'Splendid Tradition'

Boston — (RNS) — Protestant and Roman Catholic relationships in this state have built a "splendid tradition of cooperation over the years," Episcopal Bishop Anson Phelps Stokes, Jr., of Massachusetts declared here.

The outgoing president of the Massachusetts Council of Churches said that the "great area of Protestant-Catholic relationships can be faced" in the state "perhaps better than anywhere else in the country."

Addressing the council's annual meeting, he stated: "I rejoice that there are increasing evidences of the spirit and the will to face this issue with both understanding and conviction."

Catechism Congress

Washington — (NC) — Five Cardinals — two from outside the United States — will participate in the Nov. 28 to Dec. 1 Congress of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine in Dallas, ceremonies.

Forman's Christmas Breakfast Draws 600

A bright red Santa Claus spotlighted on the top of a model of Midtown Tower as 600 employees of three B. Forman Co. stores convened at the company's annual Christmas breakfast, Nov. 20, in the Ballroom of Manser Hotel.

Proceedings were knotted by a party spirit as brief talks were given by Mayor Peter Barry and by Fred Forman, store vice-president.

Store president Maurice R. Forman, presented watches to two members of the staff who were received into the store's 25-Year Club. These were Miss Terry Lison, 36 Homer St. and Miss Pose Perlman, 7 N. Goodman St.

Eighteen employees were recipients of monogram pins, signifying 10, 15, and 20 years of service.

John D. Roche was master of ceremonies.
