'Ideal Student Nurse' Chosen At St. Mary's

Miss Anne Englert of Penfield was chosen the "Ideal Student Nurse" at an assembly program in the auditorium of St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing held on Monday evening, Feb. 22. She will have the honor of representing her school in the annual area Student Nurse contest sponsored by the Student Nurse Association of New York State.

THREE CANDIDATES, including Miss Englert, "campaigned" for a week before the final judging. They presented their autobiographies and replied to questions pertaining to nursing before the assembled student body and members of the faculty. Questions on nursing trends were submitted by a board of the Student Government Association to test the professional knowledge and public speaking ability of the three nominees.

The entire assembly voted on the candidates, choosing one to represent the school in the area contest. A school award was likewise presented Miss Englert.

Weights, Measures Week Observed

"Weights and measures administration plays a vital role in the everyday lives of each of us", A. C. Samenfink, City Sealer, said in announcing the observance of National Weights and Measures Week here.

"Ever consider what a muddle the world would be in if we didn't have such prosaic regulators as standard units of weights and measures? Commerce would be baffled — like working blindfolded. How to compound to establish the proper ratio for product ingredients? How to barter goods? How to facilitate shipping?" the city dealer asked.

Sealer Samenfink is heading up the local observance of National Weights and Measures Week, which will be observed throughout the nation, March 1 to 7.
