and community boards of directors or advisory committees including Red Cross, Rochester and Monroe County Health Association, the city's Safety Council and St. Mary's Hospital School of Nursing.

Pope Pius XII named him a domestic prelate with the title of "Right Reverend Monsignor" in June, 1952.

Monsignor Mahoney was appointed pastor in June, 1955, to found the new Christ the King Parish in Irondequoit.

Priests of the Diocese will chant Vespers of the Dead for the repose of his soul Sunday evening at the Church at 8 p.m.

Officers of the Funeral Mass will be Rt. Rev. Msgr. James C. McAniff, assistant priest; Rev. John Healy and Rev. Joseph Maloney, deacon and subdeacon.

Monsignors John Maney and Joseph Vogt will be deacons of honor. Rt. Rev. Msgr. John F. Duffy will give the eulogy.

Surviving Monsignor Mahoney are three sisters, Mrs. John Blackwood of Fort Lauderdale; Mrs. Harold Driscoll of Camillus and Mrs. Frank Purcell of Corning.

Burial will be in the priests' plot at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Rochester.

Links With Jews Topic Of Study

Chicago — (RNS) — A Jewish community relations organization and a major Roman Catholic educational institution will jointly sponsor a symposium on March 7 to explore the community of interests which link the American Jew and Catholic.

Loyola University and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith will join in presenting a conference on American life and letters entitled "The Needs and Images of Man" to be held on the Loyola campus.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the symposium was made by Loyola's vice-president and dean of faculties, Father Robert W. Mulligan, S.J., and A. Abbot Rosen, midwest director for the Anti-Defamation League.

Catholic and Jewish sociologists, political theorists, authors, and literary critics are to attend the conference for discussion of the spheres connecting Jews with Catholics.

"We believe that this unique conference will contribute greatly to social progress, for it will enable the American Jew and the American Catholic to meet in a manner never before attempted," said Father Mulligan.

"Together we will scrutinize our cultures — the cultures intersecting in our American cities. Together we will reflect upon our history, and together we will feel for the pulse of America," he added.

On A Wing And A Miter

Kwangju — (NC) — Bishop Harold W. Henry, S.S.C., helped bring a light plane in which he was a passenger to a safe landing through overcast weather.

The Minnesota-born Bishop had been pointing out landmarks to his fellow passengers on the way back to Kwangju, his Korean diocese, from a confirmation trip. When the plane ran into fog the pilot dived through the first available hole in the clouds and asked the Bishop to keep a sharp lookout for familiar sights.

Bishop Henry spotted a railway line and a familiar station, and was able to guide the pilot from there to Kwangju airfield without mishap.

Two Year Theology

Vienna — (RNS) — Another two-year session of a home correspondence course in Catholic theology for laymen will begin here March 15.

Since the course was started in 1950, more than 6,200 Austrians and 535 persons of other nationalities have taken part in the program initiated by Msgr. Karl Rudolf of Vienna.

Participants study at home but are required to take two weeks of personal instruction during the two years of the session. Examinations are given at the end of the course.

'Safety' Sought In Integration

Atlanta — (RNS) — The three Catholic bishops of Georgia and South Carolina have told their flocks to prepare for lowering the segregation bars in parochial schools no later than it is done in public schools.

In a carefully worded statement issued separately by each bishop, it was stressed that parochial school desegregation in the two states would occur as soon as it could be done "with safety" after a program of education.

The announcement came in Lenten pastoral letters read in every Catholic church and mission in Georgia and South Carolina. The separate but identical letters were signed by Bishop Francis E. Hyland of Atlanta, Bishop Thomas McDonough of Savannah, and Bishop Paul J. Hallinan of Charleston.

Bishop Hallinan's diocese comprises the state of South Carolina, while the Sees of the other bishops cover northern and southern Georgia.

Although noting that parochial school facilities for Negro children would "be continued as long as there is need," the prelates instructed that each diocese begin immediately a "program of preparation" on the Church's teaching on racial justice.

Citing the fact that Catholics account for less than two percent of the population in both states, the bishops implied that nevertheless they hoped their action would have a positive effect upon public school desegregation. Atlanta public schools are scheduled to integrate next September under a federal court ruling.

Each bishop said that "with racial tension mounting, the Church must speak out clearly and not 'abandon leadership to the extremists whose only creed is fear and hatred.'"

Declaring that this "hatred is neither Christian nor American," they quoted the Bible, the Declaration of Independence and statements by the Catholic hierarchy in an appeal for prayers for a peaceful solution of "the race question."

While quoting a statement of the Catholic bishops that "the heart of the race question is moral and religious," the prelates said that the influence of the Catholic Church in the South "has not been based on

Dictator's Radio Cuts Prelate Off

Ciudad Trujillo — (NC) — The bishop who heads the Church in the southwestern part of the Dominican Republic was cut off the air when he told his people that reports in the government-controlled press and radio of the country are untrustworthy.

