Watching The Screen

Telephonitis

By RAY SMITH

Ideally suited to the intimac f then film medium "BELI ARE RINGING" sound a ver enjoyable note at the Loew' Theatre for ADULTS AND AD OLESCENTS. Judy Holliday in her own delightful Broadway musical hit of a few seasons back combining her talents with Dean Martin.

This utterly delightful yarn about the timid, dreams-in-the-sky girl who works for a telephone answering service, and simply cannot keep from taking a deep personal interest in all the "clients," is good fun. Dean Martin demonstrates once again his versatile talent, as the playwright with an inferiority complex, who is one of the service's best customers, and who derives the remarkable "bene-fits" of Miss Holliday's personal service and solicitous interest.

Martin has a chance to get in some solid licks on the alcoholically-inspired "Do It Yourself" and in a traffic-stopping, crowd-elbowing street sequence "Hello." A real show-stopper in a production number with symphonic overtones presided over dynamically by Eddie Foy Jr. Eddie, a favorite of yours truly, plays the gambler who thought he had a setup for his bookie operations, until Judy upsets his apple-cart, inadvertently, of course.

Through it all, the story is soun with the full benefits of CinemaScope and Metrocolor for its New York background. Add to this the fact that the film doesn't become gaudy or cumbersome but has been faithful to the buoyant spirit and whimsical personality of the original. Miss Holliday steals the show with a performance of remarkable variety and gusto as she did in the play. It's ton entertainment and you should have a lot of laughs.

THAT GIRL named Hayley Mills is still packing them in at the Palace Theatre as the star of "POLLYANNA" for the WHOLE FAMILY. Walt Disney is a household word today. "Pollyanna" at least to older generations has been a recognized American institution ever since 1912 when it was first published. Such a combination of a heart-tugging story and the genius of Walt Disney has resulted in an outstanding motion picture, one that is already being talked of in Academy Award terms. Be sure to see it. It's tremendous.

Cinematic trickery is on display at the Paramount Theatre for the WHOLE FAMILY in the not too frightening film "13 GHOSTS." The gimmick this time is a "ghost viewer," a visual aid with two windows: a red one that enables the spectator to ogle ghost activity of the screen, and a blue one ("ghost remover") that erases the ghastly images for those who "don't believe." All you ghosts will dig this flicker. Man, it's gone.

ELMIRA—I've heard of people losing glasses, money, etc., but usually people don't misplace huge things. However, they do at the Colonial Theatre with "THE LOST WORLD." Some gruesome fights with the "little" animals. The Elmira Theatre takes the cake this week with the outstanding "POLLYANNA" for the WHOLE FAMILY. Remember, if you don't see it, you only have yourself to blame. Please, don't pass by such wholesome entertainment as this one.

HORNELL—That fellow carrying luggage and laughs to the Majestic Theatre is Jerry Lewis in "THE BELLBOY." It's one of his better films. But then we have a week of "B" movies with "David and Bathsheba" and "The Rat Race." Let's hope things will be better.

Legion Of Decency

The following are the titles of the films reviewed this week to be used in their respective classification of the Legion of Decency. The last complete listing appeared in the July 1 issue. Clip both and save.

Class A, Section 2
Bell Boy
Village of the Damned

Class A, Section 3
Let No Man Write My Epitaph

Class B
Hiroshima, Mon Amour

Objection: The theme of this film is so clouded in its purpose that it tends to lead to obscure and questionable conclusions, namely, a philosophy of nihilism and despair. Furthermore, in treatment the presentation of certain sequences is morally unacceptable in a mass medium of entertainment.

Sex Kittens Go To College
Objection: Suggestive costuming, dialogue and situations.

Batavia Downs Opens Monday

Batavia Downs, which introduced night harness racing to this area in 1940, unveils its 19th season Monday with the opening of an 84 night meet.

Monday's Inaugural Pace will be the first of a number of features. Other highlights include the $40,000 Batavia Juvenile Stakes which will start Wednesday of opening week, and the $98,000 Autumn Gold Series beginning in September.

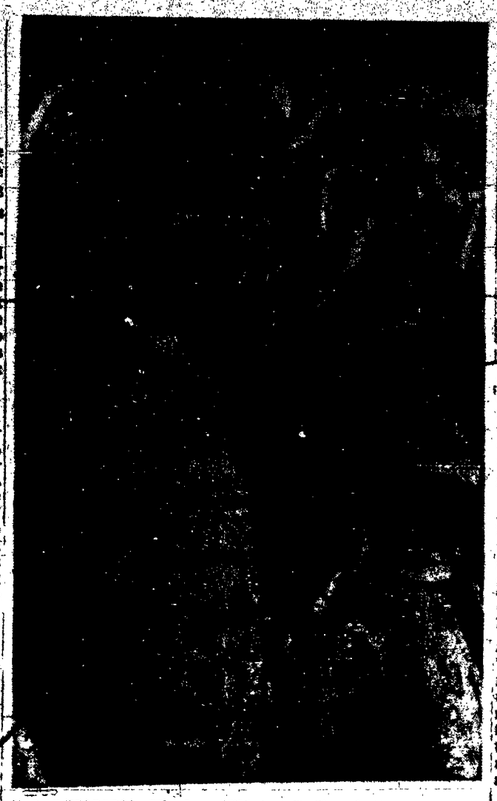
Physical improvements include the completion of five new barns in the center of the south parking lot.

A new pari-mutuel line in the clubhouse mezzanine has been built for the convenience of dining room patrons. Considerable landscaping has also been completed and fans will see literally thousands of flowering plants around the entrances and in the track infield.

