McQuaid Mothers to Aid Drive

Officers of the Mothers' Club of McQuaid Jesuit High School took place this week. All past and present officers were invited to attend and almost every year was represented.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss and plan for the role the mothers will take in the Development Program now under way for the school.

Very Rev. Robert Grewen, rector, explained the objectives of the drive. He also gave a short financial report and the outlook for the school.

Father appealed for their support for varied and sundry activities in the campaign office, assisting in setting up prospectus, pledge lists and recruitment of workers for solicitation on the drive. Their interest and enthusiasm was inspiring.

Women's Speakers Bureau 27 Speakers, 43 Topics

Monroe Council of the DCCW mailed copies of the new brochure listing speakers and topics of the Speakers' Bureau to all Catholic women's organizations in Monroe County during the past week.

This new brochure for the 1963-64 season lists over 27 speakers and 43 topics covering a great variety of subject material of especial interest to women.

Because of widespread interest and demand for information in certain areas, many new topics and speakers were added this year. Among these are: "Family Life" by Miss Catherine Wobus; "You Art the Council" by Mrs. Joseph Palo; "Aurlesville" and "St. Martin de Poires" by Miss Catherine McDonald; "The Church and Our Changing City" by Mrs. James Rains.

Also: "A Woman's View of the Wide World" by Miss Lucy Sheehan; "New Help for the Alcoholist" by Dr. Ruth Daley; "Communism: Dead with Religion" by Mrs. Louise Husson; "The Modern Mother's Dilemma" by Mrs. Joseph Greiner; "The Parable of the Pebble" by Mrs. Fred DeMatre; "What is the New Approach to Teaching?" by Mrs. J. Peter and Mrs. Mrs. Lawrence Vici.

Also: "A Shade of Difference" by Mrs. R. Peter Culross; a series of talks on mental health to be given by members of the Mental Health Bureau; "Lay People Must Teach Religion" by speakers from the Assumption School of Religion.

OTHER speakers and topics available through the Bureau are: "Promises of the Bureau Heart" and "Life of Cardinal Newman" by Miss Catherine McDonald; "A Saint for Today" by Miss Lucy Sheehan; "Part Time Holiness Helps" by Mrs. Edwin Hart.

Also: "Ari Through the Ages" by Mrs. Richard Welter; "Treasures from Our Bookshelves" and "Obtain What They Promise" by Mrs. Louise Husson; "Spiritual First Aid" by Miss Mary DiCandia, R.N.; "The Dialogue Mass" and "Christian Viewpoint on Race Relations" by Mrs. Dante Cardinali; "Youth is Our Hope" by Mrs. Theodore Strohmyer; "Our Bishop's Message" by Mrs. James Rains; "Our Children, Everybody's Business" and "First Things First" by Miss Margaret Kenny; "Character or Reputation" by Mrs. Peter Connelly; "The Importance of Being Young" by Miss Virginia Croston; "You Are the Most Important Person - Your Child Will Ever Know" by Mrs. Michael Culhane; book reviews by Miss Ruth Ashburn and "Mothers' Circles" by Mrs. T. Strohmeyer and Mrs. James T. Conolly.

ILLUSTRATED lectures will be: "The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass" by Miss Virginia Croston; "California Mission Trail" and "Sorrowful Mother Ship" by Mrs. Raymond Bailey; "The Little Flower - at Home and Abroad" by Miss Agnes Marie Coon; "Our National Shrine" by Mrs. Frank Smith; and "A Visit to the Shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre" by Mrs. Raymond Bailey.

The Speakers' Bureau is a committee of the Monroe Council of Catholic Women, under Mrs. Joseph Palo, president and its services are available to any organization in Monroe County.

Rev. E. Leo McManus and Rev. Robert Kanka are moderators and advisors of the group.

For further information or requests for speakers contact Mrs. Ralph Howard, FI 2-2578 or Mrs. Carl Schmanke, FI 2-3366.

KC Eyes Latin America

Lake Village, Ark. — (NC) — The Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus has been urged to expand the organization into all countries of Latin America to counteract the "fraternalism" of communism there.

The action, fostered by the Knights of Columbus, was recommended in a resolution adopted (May 27) at the convention of the Arkansas K. of C. here.

The resolution said: "Something more than the spiritual organization of the Church is needed to help them (Latin Americans) resist the enticements proffered to them by the communists and... a powerful Catholic fraternal organization undoubtedly would be of great service in this regard."

William W. O'Donnell, managing editor of the Guardian, Little Rock diocesan newspaper, told the convention the menace of communism in Latin America was stressed at sessions of the recent (April 30 to May 3) Catholic Press Association convention in Miami, Fla.

