High School Cornerstone Rites At Greece Site This Sunday

The cornerstone for new Cardinal Mooney High School will be blessed and dedicated Sunday afternoon, Sept. 10, at 4 p.m.

Diocesan officials invite the public to witness the historic event.

A similar rite will be conducted Sunday, Sept. 24, at the Bishop Kearney High School site in Irondequoit.

Both schools are soaring toward completion a year from now.

The Greece school site is on Maiden Lane near Mt. Read Boulevard in the Town of Greece.

Ample parking facilities will be available at the school or on the adjacent parking area of the Maiden Lanes bowling hall.

Auxiliary Bishop Lawrence B. Casey will preside at this Sunday's rites and give the talk. Also scheduled to add color to the event are honor guards of the Knights of Columbus, the Knights of St. John, Aquinas Institute band and the Men's Choral Group of Rochester.

The two new high schools — a combined project costing more than five million dollars — will provide for a total of 3200 pupils. Each school will be a "double" school where boys and girls are taught in separate classrooms by separate staffs.

A fund drive held last autumn in the seventy Catholic parishes of Monroe County topped a four million dollar goal by more than $1,700,000 to assure immediate start of the vast building project.

Bishop Kearney launched the two construction jobs by turning sod on March 5.

Steel beams, concrete blocks rise at site of new Cardinal Mooney High School in Town of Greece.

Day of Prayer For World Peace

Catholics of the Rochester Diocese are asked to make this Sunday, Sept. 10, a day of prayer for world peace and international justice.

Bishop Kearney has asked that families and individuals offer their Mass and Holy Communion as part of a world-wide day of prayer to be led by Pope John.

The Pontiff will offer a special Mass for peace in his chapel at Castel Gandolfo Sept. 10, 1961, and the prayer will be broadcast to the world in scores of languages by Vatican radio.

Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati, spokesman for the American bishops, called Catholics of the United States to follow the Supreme Pontiff in praying for peace.

"The action of the Holy Father in celebrating a special Mass for world peace on next Sunday alerts all of the people in the United States to the desirability of following his action with prayers in this country for the like purpose," Archbishop Alter said.

"IT IS HOPED," the Archbishop stated, "that it will be possible for each parish in the United States, at the direction of its own Bishop, to celebrate a Mass at which the prayers of the faithful will be solicited for the maintenance of peace and justice in the world."

Pope John speaking to thousands of pilgrims at his summer residence last Saturday, Sept. 2, warned that world peace is in danger unless "men listen to thoughts of truth, justice and concord genuinely coming only from God."

In his brief talk, broadcast in various languages by the Vatican Radio, the pontiff called on the faithful everywhere to join him in prayers for world peace when he celebrates a special Mass on Sunday, Sept. 10.

Observing that Sept. 2 was the feastday of St. Stephen, first Christian king of Hungary who lived from 875 to 1038, Pope John referred to the difficulties facing the Church in that nation and in other Iron Curtain countries.

He said that in those lands a "plot is afoot for the suffocation of faith and freedom."

St. Boniface Banned

Osnabrueck — (RNS) — Catholics in this historic religious center of West Germany have voiced indignation over a decision by the Osnabrueck city council which has rejected the naming of a local Catholic school for a famous saint, St. Boniface.

The Social Democrat-dominated city council maintained that all schools should be identified by numbers rather than names. Almost all other schools in the city, however, are known by names.

Inter-racial Mass Tomorrow At Mt. Carmel

A Mass to help bring better inter-racial relationships in Rochester, the nation and throughout the world will be offered tomorrow, Saturday, Sept. 9, at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church, Rochester, at 10 a.m.

Newly appointed pastor, Rev. Genaro Ventura, will celebrate the Mass. He invites Rochester area people to the Mass which marks the feast of St. Peter Claver, seventeenth century Jesuit missionary who spent his priesthood relieving the misery of slaves in South America.

Nehru Cites Encyclical

New Delhi — (RNS)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru leaned on Pope John XXIII's social encyclical, "Mater et Magistra," (Mother and Teacher) to support his third five-year plan to boost India's economy.

He told India's Parliament here that he welcomed the modern social principles enunciated in the encyclical, which, he observed, "make very interesting reading."

"The Roman Catholic Church in social matters is slow to move from its original moorings," he said, "but if the Church itself goes thus far, it shows how far the world has gone."

He said critics of his five-year plan should read the encyclical to "grasp what is happening in the world, what directions people are seeking." The Prime Minister contended that those opposing the plan are "so out of step with modern thought and modern actualities that they have lost all contact with the realities of life."

Funeral Today For Msgr. Cowen

A veteran priest and prelate of the Rochester Diocese was buried this morning from St. Mary's Church, Auburn, rounding out a life and a career in the parish he knew literally from cradle to grave.

Monsignor William E. Cowen's name is synonymous with the life and history of St. Mary's Parish. He was born, baptized and confirmed there, served as an altar boy, received his diploma of graduation, offered his first Mass, and labored for twenty-nine years as pastor in his beloved St. Mary's.

Last Tuesday, Sept. 5, 1961, Monsignor Cowen died in the parish where he had spent most of his 83 years.

