New Puerto Rican Center

New apostolic project in the Rochester area is this St. Martin de Porres "information center" for Puerto Ricans. Monsignor Arthur E. Ratigan, diocesan director of Catholic Charities, with Mrs. Margaret Muchard who inspired and organized the project and Edwin Rivera, look at center's shrine to mulatto saint who is patron of the poor. Center was blessed Tuesday evening at 537 Clinton Avenue North in a store that has been repainted and furnished by volunteer help. Father William Jamison, C.SS.R., said the center would be a "house of love" where the spirit of St. Martin would radiate God's love for all men without distinction for their race, color, or national origin. Louis Machado of the Puerto Rico Department of Labor termed the center, "Christianity in Action."

Notre Dame Highlights

"Our final opening, our final show" got Senior Day 1963 under way this past Wednesday, May 29. The bare stage became alive with the various accomplishments of the Class of '63. The stage crew moved the risers, the chorus started the songs, and the actors took their places.

The entire program was a flashback on the four years at Notre Dame. The chorus connected the years with songs based on Broadway hits.

A GROUP OF Girl Scouts paraded, singing why they were proud of being Americans. President Kennedy was there with his entire inaugural entourage, including Robert Frost.

One scene showed the real truth behind a girl's gym class. Another group showed up from the Red Mill singing the songs from that year's musical comedy.

The Lark made a repeat performance from last year's Junior Day. Joan of Arc once again persuaded the King of France to take his troops to Orleans. The tempests blew up a musical storm with "Crazy Rhythm" and "Up A Lazy River." A hootenanny and stage full of queens brought the program up to date. The queens were three — Homecoming — Brenda Wetherbee; May Day — Kathleen Malone, and Senior Prom—Roslyn Crescenzi with her escort, King James Studzinski.

And then there was a bit of new material. "Jack Faust," an original play by Senior Bart O'Brien, showed some of the real talent of the Class of 1963.

The narrator closed the program, the chorus left the stage singing "Now That We Know You."

Senior Day 1963 came to an end. But it never will be completely forgotten because of the help of Sister Mary Borromeo, Sister Marie Raymond, and student director Bart O'Brien.

Nazareth Grads

40 Per Cent Plan Teaching Careers

More than 40 per cent of the graduating class of Nazareth College will take up positions in front of school blackboards next fall.

ACCORDING TO the latest placement figures available at the college at least 65 students of a class of 157 plan to pass on their accumulated knowledge to hundreds of students in elementary and secondary school systems.

Unusual?

Far from it, according to Sister Eva Marie, director of Guidance and Placement at the college.

"The percentage of our 1963 graduates planning to become teachers is a little higher than our average over the years," she says, "but we have always been a leading supplier to local and area schools. In fact this year, as in many others in the past, we are contributing more teachers to the Rochester public school system than any other private institution."

Of the other graduates, roughly 10 per cent will go into business and an equal number will attend graduate or professional schools. Other students will seek careers in nursing (15%), federal and state government (5%) and science (5%). Three girls will serve in the lay apostolate and three will enter the Sisters of St. Joseph order in September.

And, at last count, 10 of the graduates plan to be married within the near future.

One of the aspects of this year's graduating class is its tendency to roam far afield. Already Nazareth College is assured of having representatives in Florida, Texas, Washington State, Louisiana and Washington, D.C.
