

Rite Marks Independence

By THOMAS P. MURPHY

Dakar, Mali, (NC)—The independence of one of the three African nations to gain freedom in June, the Mali Federation, was celebrated with the Church's hymn of thanksgiving, in the cathedral here.

The other two nations are the Congo, a former Belgian colony, and Senegal, once a French colony. Bishop Jean Maury, Apostolic Delegate to French Africa, officiated at the ceremony, which was held in the cathedral here. He said in an address at the ceremony that the Church welcomes the independence movement in Africa.

The Mali Federation, named after a West African empire that flourished from the 11th to the 17th century, groups the two former French colonies of Senegal and Sudan. Located on the western coast of Africa, the country is double the size of Texas and has a population of more than six million.

Mali Catholics total 164,413, the great majority of whom are in Senegal. Moslems number more than four million and are concentrated in the north. There are about 1,000 Protestants. Catholic missionaries stay in the U.S.

Girl Scouts Receive High Honor

CURVED BAR awards were given to the Holy Cross parish Girl Scouts shown above at a recent Court of Awards ceremony. First row: (from left) Linda Bloom, Barbara Palito, Nancy Kernis, Sue Sadler; (second row) Beverly Cicaliti, Patricia Shoniker, Kathy Predmore; (third row) Judy Greenleaf, Margaret Knille (not present) Margaret, Rala and Kathy Fraser.

Kids Admit TV Kills Religion

LYNDWOOD, CAL.—(RNS)—A survey, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Wilton O. Baldwin of Glen Dale, Cal., associate director of Adventist schools in five West Coast states, reported on a survey, conducted among 7th and 8th grade students of the Lyndwood Catholic Church, at the Church's 57th annual Camp Meeting, Sunday, July 1, showed that many television shows lower moral concepts and values, he said here.

Change Sought In School Law

Mexico City (NC)—The Mexican bishops' spokesman on education has urged a quick solution to Mexico's religion-in-education debate to "clear the way for solution of our very serious national problems."

Bishop Sergio Mendez Arceo of Guadalupe, president of the Episcopal Committee for Education and Culture, ascribed Mexico's educational turmoil to Article Three of the 1917 Constitution, which forbids religious groups from having any connection whatever with schools.

He declared that the constitutional prohibition "is not a sacred heart statue erected in Hornell."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

The Bishop spoke shortly after a succession of the National Action party had convened Article Three as "a weapon with which the state attempts to convert... teachers into simple instruments of the public power, to take possession of the consciences of students and to de-Christianize the Catholic country."

Tournament Of Drums

GREY KNIGHTS will present their 11th annual Tournament of Drums and their third annual Holiday Show on July 2 at Aquinas Memorial Stadium. Fireworks will also be featured. Five drum corps from the United States and Canada will compete for prizes and there will be a drum corps exhibition by the Optimists of Toronto, Canadian Junior Corps Champions. The Holly Hawks, state high school marching band champions, will also perform.

Waldorf Opticians Open Third Store

Featuring a number of innovations, a new store was opened Monday by Waldorf Opticians in Irondequoit Shopping Plaza, Hudson and Titus Ave. The new Waldorf store offers complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

The Fashion Centers, permit the patron to try on frames at their own leisure from hundreds of styles. The store also features a complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

The Fashion Centers, permit the patron to try on frames at their own leisure from hundreds of styles. The store also features a complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

The Fashion Centers, permit the patron to try on frames at their own leisure from hundreds of styles. The store also features a complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

The Fashion Centers, permit the patron to try on frames at their own leisure from hundreds of styles. The store also features a complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

The Fashion Centers, permit the patron to try on frames at their own leisure from hundreds of styles. The store also features a complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

The Fashion Centers, permit the patron to try on frames at their own leisure from hundreds of styles. The store also features a complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

The Fashion Centers, permit the patron to try on frames at their own leisure from hundreds of styles. The store also features a complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

The Fashion Centers, permit the patron to try on frames at their own leisure from hundreds of styles. The store also features a complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

The Fashion Centers, permit the patron to try on frames at their own leisure from hundreds of styles. The store also features a complete optician service. The store features two fashion centers, one for men and one for women.

Germ Free Rats, Mice Air Lifted To France

Notre Dame (NC)—The first transoceanic shipment of germ-free animals was initiated from the University of Notre Dame here.

The rats and five mice, bred at the university's Lehigh Laboratories, are bound for the National Center of Scientific Research at Gif-sur-Yvette, France. The animals are the first of more than a dozen shipments of germ-free animals to be shipped to France.

