

Msgr. Cleary 25 Years At Cornell

He will be present at that time to extend their best wishes.

Catholic students at Cornell University have been cared for by the Church since 1867 and Holy Mass was celebrated on campus by Ithaca priests since the fall of 1929.

With establishment of the first Catholic office and first Catholic chapel on campus in Barnes Hall in 1936, the role of the Church has grown steadily.

DURING THE TIME Monsignor Cleary was in the service, the Rev. Patrick Cleary, M.M., veteran Korean missionary and the Rev. Joseph McNamara served as Newman Club chaplains. Later the Rev. Charles Langworthy was an assistant from 1951 to 1959.

In 1945 the Newman Oratory was dedicated for the chaplain and priests studying at Cornell and as a Catholic center. Seven priests and seven students are now in residence there.

Monsignor Cleary, it is said at Cornell, has had a leading role in formulating the philosophy and the activity of the Cornell United Religious Work. He has played an important role in the Inter-Faith harmony on campus and is respected highly by ministers and rabbis of all the faiths.

A total of 1600 Catholic students at Cornell enjoy a program of three daily Masses on campus; five Sunday Masses, Confessions daily on campus, a large Catholic library and full time office in Anabel Taylor Hall.

Irish Actress Rejoins Mission

Dublin — (RNS) — Irish actress Nora O'Mahoney has gone back to Africa to rejoin the Lay Mission Helpers Association at Nyeri in Kenya, where she spent a year teaching English in 1959.

A GRADUATE OF University College here and a member of a well-known theatrical family, Miss O'Mahoney went to the United States last year to act in the New York Broadway play "Little Moon of Alban."

During the run of the play, she gave half her salary to the Nyeri Mission to which she had promised to return for another two years when she left the show.

Prelates Must Brush-Up On Latin For Council

Rome — (RNS) — For many of the 2,000 prelates expected to attend the Second Vatican Council one of their biggest preparatory tasks will be to brush up on their knowledge of Latin, which will be the only language used during the deliberations.

The original plan was that the discussions should be translated simultaneously into seven languages, but this had to be abandoned, according to Archbishop Pericle Felici, secretary general of the Pontifical Central Commission set up to prepare for the Council.