Bud Gilmour, leading dash winning driver in the nation last year, heads the more than 100 drivers and trainers who will participate during the meet ending October 29. Gilmour with 45 horses also has the largest stable. He will be assisted by brothers George and Guy.

Corning Features Inge's Drama

William Inge's "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," is the current attraction at the Corning Summer Theatre. The showing began Tuesday for eight performances.



POLLYANNA (Hayley Mills) and Jimmy Bean (Kevin Corcoran) are shown in a scene from the family movie "Pollyanna" at the Palace Theatre for a second week.

'Showboat' Set At Playhouse

Town and Country Musicals, East Rochester, will stage "Show Boat," for eight performances, July 25 through Saturday, July 30 nightly, at 8:30 p.m. and Wednesday and Saturday matinees at 2:30 p.m.

In the current production, Gail Manners of City Center Opera plays Magnolia, singing "Make Believe That I Love You" in duet with Robert Shafer as Ravenal.

She learns from her best friend, Julie, played by Gigi Durston, the tell-tale song "Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man," which Julie balances with the attractions of her "Bill." All this takes place against the atmospheric backgrounds of the riverboat theatre and its roustabout's "Ole Man River" sung by Leopard Parker. Amusing interludes are provided by their fellow showboat troupers, Frank and Ellie, played by Bill Bradley and Nora Bristow.

Off The Record

Rockin' Strings

By SUZANNE WIGG

A bit of Rock 'n roll which is not too hard to swallow is contained in an album called "The Rockin' Strings" on Decca. There is no artist listed but the music consists of full orchestra with chorus. Outside of the rhythm section (Mostly drums) this album could be a nice album of standard tunes well orchestrated. However, if we must have rock 'n roll this is a rather pleasant way to take it.

The album consists of standard tunes (A standard being a hit that retains its original popularity through years of constant changes in musical tastes) such as "Till The End Of Time," "Sincerely," "That's My Desire," "Friendly Persuasion," "April Love," "Secret Love," and "It's All In The Game." The strings carry the melody most of the time with the chorus contributing a lovely countermelody sometimes above, sometimes below the melody. Then the drums and piano wump away at the rock beat to make all bona-fide rockers.

However, Columbia also released some albums for everyone this month and here are a few of the real dandies. One of the most refreshing and appealing sounds on discs is that of Ray Conniff. In his newest album "Young At Heart," he features his singers and their smooth bounce will really make one feel young at heart and set ones toes tapping to the infectious rhythms.

"Dream Along" by Eddy Duchin is a smooth, dreamy piano album made up of famous Eddy Duchin's most loved recordings.

"Blue Smoke" by Johnny Desmond give a warm reflective after-hours atmosphere by one of the best male vocalists on the musical scene today.

PIANIST, Ellis Larkins, is a musician of extraordinary taste. He has accompanied many of the nation's top vocalists and made them sound just a little better. Decca has just released an album of the piano stylings of this fine artist. Ellis prepared this album himself. He employs a string quartet, an oboe and a rhythm section.

The arrangements are written in a singing style, unaffected by gimmicks, permitting the music to speak for itself and letting the piano function as the basic voice. The velvety touch of Ellis Larkins along with some fine musicianship from the oboe and the rest of the ensemble, make this album one of the finest piano albums to be released in a long, long time. The name of the album is "Penthouse Hideaway."

REG OWEN of "Manhattan Spiritual" fame has released a new album called "Hypnotic Swing" on Lalette label. This collection of swingers has more bounce and pop than a flock of new-born pups. Reg has given his distinctive musical touch to such exciting members as "Manhattan Spiritual," "Down By The Riverside," "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," "Lullaby Of Birdland" and many others.

THE STRAUSS waltz is probably the most recorded music in the music business. Antal Dorati, conductor of the Philharmonic Hungarica, decided to give a few other waltz kings a crack at the waltz loving public. In this new album on Mercury called "Wienerwalzer Paprika" are contained six great waltzes which were not written by Johann Strauss, Jr. But the album does contain "The Merry Widow Waltz" by Franz Lehar, "The Gypsy Princess Waltz" by Emmerich Kalman, "Village Swallows from Austria Waltz" by Josef Strauss (brother of Johann, Jr.) "Wedding Waltz from "Pierrette's Veil" by Ernst Dohnanyi, "The Skaters Waltz" by Emil Waldteufel and "Die Schonbrunner" waltz by Josef Lanner.

Dorati conducts the waltzes at a nice bright clip so that they don't drag and begin sounding hack-eyed as so many Strauss waltzes do. Even the "Skaters Waltz" which has been [illegible] Strauss waltz in the fact that its composer Josef Lanner is the real inventor of the Viennese waltz.

Lanner, a self-taught violinist headed his own trio by the time he reached the age of sixteen. Later he enlarged his trio to a quartet by hiring another violinist named Johann Strauss (the elder, father of Junior) and the first chapter in the fabulous history of the Waltz was underway.

Buffalo Raceway Season Closes

Fitting for the close of a successful harness racing meeting, Buffalo Raceway will present Championship events on the two final nights, July 22, and July 23. The first of these, the $7300 Championship Trot, is open to the best on this gait that have earned qualifying points in previous events such as the 1960 Trotting Series and the Invitationals.

Preceding the weekend features, on Thursday night Reynolds Memorial Stake No. 9 will be concluded by the 3-Year-Old Colts and Gelding Pace worth an estimated purse of $10,000.

One indication of Radio Free Europe's effectiveness is the flow of letters from listeners behind the Iron Curtain.
