

Aquinas Cagers To Meet Franklin At RIT Gym

The "Little Monk" basketball team of Aquinas Institute will meet a formidable foe Saturday evening, Feb. 27, when it faces the Quakers of Benjamin Franklin high school.

The game will take place at the RIT gym beginning at 8:30. The jayvees will play at 7:00.

Aquinas, now at the summit of the season's success, will be out for vengeance last year's defeat by the Franklin squad. Exceptional height and tremendous rebounding power are what the Quakers must find a remedy for if they hope to beat the Quakers.

Jack McGrath with a 15 point average per game, Pat Casella and Ralph Yahn, Aquinas carry the 1-5 record suffering setbacks to two Buffalo teams, Bishop Tappan (twice) and Canisius.

FRANKLIN WILL center their offense around Trenton Jackson, a junior, who is currently second in the Intercollegiate League scoring race. He recently he scored 34 points in a game against Charlotte.

Heart Attack
Heart attacks do not always cause the same symptoms. Sometimes pain in the chest is extremely severe and it may extend into the throat and shoulders, arms, and legs. It may be accompanied by profuse sweating, weakness, shortness of breath, nausea and vomiting.

It is very important for a person to consult a doctor as soon as possible after the appearance of any discomfort in the center of the chest.

Padua Eyed As 'Dark Horse' In Diocesan Tournament

St. Anthony Padua of Watkins Glen appears to be the dark horse entry in the Rochester Diocesan Catholic High School Basketball Tournament, opening a 3-5 record for the season with a win over Notre Dame of Elmira and a split for the season with Mount Carmel of Auburn.

Joe Lemak's team, appears to have the best record of the four out-of-town entries. Sunday afternoon, at Auburn, Lemak's Padua club will oppose the Mount Carmel forces in a 2:30 contest to open the second annual championship for the Diocesan high school season.

Geneva's DeSales team and Notre Dame are to meet on the former's floor on Feb. 28 at 2:30 p.m.

Last year Aquinas beat McQuaid in the semi-final round on the War Memorial floor and then beat Notre Dame for the championship. This year the two evenly matched local teams are to meet again on the War Memorial floor on the following afternoon, March 6 on the RIT-Clark gymnasium at Rochester Institute of Technology.

THE MOUNT CARMEL team handled by Don Bucci with a 9-2 record on road is counted out. They hold a 6-5-3 victory over McQuaid, a 6-4-7 victory over a strong Waterloo Central School team and Section V Class A representative in sectional play. In addition to a 60-31 triumph over Holy Rosary of Syracuse, Notre Dame of Elmira holds two one point wins over Mt. Carmel, 70-69, and 69-68, and they couldn't have been any closer. Aquinas of Rochester beat Mt. Carmel twice in season play, and a 58-50 victory over DeSales, for Mt. Carmel.

A run down on Bob Maher's De Sales Club of Geneva shows a 10 record, mostly in Flager Lakeshore League competition, but is a small scrappy club, and shouldn't be counted out of the running for the trip to Rochester. DeSales took the measure of a strong Penn Yan Academy team twice during the season for impressive wins in league competition, and even beat the highly touted Newark High School and perennial Class AA sectional representative.

To further enhance the season record of DeSales another number of books, has two copies of the book, "The War Memorial" by Miss Blanche J. Thompson, Rochester writer and author of a number of books, has two new ones on the spring publishing lists.

When Saints Were Young, published this month by Farrar, Straus and Cudahy in their Vision Books series, tells the early life story of such famous saints as St. Patrick, St. Teresa of Avila, St. Catherine of Siena, St. Thomas of Canterbury, St.
