Disc Notes

From Paul Contestable

The first recording made on excellent registration, just as the brilliant new Aeolian Skinner Organ at Philharmonic Hall at Lincoln Center in New York has been released by Command Records. An extraordinarily vivid performance was recorded through the use of 35mm magnetic film to capture the full range of the organ, from the faintest whisper of sound to the full dynamic tones of the full organ. Truly, Virgil Fox Plays the Philharmonic Hall Organ at Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, is a masterpiece of recording with sonic texture that is stunning in impact.

Included in the album are Bach's Passacaglia and Fugue in C Minor, Dieu Parmi Nous from La Nativite du Seigneur by Oliver Messiaen, and the Grande Piece Symphonique by Cesar Franck. Virgil Fox has truly mastered the organ with Command Records has mastered the recording of the vast array of sounds through its 35mm technique.

Every voice of the organ is amazingly clear with sound that ranges from brilliant transparency to [illegible] and movement. Particularly stirring is the final movement of Franck's work.

Command technicians have accomplished an outstanding feat in this recording to capture the fullest and most balanced total sound of the six divisions of this organ. The stereo version of the record is particularly impressive.

Virgil Fox and Command Records have proved that organs must no longer remain hidden and forgotten in the back of a church. Today, organs can supplement orchestras, assume individual dimensions in solo recitals and boldly reaffirm sacred music in the manner of its original creation. And this recording has captured all the excitement and sound of a live performance. You must hear this record to believe it.

Tenor Richard Tucker receives excellent support from Skitch Henderson and his orchestra in his first recording of popular music. The Fabulous Voice of Richard Tucker. The Columbia record includes Tonight, Love Letters, With These Hands and Climb Ev'ry Mountain.

Frank Sinatra sings a fine selection of Music From Pictures and Plays in his usual excellent manner on the Reprise label. Songs include Laura, Tammy and Maria.
