Royals Surge Toward Top, Penn-Navy Ends Series

The Cincinnati Royals have been strengthened since last year and are considered capable of finishing second in the Western Division race.

The Royals have a new coach, Charles Wolf, from little Villa Madonna College, and some new material in three former college stars. They are Oscar (Big O) Robertson and Ralph Davis, team mates at Cincinnati U. and Bob Booser from Kansas State who had one year's experience with Peoria.

Robertson was a three time All-America while in college and can be expected to continue masterful performances in the pro ranks. Superbly proportioned at 6 feet 5, he will outmaneuver bigger rivals and simply overpower many smaller ones. He has a terrific scoring and rebounding skills plus the ability to perform creditably as a playmaker.

Still with the Royals is Jack Twyman whose 31.1 game average last season ranked second high in the league. Other returning veterans include Arlen Bockhorn, Wayne Embry, Phil Rollins, Phil Jordan and Win Wilfong.

The only native-born American in the National Hockey League is 26 year old Jack McCartan of the New York Rangers. Hero of the Winter Olympics, McCartan made the jump from amateur to major league status, and is so promising that he is being carried on the squad with regular goalie "Gump" Worsley. This is an innovation in pro hockey, since teams usually carry only one goalie.

In his first start against Chicago last week, Jack blanked the black Hawks 2-0, being credited with nineteen saves . . . Montreal's Dickie Moore who missed the National Hockey League scoring championship last season after having won it twice in a row is again in the thick of the goal race. Other Montreal Canadians among the scoring leaders are Geoffrion, H. Richard, Hicke (formerly of the Rochester Ameths) and Beliveau.

The Ivy League has ended contact with the spring trained power teams on the other side of the football tracks.

Franklin Field was the scene where a 72 year rivalry between Pennsylvania and Navy came to an end with no future engagements foreseen.

Once a heralded game on the eastern schedule, Penn, somewhat committeed to the Ivy League position, saw no gain from routs by the Middies and Navy saw no financial profit in a series in which crowds dwindled from 70,000 to 25,000 in the Philadelphia stadium. Penn wound up with the series edge, 21-20, with four ties. However, since 1954, Navy has outscored Penn, 251 to 28.

In the farewell game last Saturday, Penn fell before Navy, 27-0. The rugged Middie line was impregnable on defense and opened gaping holes for Joe Bellino, an All-America candidate and fullback Joe Matalavage. . . . Navy, gunning for its first undefeated and untied season may be in for some surprises by Notre Dame Saturday.

THE WEEKLY NOTE FROM MR. PEPSI:

The gaiety of October 31st is based on superstitions of ancient times.

It was believed in Ireland that the dead came back to walk the earth in the shape of goblins, witches and black cats. The end of summer meant the beginning of darkness . . . and any light was supposedly protection of the feared darkness; hence there arose the custom of lighting bonfires to ward off the evil spirits. Traditional apples and nuts are associated with the harvest of autumn.

Magic powers abound on the night called All Hallow's Eve. May happiness abound in the hearts of the young on this Halloween, 1960!

"We Should Beat Them 65-0"

Kingston Defies Aquinas

The Little Irish of Aquinas Institute continue to roll up the gridiron victory trail at full speed. After steam rollering over Bishop Fallon of Buffalo, 41-12, Coach Repko's scrapping youngsters are preparing this week to lower the boom on the Catholic Central eleven Kingston, Pa., in Aquinas Memorial Stadium Sunday afternoon.

However, the story reads a little different from the Kingston camp. Coach Popson apparently heads the school of thought that expects an Aquinas licking.

AT LEAST that impression comes from some of the quotes attributed to Popson and his starting line who witnessed the Aquinas-Timon tilt early in the season. He's been quoted as remarking, among other things, that the Little Irish have yet to show a real line charge. And, with a smile, 'I wonder how Johnny Toscano will hold up under some real, rough tackling?" "We should beat them 65-0", he quipped.

Season records show that Kingston sported a perfect season in 1959 rolling up 205 points and allowing only 21 opposition points. Playing a tougher schedule this year they have won two, tied two and lost a thriller to West Pittston, Pa., 7-9, when a Pittston man kicked a 37 yard field goal in the last few seconds of play.

A STATE of confusion may exist for some time Sunday until the fans distinguish End Eddie Fay from his twin brother, Fullback Bob Fay. Seventeen years old, both boys are seniors at Catholic Central.

In preparation for the expected Kingston offense versatility for which they are noted, Coach Repko drove his squad through defense maneuvers early this week.

Irish players came out of the bruising fray against Fallon last Sunday apparently none the worse for wear. The game was rough on both teams, but the sharply conditioned Aquinas outfit ran off its bruises and started itself to hurtle over the Pennsylvanians on its road to an unbeaten season.

Game time for the Little Irish-Kingston tilt will be 2 p.m. at the Aquinas Memorial Stadium.
