

Marks
 Smith Rx
 Drug Co. this week
 for having filled
 million prescriptions
 Squibb & Sons Co.,
 a manufacturer,
 company with a day's office, 40
 ation was made
 Pawlina, regional Squibb, and John son manager. It
 by Jack J. Felm
 vice president
 Philip S. Parfitt,
 and Herbert E.
 of prescription
 FREE
 DELIVERY
 LUES!
 $2.75 5TH
 $5.90 QT.
 Parking Space
 TOYS
 TELEVISION
 MONOGRAPH
 RAS, RADIOS
 AND PENCILS
 AND RECORDS
 APPLIANCES
 ILFOIDS ETC.
 ING GOODS
 m's Most ANY
 Elmira, N. Y.
 HOTEL
 RA, N. Y.
 aths
 t Parking
 cilities
 ERSON
 Director
 e
 ing
 $4.99
 FULL QUART
 Brands

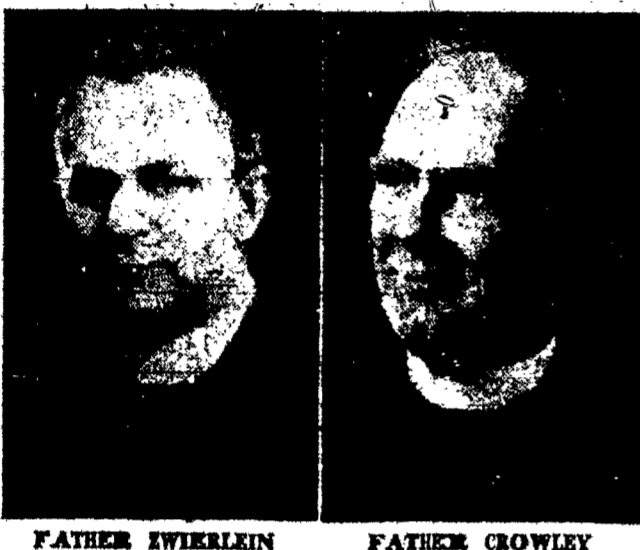

To arrange a 'Memorial' phone BA 5-7900 or HA 6-6500

Schools' Drive Tops Million

Industry Adds $83,000 To Fund

LAST WEEK'S PAID CIRCULATION 65,983
THE CATHOLIC Courier Journal
 OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE ROCHESTER DIOCESE
 Can MRA Live Up To Its Claims? Page 4
 ROCHESTER, N. Y., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1960
 PRICE 10 CENTS

Three Pioneers In Diocese Die

Death this week closed the career of three diocesan pioneers—two priests and one a layman.
 Each has a long record of service to the Church in uniquely varied ways.
Rev. Dr. Frederick J. Zwierein, 78, professor-emeritus of Church history at St. Bernard's Seminary, died Tuesday, Oct. 4, 1960.
Rev. John B. Crowley, 78, pastor-emeritus of St. Aloysius Church, Auburn, and St. Joseph Church, Cayuga, died Sunday, Oct. 2, 1960.
Elmer Gropensteiner, 65, circulation manager of the Courier Journal, died Friday, Sept. 30, 1960.

Biographical and funeral details for each are as follows:
DR. ZWIEREIN, nationally known authority on Church history and the author of many historical works, was ordained in 1904 and assigned to St. Bernard's Seminary faculty where he taught for 34 years.
 His funeral will be held this morning, Friday, at Sacred Heart Cathedral at 11 a.m. Bishop Kearney will offer the Mass. Rev. Robert J. McNamara will give the eulogy.
 Besides his duties as seminary professor, Dr. Zwierein also won wide recognition for his emphatic defense of the Church against public attack.
 He documented with facts a reply to a 1949 "Life" article on the Protestant Reformation, refuted a 1949 blast against Catholics by Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam and later that same year answered charges made by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt against rights of children attending Catholic schools.
 He also wrote "Religion in New Netherland" and the three-volume "Life and Letters of Bishop McQuaid." He was a frequent contributor of historical articles to national publications.
 His published writings include articles in the 15-volume Catholic Encyclopedia, the Publication Fund Series of the Rochester Historical Society and a work titled "Reformation Studies."
 He edited for publication the FATHER CROWLEY, first priest to be named by the Diocese to head its Catholic Charities organization was the last priest of the Diocese to walk the grim "last mile" with prisoners at Auburn Prison.

