Hawaii Governor's Mother Visits Son's Birthplace

By ROBERT SMET
Grandmother of fifteen, former Rochester resident, Mrs. Elizabeth Quinn is no Mother Hubbard in rocking chair and lace cap.
The mother of William Quinn, Rochester-born Governor of our newest state, Hawaii, Mrs. Quinn, who is visiting relatives here this week, is a most attractive ash-blond lady with a patrician warmth and charm that would be envied by the mother of a president or king.
Although her son, governor since 1959, is now 50, she still shows the vigor of youth. She is the wife of a man who lived his life at home in St. Louis, Mo., changed very little since her son's election.
One exciting thing did happen, though, she said, with a modest twinkle in the eye. The Governor and her daughter-in-law visited Mrs. Quinn in St. Louis following the recent Republican national convention in Chicago. During their stay with her, Mrs. Quinn was asked to christen a new Boeing 707. Following the ceremony, her son and his wife boarded this new, fast and fastest passenger jet in the islands, he was finally and flew to Los Angeles where appointed to Hawaii's highest post of governor — the last on to Honolulu.
Widow of the late Charles Quinn, Mrs. Quinn lived in Rochester for five years on Governor's St. In Blessed Sacrament parish, while here, her husband, who was born in New York City, was born in New York City.
Charles who resides in St. Louis is the father of two children, the Governor has seven, and Betty Lou, now Mrs. Frank A. Riley of San Antonio, Texas, is the mother of six.
The Governor, who is 41, has five sons and two daughters, who range in age from 17 years year hitch in the Navy.
A graduate of St. Louis University, the Governor attended Harvard Law School where his education was interrupted by World War II and a 4½ year hitch in the Navy.
After the war, he finished his law studies and was offered a position with a Honolulu law firm. Active in civic and territorial affairs for several years, he and his wife boarded this new, fast and fastest passenger jet in the islands, he was finally

Most Precious Blood Pastor, Fr. Sebastian Marks 40 Years

The Rev. Sebastian Comte, C.P.P.S., pastor of Most Precious Blood Church, Rochester, will be celebrating his 40th year in the Priesthood.

A Solemn Anniversary Mass will be offered by Father Sebastian at 11 a.m. in the church. He will be assisted by the Rev. Michael Zelinski, C.S.B., and the Rev. Nicholas Arlino, C.P.P.S., both former parishioners. The Rev. Carlo Della Vecchia, C.P.P.S., assistant pastor, will act as master of ceremonies.

The Very Rev. Msgr. George A. Cocuzzi, J.C.D., vice chancellor of the Rochester Diocese, will preach the sermon.

Parishioners and friends of Father Sebastian are invited to a reception in honor of the pastor on Sunday from 4:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the new school hall.

FATHER SEBASTIAN was born in Putignano, Bari, Italy, on Aug. 22, 1920. He entered the Society of the Most Precious Blood and studied at the Oratory seminary and at the Propaganda Fide in Rome.

Two months later the present church was dedicated and opened to the hundreds of Italian immigrants settling in the area. A bell was attached to the church in 1931, built by volunteer workers of the parish.

Built under the supervision of the late Rev. Francis X. Kuntz, pastor of St. Francis Xavier Church, the church was dedicated by Bishop John Francis O'Hearn.

When Father Price was assigned to St. Anthony's parish, Elmira in June, 1937, Father Sebastian succeeded as pastor. Within four years he managed to pay the parish of $12,000 debt. War and the increase of construction costs delayed his dream of building a new school for 13 years.

Finally, in 1955, Most Precious Blood School was built at the cost of $115,000. Modern in design and functional in construction, the new school is Father Sebastian's pride and joy.

A bus was donated to the parish by the Precious Blood Fathers of Niles, Ohio, to provide transportation for pupils. A bus needs a driver, so every school day Precious Blood youngsters were met at their street corners to receive a smile and a greeting from an amiable, black-robed driver — their pastor, Father Sebastian.

With the opening of the new school, Sisters of St. Joseph were assigned to staff it, headed by Sister M. Valerian, superior. A private home was purchased for the Sisters on Isabelle St. and converted into a convent.

Bishop Kearney dedicated Most Precious Blood School on Oct. 29, 1959.
Besides his fortieth anniversary as a priest, this year Father Sebastian marks 30 years at Most Precious Blood parish and 24 years as its pastor. Last March, the Rev. Carlo Della Vecchia arrived from Rome to take up duties as assistant pastor.
