremendous shortage of priests in South America, millions of Catholics have drifted away from the practice of their religion.

Father Peyton has inaugurated a long-range program directed to increasing both the religious knowledge and devotion of South American Catholics. He will use every available means of communication. In addition, teams of five persons each will use jeeps to penetrate those areas which cannot be otherwise reached.

Volunteers will repair the broken and used rosaries sent to the Family Rosary Headquarters, 775 Madison Avenue, Albany 8, N.Y. Mrs. Emma Laundry, and her son, Clifford, a double-amputee veteran of World War II, members of St. James' parish, Albany, direct this work.

They have personally made 25,000 rosaries for use in Father Peyton's free-rosary distribution program to missionaries overseas. More than one million rosaries have been distributed in this way.
