

Father Nolan Receives Kady Memorial Chalice

Bath — Knights of Columbus, fourth degree, Corning Assembly 281, on Sunday afternoon presented the William Kady Memorial Chalice in a ceremony in the main chapel at Veterans Administration Center here.

Chalice was accepted by the Rev. William F. Nolan, Catholic chaplain, who received it from Thomas V. Hanly, faithful navigator of the Corning assembly.

Also present to accept the chalice in behalf of the VA were Manager John M. Nichols, Assistant Manager John J. Gallagher, Dr. Ralph Traver, acting director of professional services; Glenn Kellogg, director of domiciliary services; Harland V. Sheehan, assistant domiciliary director, and Chester K. Friedman, chief of special services.

THE ORNATE CHALICE is in memory of the late William Kady, a former domiciliary member of the Center, and a member of the Corning Knights of Columbus.

Several Corning and Bath members of the Corning Assembly attended the presentation.

"Put the right values on everything," Jesuit Father Richard Rooney counsels Mercy seniors at Cenacle Retreat House. Patricia Spelman, Mary Austin, Sue Bretz and Katharine Donner were part of group of 40 at East Avenue weekend retreat.

Most Exciting Time — Now

Father Richard L. Rooney, S.J., well known to a whole generation of Sodallists, was back in work with teenagers in Rochester this week.

He gave the weekend retreat for Mercy high school seniors at the Cenacle Retreat House, East Avenue.

He is no longer assigned to the Sodality headquarters where he worked for 20 years. His articles were a regular feature of the magazine "Queen's Work" during that time.

FATHER ROONEY is now a theology professor at Fairfield University in Connecticut.

He still retains his interest in the spiritual direction of youngsters and said teenagers on retreat should get "equal time" with publicly given devotions of the same age bracket.

He told the Mercy seniors at the Cenacle, "You are living in the most exciting years of the Church's life. This is the Age of Mary, the Age of the Church, the Age of the laity."

"Laymen, long the proletariat in the Church, are coming into their own again," he said. He also cited additional reason for optimism about the future — "fresh insights into Scripture, fresh approaches to sacramental theology, appreciation of the Church as the Mystical Body of Christ, the forward surge of the liturgical movement, lay apostolate programs — all these are bringing the little people, the common man to the fore for Christ and His cause."

Father Rooney told the young women to "put the right values, the right price tags on everything. To do this takes a clear knowledge of the word of Christ and the teachings of His Church."

Academy Alumnae Schedule Dance

The Academy of the Sacred Heart Alumnae will sponsor the annual Christmas Dance, "The Winter Whirl Ball," on Tuesday evening Dec. 29 at the Chatterbox Club.

CHAIRMAN IS Miss Mary Patricia McMahon, assisted by Miss Anne Carey, Miss Kornelia Marshall, Miss Jean Small and Miss Anne Waldert.

Proceeding the dance, parties will be given by Miss Mary Louise Duffy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil H. Duffy of Pinecrest Drive and Miss Clare William J. Shea of Colebrook Drive.

Let's make this the most wonderful Christmas ever...

Santa tip... a new sweater is the gift that will get you a bear hug!

Shown at left: husky wool sweater comes in white with gray stripes, white with black, tan with brown, charcoal with gray. Small, medium, large sizes. 16.95

A. Ribbed orlon cardigan in blue, charcoal gray, oxford gray, tan. Sizes 38-46. 9.95

B. Orlon ski sweater in predominating shades of red or charcoal gray. Small, medium, large sizes. 8.95

C. Orlon shawl collar sweater in white, gray, tan. Small, medium, large sizes. 11.95

D. Striped wool cardigan in brown, olive, gray, red. Sizes 38-46. 14.95

E. Wool and mohair boat neck sweater in green, gray, tan. Sizes small, medium, large. 8.95

McCurdy's Men's Shop, Street Floor;
McCurdy's of Geneva; styles A, B, C and E also at Northgate