Shipped June 21 in newly developed transparent plastic containers, the animals will be used for critical experiments to generate new colonies of germ-free animals.

Lab and Laboratories announced the new germ-free animals will be shipped to France soon.

The animals, often called "germ-free," are being used in research programs dealing with cancer, heart disease and nutrition.

The animals, often called "germ-free," are being used in research programs dealing with cancer, heart disease and nutrition.

The animals, often called "germ-free," are being used in research programs dealing with cancer, heart disease and nutrition.

The animals, often called "germ-free," are being used in research programs dealing with cancer, heart disease and nutrition.

The animals, often called "germ-free," are being used in research programs dealing with cancer, heart disease and nutrition.

The animals, often called "germ-free," are being used in research programs dealing with cancer, heart disease and nutrition.

The animals, often called "germ-free," are being used in research programs dealing with cancer, heart disease and nutrition.

The animals, often called "germ-free," are being used in research programs dealing with cancer, heart disease and nutrition.

Govt. Aids Large Farms

Chicago (NC)—The executive committee of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference has called for an end to government policies which it said favor large farms over family farms.

The committee in a policy statement criticized payment of "unlimited subsidies to large farms" and asked for an end to the importation of "low-paid" Mexican nationals to work on U.S. farms.

The committee also urged the United States to "share our surplus foods more generously with undernourished peoples at home and abroad."

The committee also urged the United States to "share our surplus foods more generously with undernourished peoples at home and abroad."

The committee also urged the United States to "share our surplus foods more generously with undernourished peoples at home and abroad."

The committee also urged the United States to "share our surplus foods more generously with undernourished peoples at home and abroad."

The committee also urged the United States to "share our surplus foods more generously with undernourished peoples at home and abroad."

The committee also urged the United States to "share our surplus foods more generously with undernourished peoples at home and abroad."

The committee also urged the United States to "share our surplus foods more generously with undernourished peoples at home and abroad."

The committee also urged the United States to "share our surplus foods more generously with undernourished peoples at home and abroad."

The committee also urged the United States to "share our surplus foods more generously with undernourished peoples at home and abroad."

Cirilla Couple Marks 25 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Cirilla of 128 Woodward St. will observe their 25th wedding anniversary at Mass Sunday, July 3 at 11 a.m. in Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church.

The couple was married on June 29, 1935. A celebration of the event was held at the home last Sunday and on June 26 at the Italian-American War Veterans Club.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Canada Shrines Tour Scheduled

Reservations are now being taken for a 5 day pilgrimage to St. Anne De Beaupre Shrine, Quebec, from July 8 to July 12.

Included in the pilgrimage are visits to the tomb of Father Frederic, St. Joseph's Oratory, Montreal, the Shrine of St. Anne and Our Lady of the Cape, Three Rivers.

DEPARTURE IS set for July 8 at 5:30 a.m. from St. Stanislaus Church, Hudson Ave. Birth certificates or citizenship papers required. For reservations call Mrs. Agnes Ziebro, 806 Hudson Ave., Hopkins 7-3770.

Mrs. Mary Kolanski, 17 St. Stanislaus St., Congress 6-0883; Mrs. Teresa Jablonski, 95 Dayton St., Hopkins 7-3121; Mrs. Mary Demski, 425 Hudson Ave., Baker 5-0415; Mrs. Francis Czarniak, 1481 North St., Hopkins 7-1188.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Education For Family Life

San Antonio (NC)—Three of the 285 Catholic colleges and universities of the U.S. were singled out during the National Catholic Family Life Convention for recognition of their courses in the field of family life.

The Catholic University of America, in Washington, for its years of service; College of New Rochelle, N.Y., and Maryland College, Scranton, Pa., were given special awards named in honor of veteran leaders of the family life movement.

$120,000 Campaign Chicago (NC)—A campaign for $120,000 to construct an addition to Quigley Preparatory Seminary has been authorized by Cardinal Meyer of Chicago.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Community Bank Aids Honored For Service

Alfred T. Hall, assistant secretary of Community Savings Bank, and manager of the bank's insurance department, was honored Thursday, June 9, on the eve of his 35th anniversary with the bank when Charles W. Canon, bank president presented a check in recognition of his years of service.

Hall lives at 283 Long Ridge Ave. and attends St. Charles Borromeo Church.

Hall joined Community Savings Bank on June 10, 1925 as a clerk. In 1944 he was named manager of the Payroll Savings Department and in January, 1952, was elected assistant secretary. Before assuming his present responsibilities in November, 1950, Hall was manager of Community's Dewey-Ridge office for three years.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter, Mrs. William (Carol) Coffey.

Joining in the observance is their daughter