

Patronal Feast Spurs Devotion Of Faithful

Behold the Heart which so loves men.

This year, 1960, has been designated by Bishop Kearney as the Year of the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

June, in Catholic devotion, is dedicated to the Sacred Heart.

Next Friday, June 24, is the feast of the Sacred Heart.

The faithful of the Diocese will want to make this feast a highlight of their spiritual life by assisting at Mass, receiving Holy Communion, and dedicating themselves and their families to our Lord's Sacred Heart, symbol of the Saviour's infinite love for souls.

Parish bulletins should be consulted for times of services scheduled in the various parishes.

Following are the promises made by our Lord in his apparitions to St. Margaret Mary Alacoque: souls devoted to His Sacred Heart:

1. I will give them all the graces necessary in their state of life.
2. I will establish peace in their homes.
3. I will comfort them in all their afflictions.
4. I will be their secure refuge during life and above all in death.
5. I will bestow abundant blessings upon all their undertakings.
6. Sinners shall find in my Heart the source and the infinite ocean of mercy.
7. Turbulent souls shall become fervent.
8. Fervent souls shall quickly ascend to high perfection.
9. I will bless every place in which an image of my Heart shall be exposed and honored.
10. I will give to priests the gift of obtaining the most abundant graces.
11. Those who shall promote this devotion shall have their names written in my Heart never to be effaced.
12. I promise in the excessive mercy of my Heart that my all-powerful love will grant to all those who communicate on the First Friday in nine consecutive months the grace of final penitence; they shall not die in my disgrace nor without receiving their Sacraments. My Divine Heart shall be their safe refuge in this last moment.

Two Prelates Take Mexico Census

Mexico City — (RNS) — Two of Mexico's leading Catholic prelates were among the hundreds of persons of high and low degree who were designated by the government as unpaid workers to conduct the new national census.

In Mexico City, Archbishop Miguel Darío Miranda was assigned to take the census in the block of houses in which he lives. He began his labors at 9 a. m. and worked through the day.

The archbishop introduced himself to his fellow residents by saying: "My children, I am here to do my duty as a Mexican citizen. Forgive me for taking up your time."

In Guadalajara, where he is archbishop, Jose Cardinal Garibi also set out early on the same task and turned in his data by four in the afternoon. Some of the data collected during the census was intended to furnish plans for hygienic improvement, possible distribution of labor, needed price control of basic food commodities, and other social and economic reforms.

The Rochester Council has been guided in its formation by the 1958 statement of the bishops of the United States which condemned the social and religious aspects of the race question, Father Maloney said.

The 1958 Statement noted that discrimination based on the accidental fact of race or color cannot be reconciled with the fundamental truth that God created all men with equal rights and equal dignity. The bishops noted that no one had scriptural or biblical basis for the denial of basic human rights for the Negro in the "fundamental field of education, job opportunity, and housing."

Conn. Court OK's 'School of Choice'

Hartford — (RNS) — Connecticut's highest tribunal, in a 4-1 decision, ruled that a 1957 law permitting public transportation of parochial school students is constitutional.

The Supreme Court ruled unanimously, however, that the use of money from the Connecticut School Fund for this purpose is unconstitutional.

The majority decision, handed down by Chief Justice Raymond E. Borden, said the law "gives the parents the control over their children in a school of their choice, as is their right."

The dissenting opinion, written by Justice George B. DeLoach, said the law "is a violation of the separation of church and state."

Churches Pour Aid Into Chile

Washington — (RNS) — The American National Red Cross, which is serving as coordinating agency for American relief to earthquake victims in Chile, announced here that a "substantial amount of relief materials" is being shipped over 1,700 tons "in the first ten days of relief operations."

The first earthquake struck on May 27. On May 28 the President designated the Red Cross as the organization to coordinate relief by private groups in the U.S.

Relief groups immediately sent the Seventh Adventist, Methodist, Episcopal, Lutheran, and U.S. cash to help with distribution.

Lutheran World Relief gave $150,000 in material and $150,000 in cash. The American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee gave a $7,500 cash donation. While the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter-day Saints shipped several tons of supplies direct, with value as yet unspecified.

The American Red Cross itself made a $175,000 cash grant to establish relief distribution and shipped $350,000 worth of supplies.

Relief operations are continuing at an accelerated pace. Grantmaker added, in reporting on the first ten days.

THE RULING, which is expected to force some communities to remove their school transportation arrangements, came in the result of a test case involving children in Newton, Conn.

In 1957, the town voted to provide free bus transportation for pupils who attend a Catholic school there. A group of protesting residents took the case to court.

All five justices agreed that money from the School Fund cannot be used to transport children of non-profit private schools. The law which set up the fund provided that the money was to be used for the benefit of which shall be in "reasonably proportioned to the support and maintenance of the public or common schools throughout the state."

Lack Coins Aid Nuns

There are 100 more than "three coins in a fountain" at the Government Hotel, popular Rochester restaurant on Lake Ontario.

The hotel has added 100 coins to its decorative fountain and guests are invited to contribute to the fund.

The fund will be used to provide for the needs of the poor.