The reports given to the Catholic journalists, O'Donnell told the K. of C. convention, made it evident something more than the ministrations of priests and religious is needed to prevent a communist take-over in some Latin American countries. He said that expansion of the K. of C. into Latin America would contribute greatly to the countries' welfare.

The resolution emphasized that "communism in Latin America is posing as a fraternalism for agrarian reformers" and that the "widespread perjury of the Latin American people make them receptive to the blandishments of communism."

Historic Document In Cross

The gleaming cross atop St. Joseph's Church, long a landmark in downtown Rochester, battered by winds of many winters, was recently taken down for repair.

An interesting document was found in the cross, placed there in 1949 when the cross was raised to its position on the church's tower.

The document, which was a report that the cross was blessed by Monsignor Patrick William Keisel, rector of St. Joseph's, on Nov. 7, 1949. The cross was a gift of parishioners to honor the rector's silver jubilee.

Also listed are the names of clergy staffing the parish at that time, the reigning pope (St. Pius X) and bishop (Thomas F. Hickey), civil officials (President Taft and Mayor Iliam Edgerston), architects and contractors of the newly built tower and parishioners who contributed to the tower and cross fund.

25 Years Ago

(From the files of Catholic Courier Journal, July 7, 1938)

Both national leaders of the Knights of St. John and Ladies Auxiliary and both Rochesterians, were re-elected at Philadelphia. Frank H. Blei, K.H.S. was renamed supreme president of the knights and Mrs. Teresa Gousteau, supreme president of the Auxiliary at the international convention.

Bishop Kearney on a surprise visit to Camp Stella Maria was himself surprised with the gift of a hand-made leather belt made by the boy campers.

Injustice in America can bring an upheaval, the Rev. George B. Murdoch, Catholic chaplain at West Point, warned in a July 4 sermon at Sacred Heart Pro-Cathedral. Bishop Kearney celebrated the Mass at which Father Murdoch spoke.

Poses Threat

North Conway, N.Y. — (RNS) — A new hallucinatory-causing drug named "lysergic acid" commonly called "LSD" may become "a far greater threat to mankind than alcohol," some 100 religious leaders attending an institute on alcoholism were told here.

Dr. Ebbe Curtis Hoff, dean of graduate studies at the Medical College of Virginia Hospital, warned that in the next decade LSD could replace alcohol as "the chemical comforter" for the addict.

Impact of TV Drama Said Effective

Philadelphia — (RNS) — Religious drama programs have more impact than conventional types of religious programming on radio and television, a priest declared here at the 15th national convention of the Catholic Broadcasters Association.

Father Edward Kisser, C.S.P., one of the country's outstanding priest-producers of religious drama, said dramatic programs with religious themes may "win more souls" than the standard-type religious programming.

The 24-year-old priest, a graduate of St. Charles Seminary in Philadelphia, is the originator of the network telecast "In Sight" carried in a 12-week series last winter. A member of the Paulist order, he is stationed at the Church of St. Paul the Apostle in Los Angeles.

Religious drama, Father Kisser said, is a particularly fertile field because it parallels the world in which God is touching souls, and man, in anguish, continues to wrestle with His Creator's relationship to God. A truly honest screen, there is drama at its highest.

Father Kisser observed that the radio and television media are subject to the public taste. "The public in its mature and can demand either program of high moral tone, or sex and violence," he said.

Red Cross Honor For Irish Nun

Drogheda — (NC) — The International Red Cross has given Mother Mary Martin, founder of the Medical Missionaries of Mary, its Florence Nightingale medal, an award for distinguished service.

Mrs. T. M. Barry, chairman of the Irish Red Cross, presented the award at a ceremony at the Medical Missionaries' Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital here.

Mother Mary founded the Medical Missionaries in 1937. The society, which now has 300 Sisters, runs hospitals and clinics in seven African countries.

Bells to Ring From Shrine

Washington — (NC) — A 550-lb. bell, weighing more than 27,000 pounds is en route here for installation in the bell tower of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

The bell, whose bells were cast by foundries in France and Holland, left Marseille by ship June 15, and is scheduled for arrival in Baltimore July 2.

The bell was purchased with a $150,000 gift from the Knights of Columbus, who also paid for the national shrine's bell tower.

FREEDOM...

Is worth fighting for.

The freedom our forefathers bequeathed as 187 years ago was a gift of sacred trust. A heritage secured through sacrifice and lost lives. Over the years we've strived to protect that freedom in our own land and over the seas. As Americans and as Catholics it is our duty to do more than defend our freedom. We must be willing to fight and preserve it against ignorance, bigotry and hate, when ever and whenever it is placed in danger. True liberty needs everyones protection.
