St. Joseph's To Mark Student Nurse Week

The Student Nurses' Association of New York State has initiated a program, Student Nurse Week. The week, May 22-28, is the second annual Student Nurse Week and serves to give the student an opportunity to become better acquainted with the various community agencies and the role she may play in these agencies. The day also provides an opportunity for the public to become better acquainted with the student and her ability to work with the community.

The four Area No. 11 Schools of Nursing, St. Joseph's, Arnot-Ogden Memorial, St. James Mercy, Horneil and Alfred University, Alfred, are working together on this project with Sharon Edale, "Ideal Student Nurse" from this area, as chairman. Arnot-Ogden Memorial and St. Joseph's are participating in the field of publicity through posters and displays, television, radio and newspapers.

SEVERAL EXHIBITS will volunteer their services to such agencies as The American Cancer Society, local Red Cross Blood-Bank Units, Breeseport County Home, and schools for the handicapped. This project is sponsored through the Student Nurse Area Association and not only provides a means of education to the student, but also serves as a demonstration to the public of what a student nurse works toward.

"A student nurse, one who has undertaken the study and care of the sick, must display at all times skill, understanding, gentleness, good judgment, and contributing time, interest, and resourcefulness. Successful Student Nurse Week involves service not in the position of a graduate registered nurse but rather as a professional student nurse participating in programs benefiting the community."