 As a newly ordained priest in 1911, he did chaplain work at the prison and aided condemned men preparing for death in the electric chair then located at the Auburn penal institution.
 He also organized a Holy Name Society at Auburn's Holy Family Church which pioneered

(Continued on Page 2)
SUNBEAM APPLIANCES: Toasters, Mixers, etc. Budget Payments, Williams S. Thomas Jeweler, 115 Main St. East. Ad.

Laymen Affirm Loyalty

Washington — (RNS) — In an attempt to dispel any doubts about the commitments of Roman Catholics to the principles of a free society, more than 100 prominent Catholic laymen signed a joint statement stressing their "uncompromised and uncompromising loyalty both to the Catholic Church and to the American Republic."
 Among the signers were Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.); Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Chief of Staff, former U.S. Ambassador to Italy; Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio; Pres. Phyllis McGinley, Stephens A. Mitchell, former Democratic National Committee Chairman, and the editors of many diocesan newspapers around the country.

Problems raised in the current controversy about the Catholic Church and the Presidency, the signers declared, "extend far beyond this year's elections and threaten to make permanent bitter divisions in our national life."
 Such a result, they said, would be "fragile" for religious tolerance and civic peace.
 Pointing out that there was genuine concern, as well as "much bigotry" abroad in the U.S., they asserted:
 "To the extent that many Catholics have failed to make known their devotion to religious liberty for all, in the least that they at times have appeared to seek sectarian advantage, we must admit that we have contributed to doubts about our intentions. It is our hope that this statement may dispel such doubts."
 In a five-point statement of convictions, the signers:

- (1) Affirmed their belief in the freedom of the religious conscience and in the Catholic's obligation to guarantee full freedom of the belief and worship as a civil right.
- (2) Deplored the denial of religious freedom in any land, especially in countries where Catholics constitute a majority—even an overwhelming majority.
- (3) Declared that constitutional separation of Church and State offered the best guarantee of religious freedom and civic peace.
- (4) Defended as fundamental to the concept of religious liberty the freedom of a Church to teach its members and the freedom of members to accept the teachings of their Church, and declared that such freedoms should be inviolable to the pressures of conformity.

(Continued on Page 2)
No Change Desired
 Little Rock — (NC) — Catholics have no desire or will to change the democratic form of government as it exists in the United States, a Bishop said here.
 "For us, it is the best kind of government in the world," said Bishop Albert R. Zuroweste of Belleville, Ill., a top figure in the U.S. Catholic press.
 "We Catholics," said Bishop Zuroweste, "in union with our Non-Catholic citizens, pride ourselves on the defense of freedom and respect in the separation of Church and State as it exists in the United States."

Only one solution, build more high schools.

Old Folks Not Forgotten

The current fund drive to raise $4,100,000 for two new Catholic high schools in Monroe County doesn't mean the Diocese has forgotten its old folks.
 As a matter of fact, a $5,800,000 new St. Ann's Home for the Aged is already under construction on a 23 acre site on Portland Avenue, Irondequoit, near Ridge Road East.
 Foundation walls have crept up out of the massive excavation and huge steel beams for the ten-story building, delivered this week, are about to be put in place.
 The new St. Ann's is being built by the Diocese with funds obtained by sale of the present 53-year old quarters on Lake Avenue, from direct donations to the building program and from wills.
 The Diocese has made no public appeal for funds. The vast and costly project is believed to be unique in the nation in this aspect.
 It is also unique in its affiliation with General Hospital's Northside Division, just across the street, in working out a program of cooperation between the two institutions to provide better care for the aged.
 Target date for completion is autumn of next year.
 Meantime, the Diocese has launched its multi-million dollar high school construction program. This year, 700 pupils had to be turned away from the five existing high schools because there was no room for them. Another 1,000 will have to be disappointed next year.
 Present plans call for two new double high schools to be built by 1962 — the Bishop Kearney High School on Kings Highway, Irondequoit, and Cardinal Mooney High School on Maiden Lane, Greece. Their total enrollment will be 3,200 pupils, 1,600 boys, 1,600 girls.

