Treasure Chest Program Listed

Sights will be seen through "Windows on South America" in the Treasure Chest of Science Program for youth to be presented by Miss Geraldine McMullen at Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences on Saturday, Jan. 12, at 10:30 a.m.

Miss McMullen, who is a teacher at No. 35 School, visited eight Latin-American countries in 1961 under the sponsorship of the Rochester Rotary Club. She was the first recipient of the Rotary Pan-American fellowship.

On-the-scene experiences in Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Argentina, Chile, Uruguay, Paraguay and Brazil will be shared by Miss McMullen in her commentary and color slides. Objects will also give a visual picture and demonstrate the way of life of our neighbors south of the border. Windows will also open on life among the Peruvian Indians in the Andes Mountains which she visited.

Film Program Listed At Museum

A diversified program of three films will be shown at Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences on Sunday, Jan. 13, at 2:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

The study of cultural anthropology in the Admiralty Islands is described by Dr. Margaret Mead in the film "New Lives For Old." This study is the basis of her book, "Growing Up In New Guinea." The second film shows Spain from Madrid to the fertile river valleys in the south, its land and the people. And the third film reviews the life of Benjamin Franklin, the printer, writer, philosopher, inventor, educator, statesman and architect of American liberty.

Talk It Over

Being Realistic

By ANNE CULKIN

Dear Miss Culkin:

Will you write something about using a handkerchief in public places. The faculty tells us we should rarely if ever use a handkerchief in the Chapel. I do not object to this, but some students think it is not being realistic and that it is quite a natural thing to blow the nose.

Carol

Dear Carol:

The rule frankly stated is that the nose is never blown in public unless it is absolutely necessary, and that when it is necessary, the action be performed as unobstrusively as possible. Always the head is turned away from those in our company. As for the naturalness of the action: Granted, to relieve the nasal passages is a natural instinct; but the same as many such instincts, should be satisfied with discretion if it is not to border on the vulgar.

True, there are many times when through necessity a handkerchief must be used in a college chapel. But it is also true that many times a person can refrain from its use. For instance, how often is that beautiful silence that comes with the Consecration of the Mass broken by an individual's untimely use of a handkerchief. Our reaction to the disturbing factor prompts the question, "Couldn't he have waited just a little longer?" or "Couldn't this condition be relieved somewhat by simply placing the handkerchief to the nose."

Probably, Carol, the faculty of your college is trying to make the students conscious that a handkerchief should be used with discretion when in the presence of others.

Dear Miss Culkin:

In your column about a month ago you said that knives and spoons are to be placed to the right of the plate and forks to the left. Well supposing you were only going to serve cake and coffee. Would you still have to put the fork to the left of the plate and the spoon to the right as if you were setting the table for dinner? R.B.

Dear R.B.:

No, if only two utensils are to be used for light refreshments, then the fork and the spoon can be placed together to the right of the plate. The fork next to the plate and the spoon on the outer side.

Dear Miss Culkin:

I am 15 and have been dating a boy on and off for the past three months. Now he wants to go steady. While I like him I don't want to go steady, but I do want to keep on seeing him. How can I tell him without hurting him? Sophomore

Dear Sophomore:

Your mother doesn't approve of a steady arrangement, does she? Then why not tell him that even if you wanted to, your parents wouldn't allow it.

Dear Fred:

Your letter was much the same as another letter written and printed in this column a year ago. It, too, asked the question, "Why do you have to always compliment a girl?" In your case you feel your friend should know she is tops with you because she is the only girl you date; therefore, you can't understand why "you always have to keep telling her she looks nice, she's pretty and all that other stuff . . ."

Know what? A man who has been married to a girl 5, 10 or 30 years must still continue to say "all that stuff" if he is to keep a woman happy with the thought that the one she loves is conscious of and appreciates her femininity. It is a need that is common to woman's nature, and it is a smart suitor and considerate husband who will make every effort to satisfy that need. And after all, what is so hard about it? It doesn't cost money does it, to say "You look very pretty tonight"; or show an awareness to the fact that she is wearing a new dress or to say any of the little things that are such "big things" to a woman whether she is eighteen or eighty.

Recently I heard a delightful incident that so well illustrated our point. A couple celebrating their 50th Wedding Anniversary was asked what they considered most responsible for their happiness. It was the husband who replied: "When we were to be married, my father-in-law presented me with a gift. It was a large gold watch. Printed on the face were the words SAY SOMETHING NICE TO SARAH. Well, through the years I looked at that watch thousands of times, and always when I did, I followed the suggestion of a man who had learned about women long before me, and always I did say something nice to Sarah."

So, Fred, you, too, better start saying "something nice to Sarah!"

Dear Still Can't Do It:

We repeat—it is not a requisite for a boy to first ask you for a date before you can feel that in good taste you can invite him to your school prom. If you know the boy, go ahead and ask him. He will, no doubt, feel the same as one boy who answered for a group of boys when I addressed an all-male college (St. Benedict's, Kansas) and directed your very question to them. Reply: "I would be flattered!" And chances are, so will your boy.

