

High Standards Of Craftsmanship Combined With The Very Finest Of Materials Give You Lasting

Beauty & Quality!

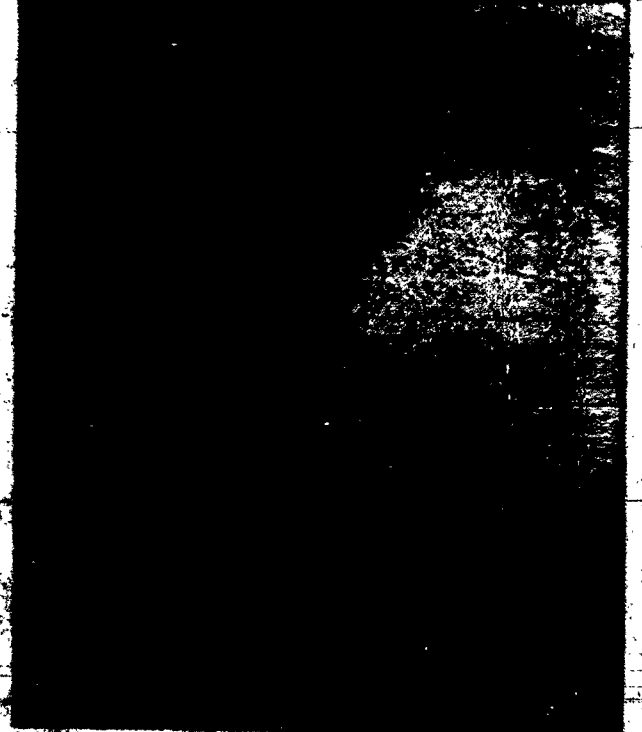

The outstanding beauty of Schantz Custom-Built Homes is realized not only by their superb architecture, but by the faultless materials and craftsmanship in the construction. Wood, metal and masonry are fashioned by skilled hands into a permanent and enduring homestead. You will be just as proud of your Schantz home 50 years from now, as the first day you cross the threshold. You can have complete confidence that a Schantz home is not only built for today and tomorrow . . . but for always.

The inside construction of every Schantz home has not only the quality of the most expensive custom built houses, but combines woods and colors so that every room forms an artistic and decorative link with the next, yet retains its own "livability."

Full plastered walls for superior permanence and greater latitude in decoration are an important feature of Schantz homes. Here again, skilled craftsmanship and highest quality materials add to the lasting value and beauty of your home.

The flooring, woodwork, paneling, hardware, painting and decorating of Schantz homes, are all from the most responsible suppliers . . . the very finest quality available. There is low-cost luxury built into every feature of Schantz homes.