Massive foundation walls creep above ground for new ten-story St. Ann's Home for the Aged. Artist's sketch shows $5,800,000 edifice scheduled to be completed late next year.

The Catholic High Schools Campaign has soared over its first million dollars toward its more than four million dollar goal.

Total pledged to date is $1,031,560. Harold J. Coleman, campaign chairman, announced the amount today.

Workers in the Memorial Gifts phase of the fund drive reported parish totals at eight meetings this week.

A breakdown of parish groupings shows parishes in Region 1, northwestern section of Rochester and Monroe County, have pledged $235,061. Region 2, northeastern area parishes, pledged $165,514. Region 3, southwestern area, $114,515, and Region 4, southeastern, $111,000.

Industrial and commercial pledges reported this week totaled $83,500. This amount included the following: Hickey Freeman Clothing Co., $25,000; Tolk Packing Co., $25,000; Weisman's Food Markets, $15,000; E. Forman Company, $10,000; and Hart's Food Stores, $7,500.

Parishes reporting highest totals this week are Sacred Heart Cathedral, $70,394; Holy Apostles, $40,240; St. Thomas the Apostle, $33,740; and St. Margaret Mary, $34,050.

Another series of meetings is scheduled for this coming week for Memorial Gifts. According to the fund drive's directors, donors may arrange to have a classroom, chapel, gymnasium, auditorium or other facility of the new high schools dedicated as a memorial to a family or loved one. A Memorial Book will be placed in a shrine at both schools to record these donors.
ALSO SCHEDULED for this coming week are training meetings for workers in the general phase of the drive set to open October 26.

Priest Editor To Lead Pilgrimage
 A Spring Catholic pilgrimage tour to Rome, Lourdes and other shrines will be led by Rev. Henry Atwell, editor of the Courier Journal.

The April 19 to May 26 trip will also include Paris, London, Venice, Cologne, Lucerne and Amsterdam.
 American Express travel agency has arranged the pilgrimage, the second for which Father Atwell has served as spiritual director. He led a similar group to the European shrines in 1957.

Details of the trip may be obtained by writing or phoning him at the Courier Journal office, 35 Sec St., Rochester, N.Y. 5-4210.

God Stays In Pledge
 Albany — (RNS) — The New York State Appellate Division reversed decision in an appeal from a 1957 Supreme Court ruling upholding the constitutionality of the words "under God" in the Pledge of Allegiance recited by school children.

Joseph Lewis of North Salem, N.Y., president of the Free Thinkers of America, and Alfred L. Klein of Staten Island, N.Y., had filed the appeal, contending that the words violate the principle of Church-State separation when recited in public schools.
 In upholding the pledge, John P. John, director of the State Education Department's law division, 800 girl pupils taught in public schools, testified that public school students do not have to recite it if they do not want to.

Castro Silences Church TV, Radio
 Havana — (NC) — Suppression by the government of a Catholic television program and a Catholic radio program has left Cuban Catholics without effective means of reaching the general public.

Agents of the Fidel Castro regime terminated both programs after "intervening" (Sept. 12) station CNG, a nationwide network that broadcasts both television and radio programs. Such "intervening" is a customary prelude to outright confiscation by the government.
 Since 70 per cent of the people in Cuba cannot read, radio and television are the chief means of reaching the public in this country.
 Premier Fidel Castro pays tribute to this fact with his frequent television harangues. There are 1,000,000 radios in Cuba and 300,000 television sets in Cuba.

Columbus Day Observance
 Washington — (RNS) — President Eisenhower asked American churches to join in the observance of Columbus Day.

The programs suppressed are a Saturday television broadcast sponsored by the National Catholic Organizations which the President called "America's first and foremost on social, political, and Sunday religious broadcast sponsored by the Young Christian Workers."
 The television program of the National Catholic Organizations, both personally and financially, as the example of from its historic. American in the great future in American history.

FRESH FLOWERS ... A New Service. The better true expression of heartfelt way to show a moment of sympathy. Call HAN in our indoor shop. Top QUALITY and we care. Open will appreciate our no-need daily 10 a.m. - 8 p.m. 1484 plan. TROTT BROS. 1120 Mt. Lake Ave. Free parking. Call 8-2711-226.