

Poet Inspiration In Litany, Mass

St. Louis — (RNS) — Padraic Colum, noted Irish author and critic, here to receive the Regina Medal of the Catholic Library Association, used the occasion to comment on the habits and accomplishments of some of his countrymen.

Cited by the CLA for his contributions to the field of children's literature, he credited the liturgy of the Catholic Church with an assist in his writing.

"The wonderful metaphors in the Litany of the Blessed Virgin, when we appeal to her as the Tower of Ivory and the House of Gold, will stimulate the imagination of any child," he said.

Children have vivid imaginations wherever they live, he added, but the smaller, non-industrial countries offer more of a chance for a child to expand his knowledge of the fanciful.

"When the child is familiar with the teachings of the Catholic Church, the chances are even better," he said.

tributed it to the era of persecution, when Irish priests were forced to rush through the Sacraments in his country and at lack of dignity in the celebration of the Mass in some of the 80-year-old critic noted a "tragedy in order to avoid detection."

"Unfortunately, the tradition has continued to rob the Mass of much of its beauty and dignity," Mr. Colum said.

IF PERSECUTION took something away from the manner in which the Mass is offered, so did the immigration of Irish to America help detract from this country's church architecture, the visiting author said.

Mr. Colum classified James Joyce as the "most outstanding writer Ireland ever produced," although he conceded that the Joyce habit of dwelling on the tragedy of life is not always well received by Church leaders. Most Irish authors are inclined to emphasize the "sweet sentimental" side of religion and to "soften the tragedy a bit too much," he observed.

The winner of the CLA medal also went to the defense of Ireland's noted playwright, P. B. Shaw. Mr. Colum said, adding that of Behan should not diminish the impressive stature of his "He's more than just a play-dog. He's a poet."

Science Grant — Fairfield, Conn. — (NC) — Fairfield University, conducted by Jesuits, announced it has received a $10,228 grant from the National Science Foundation to conduct an institute for high school and junior high school teachers of science and mathematics.

LEE GROSSCUP

Squires Sports Night Features Grid Great

Shortsville — The St. Dominic's Circle of Columbian Squires has completed final arrangements for the second annual sports night Monday, May 8 at the American Legion Home.

LEE GROSSCUP, the man whom Coach Al Sherman of the New York Football Giants feels will take the place of the veteran Charlie Connerly, will be the principal speaker. Grosscup was All-American when he played at Utah and had his greatest day against the Army when an underdog Utah team bowed to Army 39-33.

Earl Blaik, Army coach, said that Grosscup was best collegiate passer that he had seen. This was after Lee completed 20 passes for 3 touchdowns and 328 yards. Grosscup majored in English and would like to try his hand at writing after he is through with football. He is married and has two daughters. He lives in Flushing and is employed by the Ted Warner Associates in the off-season.

OTHER SPORTS luminaries who have been invited and have accepted are Vannie Albanese, former All-American at Syracuse and now employed by the U.S. Veterans Administration in Canandaigua. Dick Beyers, line coach at the University of Syracuse, and a professional wrestler in the off-season.

Rev. Albert Schnacky, diocesan director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Rev. Thomas Statt, Chaplain of the Canandaigua Chapter of K. of C., Rev. Richard O'Connell, pastor of St. Dominic's and Father Prior of the Circle will represent the clergy.

The Honorable Robert Quigley of Phelps, Assemblyman from this district, and John Fabris, chairman of the Onondaga Democratic Committee will attend.

John Boardman of Manchester will act as toastmaster. The St. Dominic's Circle of Columbian Squires are sponsored by the Canandaigua Council of Knights of Columbus, Ed Delaney is Grand Knight.

Agencies Meeting — Buffalo, N.Y. — (NC) — The second annual national conference of diocesan purchasing agencies will be held here May 11 and 12. The meeting will feature four panel discussions, plus special sessions for priest-directors and for lay personnel.

Church, Science Team War Maya Superstition

Soloma — (NC) — Forty-seven Mayan Indian farmers took a long walk into the 20th Century here when they enrolled in a scientific farming course sponsored by a U.S. mission here, Guatemala's Ministry of Agriculture.

The pastor of the Guatemala mission here, Father John M. Breen, M.M., of Fall River, Mass., decided to do something about primitive agricultural methods which deny people an adequate diet and perpetuate superstitions inherited from ancient Mayan religious belief.

"The Indians were resigned to their fate," Father Breen said. "For them, crop failure was punishment from the gods rather than the result of improper farm methods."