Seneca Falls Groups Elect New Officers

Seneca Falls — Court 824, Catholic Daughters of America, will meet Monday evening, Jan. 14, in St. Patrick's School. Mrs. George Peters, grand regent, will preside. Refreshments after the meeting.

Seneca Falls — Ronald Sandroni succeeds Jesse Parette as now president of the Elks Lodge.

Elected also are Joseph Piotrowski, Gino Giovannini, vice presidents; Louis Lorenzetti, treasurer; Jerry Pagano, Peter Giovannetti, trustee for two years; Bennie Giovannetti, Louis Turri, Jessie Parette, James Dupso and Carlo Lorenzetti, trustees for one year; Rudolph Rossi and Harold Ricci, censors; Louis Rossetti and Sylvester Fajola, auditors; Mike Zona, counsel; Dino Morganti, steward, and Joseph Morganti, janitor.

The SMS Lodge was organized in 1904.

President Sandroni announced that the annual Father-Son dinner will be held in January.

Annual Sports Night Dinner will be held Saturday evening, Feb. 9, at the SMS hall. Nick Pietrosanti, former All-American for Notre Dame and fullback for the Detroit Lions in the National Professional Football League, will be guest speaker.

Seneca Falls — SMS Auxiliary elected Miss Angie Manzuri president for the second term. Elected with her were Mrs. Cecil Fitzgerald, Mrs. Anthony Barbieri, vice presidents; Mary Bellardino, treasurer. Also Mrs. Peter Adamo and Mrs. Louis DeFalso, censors; Mrs. Mary Riani and Miss Rose Cammuso, auditors; Mrs. Olga Pioli, Mrs. Peter Giovannielli, Mrs. Asira Ricci, Mrs. Nataline Barbi and Mrs. Peter Lucredhi, trustees; Mrs. Antelina Perdichi, custodian.

New officers were installed Jan. 2. Executive meetings will be held the last Wednesday of each month and regular meetings the first Wednesday of each month.

Retiring officers' dinner will be held at Gould Hotel, Wednesday evening, Jan. 9.

Seneca Falls — Forty-five boxes of clothing for the Thanksgiving drive (see tabulation this issue) were packed by Mrs. Carmen Martilli, Mrs. Mary Bellardino and Mrs. Fred Marsella.

AUXILIARIES of the K of C

Rochester Council, Knights of Columbus Ladies Auxiliary will meet in the Club Rooms at 8 p.m. on Jan. 17. After a short business meeting, the women will join the men to hear Peter B. Hickey of the Times Union speak and show pictures of his experiences in Russia.

Soviets Say Monk First In America

Moscow — (RNS) — It was an English Benedictine monk, not Christopher Columbus, who first discovered America, according to Samuel Varshavsky, a Soviet geographer.

He was quoted by the Moscow Radio as claiming that Nicholas of Lynne set foot on the American continent more than 100 years before Columbus landed in the New World.

The monk, who taught at Oxford University, where the Benedictines established a house in 1252, is recorded to have made a voyage "to lands near the North Pole" in the year 1360.

According to the Soviet scientist, Nicholas compiled reports which could have been written only by someone who had seen the New World, since they included maps of Hudson's Bay.

He said some scientists considered Nicholas' voyage to have been a fiction, but he stressed it was obvious that navigators took the northern route between Europe and America long before Columbus made his voyage.

Nicholas' name appears in the British Dictionary of National Biography, but the volume does not record the dates of his birth and death. The place of his origin, Lynne, is not recorded on modern maps.

Third Order To Meet

Members of Our Lady of Victory Chapter of the Third Order Secular of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel will met on Sunday, Jan. 13.

SHORT business meeting for all members will be held at 2 p.m. in the school hall of Our Lady of Victory Church, 10 Pleasant St., under the direction of Prior Louis Kretchmer. Included will be a discussion period on "The Kingship Psalms in Matins and Lauds" appearing in the November-December issue of Mary. Members are asked to bring their copy for reference.

At 3:00 p.m. members will adjourn to Our Lady of Victory Church for the Monthly Chapter Conference, to be conducted by the Chapter's Spiritual Director, Rev. Kieran Rush, SS.CC. Mrs. Margaret Kane will be professed and Vows and Promises will be renewed by members.

There will be no Rule Meeting for novices and postulants on this Sunday but instead it will be held on Sunday, Jan. 20, 1963, at 3:00 p.m. in the School Hall and monthly thereafter on the third Sunday of each month at the same time and place. Novice Master William Higgins and Novice Mistress, Miss Jean Gerber, are in charge.

Miss Theresa Wimmer has been appointed chairman to form a group of Third Order Members who will regularly attend broadcasts of the Family Rosary for Peace at St. Francis Church.

Guidance Group Schedules Panel

Rochester Diocesan Catholic Guidance Council will hold its next meeting in the library of McQuaid Jesuit High School on Tuesday, Jan. 15, at 2 p.m.

A panel discussion on the services rendered by the DePaul Clinic will be led by the Rev. Raymond Bilduf, SJ. The three panelists are staff members of the Clinic. They are Dr. Albert W. Sullivan, psychiatrist, and clinical director; Dr. Robert Dowling, psychologist, and Gerald Pashby, social worker.

A question period will follow the discussion.
