First Girl From Rochester Enters Redemptoristines

Miss Barbara Burns, former kindergarten teacher at St. Augustine's School, became the first Rochester woman to receive the habit of a Redemptoristine Nun in ceremonies on May 13 at the Monastery of Our Mother of Perpetual Help, Esopus, N.Y.

The Rt. Rev. Magr. John M. Duffy, pastor of St. Augustine's Church, presided and preached the sermon at the rite.

MISS BURNS will be known in religion as Sister Mary Bernadette.

The Redemptoristines are a contemplative Order with papal enclosure, founded by St. Alphonsus Liguori. The nuns devote their lives to prayer and penance for the conversion of sinners. They support themselves by making vestments and other needlework.

The Order has two monasteries in the United States, one at Liguori, Mo. established in 1960 and the Esopus monastery founded in 1958.

Sister Mary Bernadette has completed a year of postulancy and will spend another year as a novice before pronouncing her vows.