Bishop Thomas F. Reilly, C.Ss.R., Prelate Nullius of San Juan de la Maguana, spoke at the Feb. 12 Sunday morning 7 o'clock Mass, which is regularly broadcast over the local radio station.

THE BOSTON-BORN demagogue had already spoken at the 6 o'clock Mass. His sermon was primarily devoted to the approach of Lent, but he made a brief reference to the press and radio. He also charged that the regime had not complied with the six-point request the Bishops of the Dominican Republic made to Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo on January 10 to "end the current anti-Catholic campaign."

Bishop Reilly also told his people that the Bishops had refused the government request that Generalissimo Trujillo be granted the title "Benefactor of the Church."

The San Juan radio station, Bishop had said at the 6 o'clock Mass, evidently alerted to what he said, cut him off the air when he came to the part of the address which dealt with the press and radio, the regime's failure to comply with the Bishops' requests, and the reg-

Prayer For Lithuania

Washington — (RNS) — The United States Senate marked the 43rd anniversary of Lithuania's independence Day by inviting the Rev. Bernard J. Barstow, pastor of St. George's Roman Catholic Lithuanian church, Cleveland, O., to serve as its guest chaplain.

In his prayer Father Barstow asked God to strengthen the hand and heart of the lawmakers of America, "for we believe that Thou hast chosen these, our people, as a last bulwark against the tide of diabolical evil that wells up all over the world."

"We ask this of Thee because we have seen what this evil has done to poor Lithuania and her said people," he declared, "and, in our fumbling, we hope that Lithuania, after its Ash Wednesday, and its Good Friday, may know the Resurrection of Easter and a glorious second spring."

Manifesto Raps Bias

Portland — (RNS) — Oregon Catholics in the Portland area have been urged to assist minority groups exercise their rights in obtaining adequate housing and to welcome into their neighborhoods any new residents regardless of race, creed or national origin.

In part the statement said: "We would like to see every member of all parish organizations focus their attention on this matter—and voice their belief by word and action. Let us not be ashamed to proclaim that racial discrimination is immoral, that it is totally inconsistent with our Christian faith, and that it is a denial of the Mystical Body of Christ."

Similar announcements have been made by the Catholic hierarchy in Virginia, North Carolina and Louisiana. Alabama and Mississippi are the only states where bishops have not come out on the school desegregation question, although there has been college-level integration in those states, according to Catholic sources.

Parochial school desegregation in varying degrees has been reported in Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, North Carolina, Texas, Tennessee and Virginia.

Nun's $3 Contribution Prompts $500 Return

Elizabeth, N.J. — (RNS) — A $3 contribution by a nun to New York University's Alumni Fund was returned many times over to St. Elizabeth Hospital here.

The gift to the university fund was made by Sister Mary Carmelita Marvin who was graduated from NYC's School of Education in 1951 and is now at the Catholic hospital's School of Nursing.

With her contribution the sister wrote: "Please remember that I am a religious with a vow of poverty. Therefore, I can only give you a donation I myself receive. We, too, are building."

On getting the nun's donation, Myron J. Greene, Alumni Federation president, said that in spirit the gift was "as large a contribution as any which NYU can receive from a grateful graduate."

In appreciation, he and five federation past presidents sent the nun $500 as their personal contributions to the hospital's building fund.

Candles Lighted Christopher Book Awards

New York — (NC) — Six individuals were named as recipients of Christopher Book Awards, Father James Keller, M.M., founder of the Christophers has announced.

G. B. Stern for "Bernadette," published by Thomas Nelson. EACH OF the six winners will receive a bronze medalion given to Catholics who had bearing the image of St. Christopher on one side and, on the other, the motto of the Christopher children's book fields. The presentations were made in conjunction with the Catholic Library Association.

For adult reading, Father John Courtney Murray, S.J., was cited for "We Hold These Truths," published by Sheed and Ward.

Winners for teenage books were: James Patrick Derum for "Apostle In A Top Hat," published by Hanover House.

The late Doctor Thomas Doolley for "My Story," published by Farrar, Straus and Cudahy.

Singled out in the children's field were: Marie Kelliea (author) and Laurene Ford (illustrator) for "Treasure on the Hill," published by Dodd, Mead.

The aim of the Christopher movement is to encourage each person to apply the love and truth of Christ to every phase of public and private life, especially to such spheres of great influence as government, education, labor relations, literature and entertainment.

Clinic Fund For Quemoy Children

Taipei, Formosa — (RNS) — Mrs. Chester A. Dahlen (left) and Mrs. B. G. Herbert present $12,000 to Quemoy's sole priest, Father Joseph Bernard Druetto, O.F.M., for the construction of a children's clinic and kindergarten on Quemoy Island. The contribution was made by members of the American Officers' Wives Club in Taipei. The French Franciscan missionary, expelled from the Chinese mainland in 1952 after being imprisoned, has converted hundreds of Chinese soldiers during the seven years he has worked on the island.