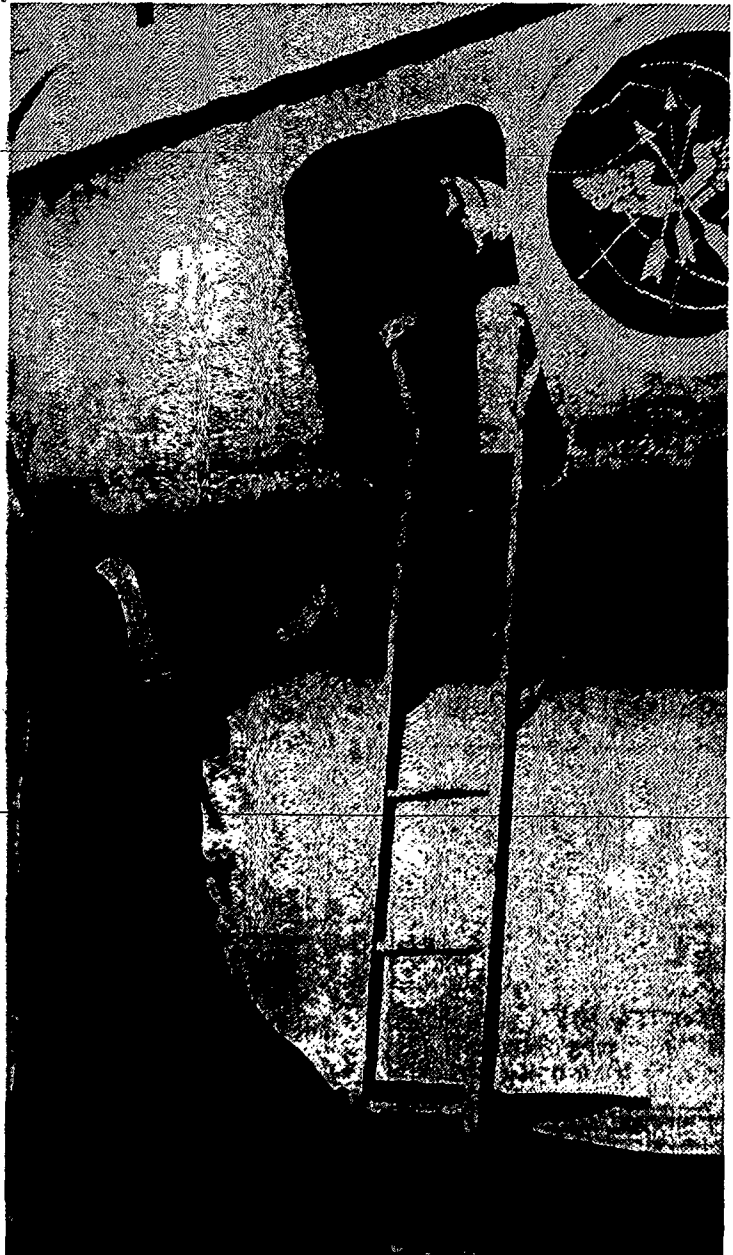

"ONE REASON is that it would have meant interpreters with a profound knowledge of theology, dogma and liturgy to render the precision demanded by circumstances," he said.

Meanwhile, one result of the decision in favor of Latin as the official and sole language of the Council is expected to be a widespread "boning up" on the ancient tongue.

Many prelates, it is reported, are already beginning strenuous refresher courses so that they can follow the debates and take an active part in them.

ANOTHER MAJOR problem will be that of pronunciation. Church experts have agreed that the official tongue of the Church should be spoken with the "Roman" pronunciation, which is less harsh than that taught in many countries abroad.

At all events, according to Archbishop Felici, the Ecumenical Council will be "a holy incentive to those who have lost their facility in speaking the Latin language."

Airplane Instruction

Sacramento, Calif. — Sister Joseph Angela, of St. Ignatius School, Sacramento, cautions one of her pupils, Stephen Hook, to turn about face and come down the plane ladder correctly. The scene was a field trip to McClellan Air Force Base's 55th Weather Reconnaissance Squadron for 6th graders from St. Ignatius who are currently studying meteorological subjects. The aircraft is a WB-50 weather reconnaissance plane. (RNS Photo)

Nuns Open Cenacle In Italy

Wayzata, Minn. — (NC) — The Cenacle nuns have made a retreat house in Italy and plan another in the Philippines, it was disclosed here.

Three of the congregation officials went from here by plane to the Philippines and acquired two pieces of property in the Manila area. One is a small site in the city, the other a tract in a mountain setting north of the city which will be the site of the retreat house.

THE TRIP was made by Mother Angela Murphy, American assistant superior general with headquarters in Rome; Mother Ida Barlow, provincial; and Mother Angela Roduit, procurator of the Milwaukee province.

Five Cenacle Religious who took their vows in the last two years will staff the Manila foundation. All are from the Philippines, alumnae of the University of Manila and joined the community here. They are Mothers Angeline Villanueva, Felicidad Villareal, Lily Quintos and Purificante Bautista, stationed at the Chicago Cenacle, and Vicenta Saniel of the Milwaukee Cenacle.

THE RETREAT house, in Italy was established in a former monastery of the Capuchins of Barbolano, near Montalto. The property was remodeled to accommodate 30 retreatants.

St. Joseph's Church, Livonia To Celebrate Golden Jubilee

Father Byrne's first rectory was a rented house on Linden Street in Livonia Station, now Livonia. Three months later the present rectory in Livonia Center was purchased and he took up residence on Oct. 1, 1871.

During the pastorate of the Rev. William Seymour, Father Byrne's successor, St. William's Church was begun in the village of Conesus. With only eleven families to assist him, he began the church in 1876. It was completed the following year by the next pastor, a Father Murphy.

The Rev. Malachy Garvey became pastor of St. Michael's on July 11, 1898. With the advent of the Erie Railroad through the village, Livonia Station had become a thriving community with many Catholic families.

THEY ATTENDED Mass at St. Michael's, an uphill walk of two and a half miles. As the number of Catholics increased in Livonia Station, the people petitioned Bishop McQuaid for a church in their own town.