Father Breen called in an official of the agriculture ministry for aid and advice. The agent promised that if the priest could guarantee a group of farmers who would willingly study agricultural science, the ministry would send a team of experts to teach the courses.

Father Breen managed to enroll 47 farmers in the first phase of a program which includes cultivation of new crops, insect-control, soil conservation, irrigation and good preparation.

THE SELF-HELP program requires farmers to purchase their own seed, fertilizers and insecticides, while the government supervises planting and cultivating, determines crops that will flourish in certain regions, and encourages profitable marketing in the nearest cities.

Success of the program was realized with the first "scientific" harvest — a bumper crop of carrots, beets, cabbage, onions, turnips and potatoes.

The final demonstration was the preparation of a huge kettle of lamb stew by the Mayan women, under the direction of a dietician.

The Indians sat solemnly around the fire in a circle until one of the wives tasted the stew on a tortilla, smiled enthusiastically, and called out: "Come and get it!"

"The contented look on the faces of her husbands," says Father Breen, "was proof positive that lamb stew has been permanently added to the menu of my Indian parishioners."

(About 500 of Cuba's 700 Catholic priests are Spanish either by birth or extraction, some 250 Catholic schools educate 130,000 children. In addition there are about 1,000 other private schools with only 70,000 students, but the fate of these was not certain.)

Castro also stated that Cuba was now a Socialist nation and no more elections would be held, thereby placing the country more firmly in the Soviet orbit.

CONDEMNING THE U.S. for its role in the recent abortive rebellion, the premier declared: "If Mr. Kennedy does not like Imperialism, we don't like Imperialism, we don't like capitalism."

In his anti-church remarks, Castro charged that priests "injected the poison of counter-revolution into graduates of religious schools. They inculcated terrorism in them. The revolution cannot permit these gentlemen to bring hell here."

Contending that the Church has refused to support his "revolution of the lowly," he continued: "The Church will gain the respect of the Cuban government when it practices without sectarianism of any sort — which is not done in the U.S., where Negroes are discriminated against."

Survivors include her husband, Charles W. A native of the East Springwater Area, she had made her home in Hornell, for the past three years.

They were: Mrs. Edward Riesbeck, representing the Third Order of St. Francis; Mrs. William Gernon, Court St. Joseph, Catholic Daughters of America; Mrs. Edward Griffin Jr., Ladies of Columbus, and Miss Marion Burrell, Legion of Mary.

THESE FOUR organizations are made up of laymen in the four Corning and Painted Post Parishes. The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Arthur Sheer, president of the Council.

It was voted to sponsor the Marian award in Girl Scouting this year. Mrs. William Wright is chairman of the committee and is assisted by Mrs. Alan Bassage, Mrs. Preston Reynolds and Mrs. John Kelly.

Plans for the annual tea were discussed. The affair will be held in the Knights of Columbus Home June 4 from 3 until 5 with Mrs. Robert Beiswenger, vice president, in charge.

Speaker following the tea will be the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Leo G. Schwab, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, at Elmira. The Jugglers, a dramatic group from Notre Dame High School, Elmira, will present a skit. Reservations are to be made by May 25.

MRS. ROLAND LANGLOIS, although unable to be present, was scheduled to speak on mothers circles. It is expected that a mothers circle workshop will be presented in the Fall.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Leo McKinney, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Helen Gay, Mrs. Raymond Older, Mrs. Joseph Krebs and Mrs. Louis Condon, Jr.

Equal Aid For Schools

Palermo — (NC) — Sicily's Bishops have urged the Italian government to give equal support to private and public schools.

They are the third regional board of bishops in three months to call on Italy's government for state aid to Catholic schools. Earlier statements were issued by the Bishops of Tuscany and Romagna.

They spoke as Italy's Parliament is considering a bill to give private schools a subsidy equal to 80 per cent of the funds paid for public school support.

Castro Warns Exile Near For Priests

Miami, Fla. — (RNS) — Making his strongest threat against the Catholic Church in a May Day speech broadcast by Havana Radio, Fidel Castro warned that Cuba will soon enact laws to deport all foreign priests from the island and nationalize all parochial schools.

THE PREMIER asserted that all priests of foreign extraction in Cuba were now forbidden to exercise their ecclesiastical functions and they "can start packing their bags."

He said "certain" clergymen may remain on the island "because they have not opposed the revolution," and local churches will be allowed to stay open.

(About 500 of Cuba's 700 Catholic priests are Spanish either by birth or extraction, some 250 Catholic schools educate 130,000 children. In addition there are about 1,000 other private schools with only 70,000 students, but the fate of these was not certain.)