SOLEMN REQUIEM Mass was offered this morning, Sept. 8, by Auxiliary Bishop Casey in the Auburn church. Other officiating of the Mass included: Monsignor John E. Maney, assistant priest; Monsignor Leslie C. Whalen, deacon; and the Rev. J. Joseph O'Connell, subdeacon.

Sermon was given by Monsignor Dennis W. Hickey.

Also serving at the Mass were: Father Gerald J. Appek, 1st master of ceremonies; Father Conrad J. Sundholm, 2nd master; Father Charles L. McCarthy, thurifer; Fathers E. Leo McMannus and Joseph E. McNamara, acolytes; Father Robert L. Kress, book bearer; Father Edwin B. Metzger, candle bearer; Father John P. Norris, mitre bearer; Father Gerald T. Connor, gremiale bearer.

Monsignor Cowen was born in Auburn on May 10, 1878, the son of William and Maria Jones Cowen. He attended St. Mary's School and the Auburn Academic High School.

After completing his studies at St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's Seminaries, he was ordained to the Priesthood in June 14, 1902 by Bishop Bernard J. McQuaid.

Appointed administrator of St. Leo's Church, Hilton, and St. John the Evangelist Church, Spencerport, Monsignor Cowen was then chosen to study for a doctor's degree in Sacred Theology.

THREE YEARS of graduate study followed at St. Bernard's Seminary and then two years abroad at the Gregorian University in Rome and the University of Leuven, Belgium.

Doctor Cowen returned to Rochester as a professor of Dogmatic Theology and Patrology at St. Bernard's and, for eight years, served as prefect of studies.

During his seminary years Doctor Cowen assisted at Blessed Sacrament Church, Rochester. He was actively interested in the establishment of the Catholic Charities in the Diocese and was a judge of the

Birchers, Buckley Blasted

Berkeley — (RNS) — Bishop Paul J. Hallinan of Charleston, S.C., delivered a blistering attack on the right-wing John Birch Society here and urged Catholic college students to stay clear of its extremism.

"We are against communism," Bishop Hallinan said. "But we are for the social order that the John Birch Society would not even understand, much less accept."

The prelate spoke at the annual convention of the National Newman Club Federation, coordinating body for Catholic activities on the campuses of state universities and non-Catholic colleges. About 1,000 students and religious attended the meeting at the University of California. Bishop Hallinan is episcopal moderator of the federation.

In his attack on ultra-conservative Americans, he said, "These small minds and faint hearts today are betraying the grandeur of the Christian apostolate."

Addressing the student convention he asked: "Is it true, as leader Robert Welch says, that 50 per cent of his John Birch Society is made up of Catholics?"

"DO CATHOLIC collegians think, with one of our leading conservative magazines, that the latest encyclical on the social order is only a 'venture in triviality'? Are they chuckling with the same magazine when it parodies the title of the encyclical, Mother and Teacher, in this wise — 'Mater si, Magistra no!'"

Although he did not refer to the magazine by name, Bishop Hallinan obviously referred to the National Review, edited by William J. Buckley, Jr., noted Catholic conservative. The magazine editorially referred to the encyclical of Pope John XXIII as a "venture in triviality," and later published an item that contained the "Mater, si; Magistra no" comment.

He said he hoped Catholic young people were not "afraid of integration, fearful of foreign aid, unwilling to pay taxes to provide a decent life for the unfortunate children born out of wedlock in the city of Newburgh, N.Y."

"We are against war. But we are even more against those who confuse the issue."

"Communism is wrong, not because it is in Cuba or at the Brandenburg Gate. It is wrong because it is a false answer to the right question — why must so many suffer while so few live in wealth and ease?"

City of Angels Nears Second Centenary

Los Angeles — (NC) — Los Angeles, celebrating its 180th birthday, was founded with a prayer.

The city was established Sept. 4, 1781. Gov. Felipe de Neve and 46 settlers left Mission San Gabriel at dawn, marched nine miles and arrived at the site of the new settlement.

As they halted, a priest with them, Father Cruzado, prayed: "Almighty God, we humbly beseech Thee to bless the founders of this new pueblo, endow them with Thy Holy Spirit, enrich them with Thy heavenly grace; prosper them with happiness and bring them Thine everlasting Kingdom through Christ Our Lord, Amen."

Each family was given a plot of land. Their land was blessed that it might sustain their life, the skies were blessed for sunshine and rain.

He entered military service in 1954 and his chaplain's duties took him to Fort Benning, Georgia, Germany and to Fort George Meade, Maryland, prior to his assignment to Greenland in April of this year.

FATHER LYNCH was the oldest of the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Lynch, 256 Prospect St., Canandaigua. Besides his parents, survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Andrew Halbert and Mrs. Walter Rodney, and a brother, James, all of Canandaigua.

He attended St. Mary's parochial school, Canandaigua Academy, St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's Seminaries. Bishop Kearney ordained Father Lynch to the priesthood June 11, 1949 and assigned him as curate at St. Mary's Church, Auburn, and transferred him to St. John the Evangelist Church, Rochester, in 1953.

He was one of six victims killed when an Army helicopter crashed against the Greenland ice cap a mile after takeoff on a 138 mile flight from Camp Century to Camp Tuto, near Thule.
