and a three dimensional mural in black and white will be used to create winter atmosphere.

Christine Drilling, special arrangements chairman, will supervise the setting up of a traditional nativity scene in the ball room. The publicity committee under Jeanne Desmarais, Suzanne Dady, and Joanne Magers have been conducting contests for bulletin boards and posters.

Other committee heads are: Kathleen Mitchell, refreshments; Kathleen D'Amico, tickets and bids; Mary Wuest, undecorating. Mary Jane Roney, prefect of the sodality and general chairman of the dance, stated that the dance is the biggest social event of the sodality year and that profits will be used to further the work of the sodality.

Top Students

Senior James Brodman, junior Paul Caccamise, and freshman Robert McKay topped the academic rolls at McQuaid Jesuit High School for the second marking period. Each had a 96.1 average, best of the 283 students who attained honors for the period. (McQuaid's enrollment is 810. Highest sophomore was Mark Sullivan, with 95.7.

Forty-eight students were awarded first honors, 128 second and honors, and 107 honorable mention.

Brodman, Caccamise, and Sullivan are all active in debating at McQuaid, while McKay is a member of the varsity swimming team.

Other leaders for the marking period in their respective years were:

Senior: John Foster (95.2); Thomas Sable (95.1); Jan Yutzy (95.0); John Dyminski (94.9); and Richard Spies (94.9).

Junior: James Uebelacker (94.2); Thomas Leary (93.4); J. Michael Shaughnessy (93.0); and James Valby (92.8).

Sophomore: Charles Kober (92.6); Robert Budic (92.5); Richard Rudy (92.2); and Peter Platt (92.1).

Freshman: David McMullan (94.4); Jaroslaw Bilous (94.3); Timothy Nilsen (93.9); and David Kostizak (93.6).

Mass Slated

The season of "giving" reaches a climax at Mercy Sunday, Dec. 23, when seniors and their parents assist at Mass offered for their intentions by Rev. P. David Finks, school chaplain. Mass will be celebrated in the Mercy Motherhouse Chapel at 10 a.m.

This week preceding Christmas saw Mercy students giving in a variety of ways. The

St. Stanislaus Nuns Receive New Car

KEYS FOR a new car were received by nuns of St. Stanislaus Parish this week as a gift of the Holy Name of Mary Society of the parish. From left are Sister Mary Ann, principal; the Rev. Alexander Stec, pastor; school's annual poor basket project saw 1,000 Mercians providing literally "mountains" of food and gifts for 80 needy Rochester families. These gifts formed part of the Offertory procession at Mercy's annual Golden Mass, Dec. 10, which climaxed this Sodality-sponsored gift-giving. Baskets will be packed by Sodality members this weekend and distributed by Mercy "drivers" Sunday, Dec. 23. Saturday afternoon, Dec. 15, about 30 Mercy Sodality members gave a party (complete with Santa, alias Mr. William McCarthy) to 150 second, third and fourth graders at Mount Carmel School, according to Florence Kress, Sodality prefect, and Pat Meagher, party chairman.

Sunday night, Dec. 16, Mercy Glee Club members, accompanied by Sisters of Mercy and Santa Claus (again Mr. McCarthy) caroled and distributed gifts at the Monroe County Home.

The Health Careers Club plans to visit the Monroe County Home Sunday, December 23, according to Audrey Parsons, club president, to sing Christmas carols and present the residents with 120 baskets of fruit and candy provided by the club members.

On the "receiving" end Mercians viewed holiday formals and hair styles at a Student Government-sponsored style show Dec. 12, according to Andrea Volpe, SGA president. Models included senior Paula Kirby, juniors Liz Rhodes and Karen Schaeffer, soph Anne Rogers and frosh Kathy Curran.

Mercy Dance

In a snow castle setting, Mercians will dance to the music of Len Hawley's orchestra Thursday, December, at the annual Christmas Formal.

The theme, "Once Upon a Time," submitted by Anne Tallmadge and Barb Stenglein, features a red, green and gold color scheme.

Senior Diane Dobrzynski has been appointed general chairman with the following girls heading the various committees: Barb Stenglein, decorations; Lorraine Cooley, service; Anne Doyle, refreshments; and Kathy Neary, tickets.

Christmas

To Be Joy

More than 400 needy families will have a bit of Christmas cheer thanks to contributions sent to the Catholic Charities Christmas Fund.

Father Donald J. Mulcahy voiced his gratitude this week for donations sent to his office. He said last minute gifts may still be made at 50 Chestnut St., Rochester 4, N.Y. Charities units in Elmira and Auburn will also provide baskets for needy families in these areas, too.
