Hospital Employees' Rights to Unionize

Tacoma, Wash. — (NC) — A Catholic industrial relations specialist said here that hospitals have an obligation to permit employees to form unions and engage in collective bargaining.

Urging "modern, mature, just and equitable industrial relations policy" among hospital administrators, Father Jerome I. Toner, O.S.B., said it is "almost unbelievable" that American hospital management "with rare exceptions still denies and violates the natural moral right of workers to organize into unions."

Father Toner, dean of industrial relations at St. Martin's College, Olympia, Wash., spoke at the 34th annual meeting of the Washington State Conference of the Catholic Hospital Association.

He said the Catholic hospital must exercise "Christ-like charity and justice" toward the public, toward employees, and toward patients.

He put particular emphasis on the responsibilities of hospital administrators toward employees, citing the teaching of modern popes to back up his arguments for adequate wages and the right to unionize.

Penny-a-day Aids Student

Ottawa — (NC) — Daily Penny donations of the 800 students at St. Patrick's College High School here are helping to pay for the education of Hilary Zintel, 23, a freshman from northern Ghana.

His $300 yearly residence fee is being paid through the students' mission fund. He has a four-year tuition scholarship from the college.

Gospel Holds Key To Peru's Needs

Lima — (NC) — The support of the Church in a national campaign to build civic responsibility among Peru's people is actively sought by the army junta now ruling the country. This was stated here by a spokesman for the army group, Gen. Juan B. Osorio Collas, who said:

"I BELIEVE that the Church has a highly valuable message at this time. If Catholicism in Peru changes its structure and attitude and puts the stamp of the Gospel on the social teachings it possesses, it can perform a great task in our country and in all Latin American countries, since they are all essentially Catholic."

"Until recently, I regret to say, Catholicism has lost its personal meaning. It believed that its mission centered in the cloister and the church, and not in the temporal needs of the people. Of course there were

Peruvian elections last June. The army stepped in to take charge then with the contention that widespread election irregularities had turned the voting into a perversion of democracy.

The General's appeal to the Church to enter the political and social arena in Peru was coupled with a similar appeal to the other national institutions, the trade unions, press, business community, educators and intellectuals, and leaders of public opinion.

"We ask for their cooperation so that they will instruct citizens in the free and intelligent exercise of voting. We would like to have those who have the right to vote to do so in freedom. We want Peruvians to vote at any time for the candidates of their choice, but we want them to know who these persons are and to know who wants to advance their interests."

Vote - NOV. 6
for JOHN P. LOMENZO

LOMENZO

Judge Lomenzo, wife and five children, ages 12 weeks to 18.

LAWYER, TEACHER, JUDGE, LEADER

A devout, active CATHOLIC, Judge Lomenzo attended NIAGARA UNIVERSITY and FORDHAM UNIVERSITY School of Law. He has been a lawyer 22 years, Judge 7 years — City Court Judge, Rochester, and Monroe County Judge; teacher 16 years, 9 years on college level—Niagara U., Rochester Institute of Technology, St. John Fisher College. Lecturer, speaker before Holy Name Societies, Sodalties, men's and women's Catholic clubs in all Western N.Y. dioceses; selected "Catholic Speaker of the Year" 1961 Syracuse State Fair; chairman of successful drive which built Holy Angels Home, Rochester; member, K of C, Alhambra, former counsel and Board member, CYO, Vice Chairman, Otetiana Council, Boy Scouts of America; member, St. John's Evangelist parish.

LOMENZO SPEAKS ON SCHOOL AID

"We now have in the State of New York under Governor Rockefeller the greatest education program in the nation.

"All school children may participate in the great Regents Scholarship program, as well as the State's new Scholar Incentive program. Many of the 16,240 scholarships go to the students of parochial and private schools along with students of public schools. The number of these scholarships has tripled under Governor Rockefeller's administration. Many of the 90,000 students who will receive $24,000,000 in scholar incentive grants this year-to-ward payment of their college education are graduates of parochial and private schools. Thus, every qualified and deserving youngster can participate in these fine programs.

"In addition, a new law requires that public transportation be provided for children attending parochial and private schools. It was Al Smith who many years ago established the moral principle that every child should have an equal opportunity for a basic education. School transportation is consistent with that philosophy. I shall dedicate myself to the proposition that no qualified boy or girl with the ability will ever be denied the opportunity for a college education because of lack of personal means of facilities. That is one of the reasons why our great University of the State of New York has embarked upon a $700-Million program to double its capacity in seven years to 106,000 students."

Springfield, Mo. — (RNS) — An example of how the "shared-time" program — a plan whereby parochial school pupils take certain courses in public schools — operates is seen as Danny Cery and Robert Walsh, pupils at St. Agnes Regional Catholic High School, Springfield, work under the supervision of two machine shop instructors at Springfield's Vocational Technical High School. The pupil is Father Patrick H. Hanley, superintendent of the Springfield-Cape Girardeau Diocese's schools, who arranged the shared-time program with Springfield public school officials. Danny and Robert are two of twelve pupils at Catholic high schools who are participating in this city's first attempt at shared-time education.

'Shared Time' Compromise

St. Louis — (RNS) — Shared time — the educational plan under which parochial school students learn non-religious subjects in public schools — is a partial answer to the religious illiteracy of American youth, a Catholic educator said here.

Msgr. O'Neill C. D'Amour, associate secretary of the National Catholic Education Association at Washington, D.C., said that if shared time is to succeed it must be employed by Protestant as well as Catholic educators to meet the challenge of America's "counterculture" and secular humanism.

He spoke before the annual alumni meeting of Kenrick Seminary where priests to the St. Louis archdiocese are educated.

Msgr. D'Amour noted that shared time is a compromise, not a real solution. "There is really only one real solution — just and equal tax benefits for Catholic parents."

"But as a compromise, it deserves careful and prophetic study. It offers to us, Catholics, an opportunity to reach with a partial Catholic education 100 per cent of our Catholic youth. It offers to our Protestant and Jewish brethren a means by which one day they might reach their youth."

"It offers to public education an end to the sterile research

Lutherans

Table Prayers

Milwaukee — (RNS) — A resolution urging prayers for the Second Vatican Council ran into a flurry of objections at the closing session of the American Lutheran Church (ALC) convention here and was tabled on a voice vote.

The resolution asked the nearly 1,000 delegates to approve sending greetings to "the Holy Roman Catholic Church, expressing our concern, hopes and prayers for a fruitful council in the eyes of our common Lord."

It also proposed that the ALC encourage its congregations to offer prayer to God during Reformation services that this end may be accomplished.

Less Violence

In TV Programs

Washington — (NC) — There now is less sex, crime and violence in television programs than two years ago, the manager of TV's code of standards asserted here.

The fall convention of the National Association of Broadcasters in the Statler-Hilton here was told (Oct. 25) that the "great hue and cry" during the two-year period, ending last spring, over crime, violence and sex in TV had died down.
