blowing with health and animation. And to match this outer radiance, the bride must glow with an inner radiance as well. Knowing that the LOOKS beautiful helps to make one FEEL beautiful and to show it. But it can only happen on this One Day of Days when the bride is not exhausted from the frantic flurry of pre-nuptial activities.

Beauty and the Bride
By LOUISE WILSON

Louise Wilson, Women's Editor, is heard twice daily on WMAZ, 9:10 and 9:25 a.m.

Beauty is every woman's basic need, but particularly the bride's. On her wedding day, she must be at her best. But, alas, it often is the focus of all eyes and she does not disappoint her admirers. For that matter, she gives her period "posers" knowing that the "dual" sun on (tension) has been "glazed." Emerging from the "glaze" of heavy eyes, the care of her hands receives penetrating scrutiny... from all beholders.

The bride's gown pictured is one of the loveliest we've seen this season. It could well be the choice of one of the many June brides altar-bound next month. The bodice is carefully fitted and the skirt bell-shaped. This bridal gown by Christos of Galina is abloom with Swiss embroidered flowers. The train, by the way, is detachable. It's delicate and elegant, enfolding the bride for her triumphal appearance down the aisle.

The bride's hands come in for their share of the attention for they're constantly in the wedding spotlight from accepting her bridal bouquet to waving goodbye as the honeymoon begins. It isn't just the creaming she gives her hands before the ceremony but the care she gives her hands for weeks before. Round, red hands aren't transformed into lily white hands with the giving and accepting of the ring. Preparations are made special for this great occasion!

Paquin, long known for its excellence in hand care, offers three formulas for the bride to choose from both before and after her wedding day. Regular, extra dry, or anti-detergent hand creams answer everyone's show of hands... and their demands. Paquin's "Silk" Satin Lotion is a famous hand-flattener and a wise bride will have a bottle by the kitchen sink and the bathroom lavatory. It is absorbed quickly and works wonders.

Wrists and elbows, knees and ankles should get their share of cream or lotion, too. Applying a hand softener should come naturally whenever they've been subjected to any hand

Disc Notes
Zooming to success on the heels of its first three albums, the Jesus and Mary Choral Group has just released its fourth album, Joyful Years, on the Columbia label. Consisting of 12 joyous and religious songs and Mary, the group is joined in this album by Charlie Swart, internationally known pianist, and various vocalists of the National Synagogue. The sisters are well known in the diocese, staffing St. Francis of Assisi School in Auburn.

Light and pleasing music is presented in a most enjoyable and charming manner by the Jesus and Mary Choral Group. Impassioned solos by Mother St. Dennis singing Catch a Falling Star, With a Smile and a Song and Oh, What a Beautiful Morn'g, and by Mother Mary of Joy singing With These Hands and a Dream in a Wish You Heart makes add great warmth to a fascinating showcase of music. Other songs include Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella, With These Hands, Look For the Silver, Living and Chanting, Chanting. The album is available locally or may be ordered directly from the Jesus and Mary Choral Group, 8810 Riggs Rd., Hyattsville, Md.

Rick Nelson has joined the Decca label and his first album, For Your Sweet Love, is sure to be a big seller. Starting show business at the age of eight in the radio version of "The Adventure of Ozma and Harriet" and later in the TV version, Rick soon developed into an accomplished singer and proved that long side-burns and wild gyrations were not necessary to become a teenage idol. Making the grade solely on the basis of his pleasing voice and striking style, Rick has succeeded in appealing to a vast audience of teens and adults alike. Decca's new album is a real gem.
