

'We Sort Of Enjoy It'

Twin paratroop chaplains, both priests of the Rochester Diocese, Fathers Joseph and Gerard Gefell, were home from Fort Bragg this week for the baptism of their nephews and niece, triplets Robert, Richard and Renee, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gefell of Christ the King parish, Irondequoit. Both priests are also Majors and have over 20 jumps to their credit. "We sort of enjoy it," they said in describing their unusual duty of jumping out of airplanes at 1204 feet.

Chaplains At Confirmation Rite

Father Patrick J. Grace, a priest of the Rochester Diocese serving as a U.S. Navy chaplain, was deacon to Bishop Coleman F. Carroll of Miami at a Homestead Air Force Base Confirmation ceremony Saturday, May 21. Father Lawrence E. Ward, a 1949 St. Bernard's Seminary classmate of Father Grace, is in charge of the Homestead Base chapel.

Blessings Come Double

Two priests — both graduates of St. Bernard's Seminary — prepare for paratroop jump at Fort Campbell, Kentucky. Veteran jumper Father Joseph Nading of Rochester instructs newcomer Father John McCalligh of Brooklyn in hazardous role of a paratrooper chaplain.

Vatican Editorial Clarified

Rome — (RNS) — Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, said in an editorial that its recent article on the jurisdiction of the Church over Catholics in public office did not "hinder or contradict the autonomy of political action" as long as it was undertaken in keeping with the Church's teaching and with the "refusal to allow any split in conscience between the believer and the citizen."

Asserting that the earlier article had created "confusion as well as unwarranted sensation," Osservatore said Church pronouncements on political matters such as the ban on collaboration with Communists did not "offend any of the prerogatives of the State."

"The Church's teaching is directed towards the free conscience of the citizen," the editorial continued, "so that with well-inspired will power he can make a choice which is not contradictory to faith."

"Such a personal choice is taken with full respect to the constitutional and juridical institutions of the state which itself guarantees and safeguards that liberty."

THEN and NOW

Do you remember when Sibley's was located in the Granite Building before the still-talked-about fire in 1904? This is the way our Hosiery Department looked in those days (a special feature was four thread lisle hose at 49¢, reduced from 55¢). If you enjoy recalling the good old days (even the days before your time) then you won't want to miss our Main Street windows all this week. Here you will see displays of the old and the new products of local industries — the industries that make retail stores like Sibley's possible. It is thanks to these people that Main Street, Rochester, is one of the greatest streets in the United States.

"MADE IN ROCHESTER" --for the whole world!

On our Fourth Floor are displays of the very newest technological advances from many of the local industries that have brought world-wide renown to our city. A truly fascinating exhibit that proves "what Rochester makes, makes Main Street."

BAUSCH AND LOMB . . . John Bausch started by selling imported lenses and cooking up rubber for frames on his kitchen stove. Today he would find his company a major force in the optical industry, making 200 basic products.

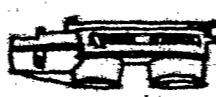

BURROUGHS CORPORATION . . . In 1899, the original Todd firm was organized for manufacturing the world's first check protection machine. The Todd Company Division and Burroughs Corporation, today, are considered leaders in the field of bank automation.

DELCO APPLIANCE . . . starting in 1908 with 3 employees, Delco Appliances has increased more than a thousandfold over its original labor outlay . . . its products are sold through 3,000 distributors.

EASTMAN KODAK . . . it all started back in 1880 in a third floor loft. Today the provocative word "Kodak" is familiar to practically everyone in the world—the industry the largest in Rochester.

GENERAL RAILWAY SIGNAL COMPANY . . . incorporated in 1904, General Railway Signal has been a world leader in the design and manufacture of traffic control systems. Its equipment is in service in almost every country in which railroads exist.

HICKOK . . . starting out as a $300 investment, the Hickok plant now is the world's largest manufacturer of belts. A year's output would stretch from Rochester to Moscow!

RITTER DENTAL MANUFACTURING COMPANY . . . In 1887 in a small shop on the Genesee Valley flats, Frank Ritter produced the first Ritter dental chair. Today, Ritter is the world's largest manufacturer of dental equipment. (In 1959, The Castle Company consolidated with Ritter.)

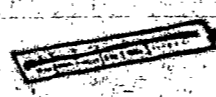

SARGENT AND GREENLEAF, INC. . . . over 100 years ago, James Sargent invented the first successful key change combination lock . . . today the company's famous MP (manipulation proof) lock secures the world's most guarded secrets.

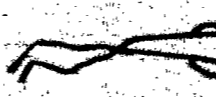

STECHE-TRAUNG LITHOGRAPH CORPORATION . . . for almost a century, Stecher-Traung has produced quality lithography. Organized in 1871, the company has experienced a steady growth in attaining a leading national position in the Graphic Arts industry.

STROMBERG-CARLSON . . . In 1894, two young Swedish immigrants, with savings of $1000 between them, started manufacturing telephone apparatus. Presently, world-famous Stromberg-Carlson is the second largest employer in Rochester.

TAYLOR INSTRUMENT COMPANIES . . . the business that began as a two-man, one-room industry in 1851 over a drug store at the Four Corners now manufactures weather and precision instruments for a world-wide trade.

WILL CORPORATION . . . entering its 41st year of service in supplying the nation's laboratories, Will Corporation's growth has consistently kept pace with the increase and interest in research in this country.

While you're browsing through the exhibit, enjoy a Pepsi-Cola, courtesy of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Rochester.

Until June 6, MAIN STREET, U.S.A. will be on display at the N.Y.C. passenger terminal. An historical exhibition from the Henry Ford Museum in cooperation with 26 leading American corporations, MAIN STREET, U.S.A. symbolizes the heart of our commercial life. An exciting time for all — with parades of antique cars, strolling barbershop quartets, big prizes every day (deposit your coupon stub at Sibley's)!
