Letter From President

James Rosa beams with pride as he reads a letter from President Kennedy in answer to his letter congratulating the president and wishing him luck on his new duties. James is in Sister Mary Mathias sixth grade class at St. James School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dovino Rosa of 620 Hurstbourne Rd.

Talk It Over

Dear Miss Culkin:
What do you say to a boy when you are first introduced to him and know very little about him? I find myself grasping for straws, all of which seem to be the wrong ones.
L. E.

Dear L. E.:
First introductions can be awkward for people of all ages. However, one must discover with all possible speed the real interests of the party to whom we have just been introduced.
The average teen-age boy, in America at least, is concerned with the car he wants or has, the sport he follows most consistently, and with his particular gripe against the school he attends. A quick review of these topics will reveal speedily enough where a boy's major interests rest. Nor need your search for this be either painful or protracted.
The fact that you are interested in him and are searching for his reactions will be a pleasant experience for him. There is no need to awkward grasping for straws at all if you maintain the conversational lead to the point where it becomes obviously unnecessary.

Dear Miss Culkin:
Is it a personal question to ask a boy of sixteen if he shaves?
Marjorie (fourteen)

Dear Marjorie:
You bet it's a personal question whether you be fourteen or forty. Here's a boy of sixteen who doesn't shave; he will regard your question as a challenge to his manliness. So he does shave? Then you seem to be implying that he is either neglecting it or doing a poor job of it!

Dear Miss Culkin:
If a boy takes the time, effort and the money to win you a teddy bear at an amusement park, and he expects a kiss, should you kiss him?
Jill E.

Dear Jill:
It would be so easy and romantic to answer you with "heavens, yes!" However, life as we live it is seldom a matter of "boy meets girl, boy gets girl" in the classical Hollywood fadeout. A kiss is a sign of true affection (family) or real love (fiance). As payment for hamburgers, movies and yes, even teddy bears, a kiss can easily become far less than that.

the secret of Chartreuse

The only thing known about Chartreuse is that you'll like it! The secret recipe of this liqueur has been closely guarded since 1605 by the Monks in a secluded French monastery. Chartreuse is superb served straight or over ice — does delicious things to ice cream or fruit.
