

Martyrs' Feast At Auriesville

Feast of the Jesuit Martyrs of North America will be observed at the Auriesville shrine Sunday, Sept. 23.

Pilgrims from the Rochester area will be under the spiritual direction of Rev. Francis Staebell, S.J., of McQuaid Jesuit High School. Details of arrangements may be obtained by writing or phoning him at the school.

A colorful pageant will be held on the shrine grounds Saturday evening, Sept. 22, at 8:30 p.m.

Sunday's schedule will begin with a procession at 11:30 a.m. escorted by Boy Scouts, solemn Mass at noon in the vast shrine coliseum which seats 6,500, outdoor Stations of the Cross at 2 p.m. followed by procession into the Ravine where St. Rene Goupil lies in a still undiscovered grave and a concluding Mass at 4:15 p.m.

Eight Jesuit missionaries were put to death by Iroquois Indians between 1642 and 1649. Three of the missionaries were martyred at the Auriesville site; all eight were canonized in 1930.

Fordham Honors ETV Pioneers

Washington — (RNS) — Father William K. Trivett, S.J., chairman of Fordham University's Communication Arts Department, presented "in memoriam" citations here to relatives of two pioneers in the educational television field.

One plaque honored the late Frieda B. Henneck, former commissioner of the Federal Communications Commission, and the other honored the late Franklin Dunham, former chief of radio and television of the United States Office of Education.

Bishop Casey, escorted by Knights of St. John, blesses graves at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Throngs at Graves Rite

Medieval chant sung by six hundred priests and seminarians formed the backdrop for prayers for the dead in annual Blessing of the Graves ceremonies at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery Sunday afternoon.

Throngs lined the procession's route or knelt at graves of departed loved ones.

In his talk at All Saints Chapel, Bishop Casey, who presided at the blessing rite, said, "We are wise if we follow the mind of the Church and think often of our last end and those who have gone before us."

He cited the long diocesan tradition of the rite but said fewer attend the ceremony now than in earlier days.

"At the turn of the century, fifteen to twenty thousand people were present. What a pity there is not today the same veneration for the dead Catholics of those days possessed.

"To be cold in such a gracious respect for the dead is a sign of the chilling of the faith and this is colder than any chill of death."

He recommended that every time "we pass a cemetery wall we should say a prayer for the deceased buried therein . . . because we know and believe, through the beautiful and consoling doctrine of the Communion of Saints that we can hasten their painful progress toward the throne of God."

Knights of St. John in uniform served as an escort to Bishop Casey during the procession.

People who are interested in teaching religion to Catholic children in Public Schools or helping these teachers or visiting the homes of these children, or in teaching religion to their own children at home are invited to a public meeting at St. Anne's parish hall, Brighton Park near Mt. Hope Avenue, this Sunday evening, Sept. 23, 7 p.m.

No reservations are needed. All are welcome. There is no charge.

Father Leonard Kelly, Pastor of the Church of the Assumption in Fairport, Sister Teresa Mary and Sister Joseph Marie of the Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart who are stationed at Fairport, and Father Albert Schnacky, diocesan director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, will explain and demonstrate how anyone can help in the teaching of religion.

Later, a three-week training course for Helpers and Homevisitors will be offered at the School of Religion in Fairport, beginning Monday, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m. In addition, a thirty-week training course for lay catechists will also begin at the same time.

Father Schnacky says: "Do you want to work for God? Do you have leisure time to give to your own or to a neighboring parish? If so, come to this meeting and learn how you can help teach religion and help the teachers of religion. The CCD needs you and you need the CCD," the Cardinal said.

Sixty-nine in Missions

Sixty-nine returns have been received at the Diocesan Office of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith in its campaign to compile a Diocesan Missionary Personnel File, according to Rev. John F. Duffy, diocesan director.

Thirty-six returns are from priests, twenty-nine from sisters, three from brothers and one from a lay missionary.

"One of the greatest surprises was the fact that 46 (approximately 65%) of these were from missionaries whose names were not on the list two years ago," Father Duffy pointed out. And in nineteen cases (or 27%) the returns were filled out by either interested relatives, or religious, or religious superiors.

A review of the Courier-Journal story of Oct. 1960 reveals that there are as yet eighteen priests, thirty-two sisters, three brothers and six lay missionaries whose returns have not as yet been received.

"We are confident that interested friends and relatives have obtained a copy of the Questionnaire from the parish priest, have mailed it to the Missionary Personnel File, according to Rev. John F. Duffy, diocesan director.

Although two of the missionary priests mailed their returns from here in the United States where they are now assigned, these missionaries had more than their share of excitement and danger in the early 1940's. For both Father Felix White, M.M., of Clark's Summit, Pa., and Father Patrick H. Cleary, M.M., of Valley Park, Missouri, were among the passengers on the Gripsholm, the repatriation ship that brought many Americans home from the Orient in August of 1942.

In conclusion, Father Duffy urged lay missionaries from this Diocese to enroll themselves in the file by sending in a completed Questionnaire, "even though these lay missionaries may be in missionary work only part time or for but a few months each year." Forms may be obtained by writing the Diocesan Office, 50 Chestnut Street, or calling, HA 6-1466.

Better Pay Urged For Farmers

Vatican City — (NC) — The farmer is not justly paid unless he can have a dignified standard of living, the Papal Secretary of State has told Spaniards.

Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, in a letter to those taking part in the 21st Spanish Social Week in Valencia (Sept. 17 to 25), outlined three points which he said must be observed if the farmer is to be raised from an inferior position in society.

"THE POINTS he made referred to land, capital and labor.

Land, the Cardinal pointed out, is the "natural factor, which must be reclaimed and developed." He praised the Institute for Farm Development in Spain which has reclaimed almost one and a half million acres of land.

The Cardinal urged that "the investment of capital in agriculture be promoted, in spite of the low return which the land yields."

In regard to farm labor, he said: "Efforts must be made to extend legislation for social benefits to agriculture." The farmer is not receiving a just remuneration, he added, if he cannot have a dignified standard of living for himself and his family.

German Aid Nedy
Bonn — (NC) — The German Bishops gave $10,000 to buy blankets, medicine and food for Iran's earthquake victims and $5,000 for victims of the floods in Hong Kong.

Protestant - Confession
Stuttart — (NC) — A group of Protestant pastors here have put up posters announcing that their churches are making facilities for "confession" available to parishioners.