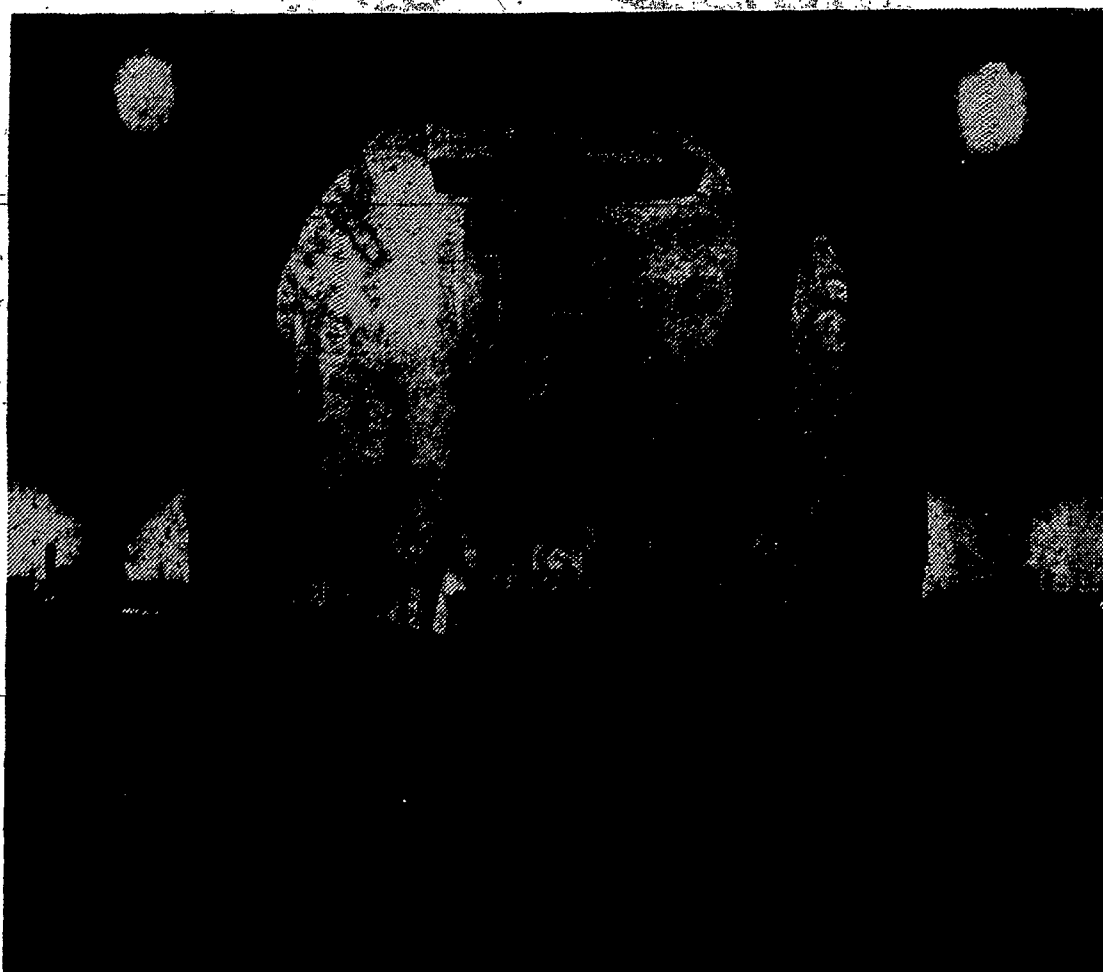

Permission was readily granted to begin the St. Michael's Building Fund Association.

Some of the funds towards the founding of the new church were obtained by operating the food concessions at Hemlock Fair and by a bazaar in January which totaled $3,000.

The present church property on Washington St. was purchased for $2,300 and on Nov. 4, 1910 a certificate of incorporation was filed under the title of St. Joseph's Church. At this time Bishop Thomas F. Hickey headed the Rochester Diocese. Father Garvey was listed as pastor with J. J. Morrissey and M. E. Krevin as trustees.

FATHER GARVEY was transferred to Owego in January 1911 and was succeeded by the Rev. Michael Krieg. Ground was broken for the new church on Aug. 16, 1911.

Bishop Hickey presided at the laying of the cornerstone on Dec. 3, 1911. He was assisted by Father Krieg, Father Hughes of Geneseo, Father Fitzsimmons of Lima, Father Lochran of Conesus and Father Byrnes of Rochester.

Newly redecorated interior of St. Joseph's Church, Livonia

St. Joseph's Church was built by Fred Mayer and John Nickerson of Livonia, although the men of the parish cleared the grounds and assisted in construction. Mark Granger was architect.

Walter A. Fischer and William J. O'Brien.

For nearly ten years, the Rev. Gerald Hellem, S.V.D., of St. Michael's Seminary, Conesus, has added in the administration of the Livonia parish.

Decision of the church by Bishop Hickey took place on March 24, 1912. High Mass was sung by the late Monsignor Krieg and the Bishop preached the sermon.

ST. JOSEPH'S Church today serves the people of Livonia township, including the villages of Livonia, Lakeville, South Lima and South Livonia.

Prior to Father Hagerty's pastorate at St. Joseph's, pastors have included: Fathers Malachy Garvey, Michael Krieg, Patrick J. Smith and Thomas Harrington.

Administrators have included: Fathers C. J. Hogan, Thomas Toole, Norman Margrett.
